MEXICANS NEAR BIG BATTLE

Today

It's a Job.
King Big Money.
The Choppers at Work.
Police and Drugs.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

PRESIDENT HOOVER, who worked fourteen hours yesterday, went to bed convinced that Henry Ford was right when he said, "The presidency is a job, as well as an office."

BRITISH newspapers do not like the President's flat rejection of the League of Nations, but say pleasant things about the new President and his inaugural address.

Rothermere's Daily Mail says, "The tone of the speech is one of idealism without illusion."

That is a good combination.

BEAVERBROOK'S Express says Hoover's "ringing pronouncement is a first-class campaign document for conservatism."

Beaverbrook hopes it will discourage British talk of Socialism.

IT ALL depends on how much money you have. Prudhomme's saying, "Monarchies are destroyed by poverty, republics by wealth," is always timely.

However, this republic seems able to stand a good deal of wealth. Perhaps it's because we are not as much of a republic as some of us think, with our good old king, big money, in the background, keeping watch above his own.

CHICAGO'S state's attorney identifies members of "the chopper gang" that bumped off seven gangsters in a row with machine guns. "Chopper" is the gang word for a machine gun operator.

One chopper is said to be Joe Lolordo, whose brother, Pasqualino, was murdered by the Moran gang. It was a pleasure for him to work a machine gun on the backs of seven Moran men, lined up in the bootleg garage.

"TIME at length makes all things even," says Byron.

Lolordo knows, and Lenin knew, that it is true.

Lenin's brother was killed by the czar. Lenin got the revenge he swore to have when the whole Romanoff family was wiped out by his orders.

"IF WE do but wait the hour, there never yet was human power that could evade, if unforgiven, the patient hate and vigil long of him who treasures up a wrong."

Lolordo might like to paste that up in his room.

If the chopper gang is brought to trial, a jury probably would hesitate to punish, as it would the others, a man that killed his brother's murderers.

Such is sentiment.

A CRIMINAL, name unknown, murdered a policeman in cold blood, kidnaped a chauffeur with his car, as a means of escape. He said casually to the driver, holding a "gun" to his back, "I hate all cops, and I'm going to kill as many as I can. I have killed two."

THE police say the criminal was "a drug-crazed dope fiend."

That makes it important for the police to interfere, as much as possible, with drug-peddling.

Many that sell drugs and buy "protection" for the "privilege" might be in jail if a real effort were made to put them there.

POLICEMEN should know that cocaine and similar drugs do what nothing else will do. They give the criminal, usually a coward, the "nerve to kill a bull"—bull meaning a policeman in the criminal code.

MEXICAN revolutionists claim nine states, and have proclaimed "religious liberty," repealing Mexican laws interfering with religious control of schools, forbidding religious ceremonies in streets and other public places, compelling priests to register, forbidding priests of foreign nationality to exercise priestly functions, etc.

THE leader of the revolt in Vera Cruz, Jesus M. Aguirre, says the Mexican fleet in the Gulf has joined the revolution and all the people sympathize with it. A religious fight is a long, bitter fight.

ON April 8, the giant passenger steamship Leviathan, built by Germany, taken by this government, will be turned over to Mr. Chapman to run as his private property. It is to be hoped that he will make a success of it and other boats bought from the United States Shipping Board.

THUS, formally and officially, the United States government recognizes that it isn't able enough to manage a line of steamships.

The government ought to know.

GIFFORD PINCHOT says that out of $8,000,000,000 or more of public utilities stock, three billions represent only water.

The American people, he says, pay $200,000,000 a year interest on pure water. That is sad.

ON THE other hand, the same American people buy the watered stock, sometimes at low prices, as they once bought United States Steel for eight or ten dollars a share. Later, by a miracle that an ancient alchemist never dreamed of, the water turns into pure gold, and they get more than $10 every year from the stock that they once bought for $10.

MELLON'S SUPPORT OF PLAN NEEDED

By WILLIAM I. GRUNDISH, Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, March 6.—There are breakers ahead for the Pittsburgh Metropolitan District charter.

The opposition is caused chiefly because the charter, instead of codifying all of the present city, borough, township and county regulations with as few changes as necessary, contains many fundamental differences from the present laws.

Leslie

That the passage of the bill has not been chartered in a smooth and regular fashion was indicated when Senator Max G. Leslie, of Pittsburgh, scheduled to introduce it, announced he would not present it this week.

"When will you present it?" he was asked.

"That has not been decided definitely," he replied.

"When will Leslie introduce the charter bill?" was the query put to Joseph T. Miller, of Edgewood, chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission.

"We have not settled that point," was his reply.

LESLIE NOT SATISFIED

According to reports, Leslie is not at all satisfied with the measure in its present form, although he would not discuss it in detail on the ground that he has not had time to study it thoroughly. Other Allegheny County members of the Legislature declined to discuss the bill until they had an opportunity to read it.

The state organization of aldermen and justices of the peace, according to reports here, is ready to begin an aggressive campaign against the measure, unless it is changed to permit such officials to retain their present positions. Scores of other amendments are scheduled to be presented.

It is proposed that the charter is to be submitted to the voters of the county June 25, 1929.

DELEGATION SPLIT

This is not good news for supporters of the measure, but it is the situation here this morning. Members outside of Allegheny in general, while they decline to talk for publication on the grounds that

JOBLESS YOUTH DRINKS POISON

Persistent inquiries as to why he could not find a job drove him to poison, John Cherge, 19, from his bed in Homeopathic Hospital revealed today.

Out of work for three weeks, John went to his bedroom in the Cherge home at 32 Acorn street, Hazelwood, last night, and drank a bottle of poison.

"I couldn't find work," John assured. "I looked everywhere."

John has a brother and two sisters, all younger than himself. He quit school when he was 14. He is expected to recover.

Miss Grimes Scores Fisher Fund Action

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 6.—(AP.)—Charge that the administration was trying "to railroad" the new fiscal code, creating a department of revenue, through the House of Representatives, was made today by Miss Helen Grimes, Allegheny, on the floor of the House during debate on a motion to postpone consideration of the bill.

Rockefeller Party Reaches Jerusalem

CAIRO, Egypt, March 6.—(INS.)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who is making a tour of the Near East accompanied by his wife and a son, has reached Jerusalem. He was enthusiastically welcomed owing to his $2,000,000 donation to the Jerusalem Museum.

SMOOT'S GRANDDAUGHTER ELOPES WITH RADIO MAN

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS.)—Alice Smoot, youthful granddaughter of Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, and Frederick H. Chambers, employed on a local radio publication, were the principals in an elopement to Frederick, Md., where they were married yesterday, it was learned today.

Chambers gave his age as 22 and that of the bride was given as 18. Miss Smoot is the daughter of Harold R. Smoot.

CECELIA FARMER

A Common Pleas jury couldn't agree today whether Miss Farmer, 237 Emahlia street, Hazelwood, deserved a damage verdict against Dr. William Cunningham, Swissvale, whose car, she charged, collided with one in which she was seated. The jury was discharged. Miss Farmer testified that her doctor's bill alone amounted to $2,600.

FISHER STUDIES METRO PLAN CHARTER

Gov. John S. Fisher and members of the Legislature today were studying the proposed charter of the Pittsburgh Metropolitan District Plan.

The charter was incorporated in a report submitted to the Governor yesterday by the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Plan Commission through its chairman, Joseph T. Miller.

The charter would create in place of Allegheny County a consolidated city and county government to be known as the "City of Pittsburgh."

BOUNDARIES UNCHANGED

The present city of Pittsburgh and the other cities, boroughs and townships of the county would remain in existence within the consolidated city with their present names and boundaries. The great bulk of the powers now belonging to Pittsburgh and the other units would continue to be exercised by them.

The consolidated city would have all the powers of the present Allegheny County, the powers with regard to the care of the poor and insane now possessed by the present City of Pittsburgh and the county directors of the poor, and certain other specified powers.

BOARD OF CONTROL

The present elective county officers would continue to be elected as at present, except the treasurer, who would be appointed by the commissioners. All fees would be turned over to the treasury of the consolidated city.

The consolidated city would be governed by a board of seven commissioners elected at large for four years. The present county commissioners would continue for the balance of their term as members of the new board.

At the election of 1929 three members would be elected from outside of Pittsburgh for four years and

De Valera Jail Term Cut 4 Days, Freed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, March 6.—(AP.)—Eamonn de Valera, Irish Republican chieftain, was released this afternoon from jail four days before the completion of a 30-day sentence he had been serving for illegally entering Ulster territory.

De Valera was arrested at Newry on the Ulster-Free State frontier February 5, as he was attempting to reach Belfast in violation of a long-standing order prohibitiig him from entering Ulster.

PITTSBURGH MEN IN BIG AIR DEAL

Three Pittsburghers and D. K. E. Bruce, son-in-law of A. W. Mellon, will be actively identified with the Aviation Corporation of New York, organization of which, with $35,000,000 initial capital and an authorized capital of $200,000,000, was announced today.

George R. Hann, president Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, will be vice chairman of the New York company's board of directors and of its executive committee. A. L. Humphrey president Westinghouse Air Brake Company, and chairman of executive committee of the Pittsburgh corporation, will be a director.

BANE AN OFFICER

Col. Thurman H. Bane, chief of the Pittsburgh corporation's technical staff will occupy the same position with the New York corporation. Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, as a corporation, will not be identified with the new organization.

The Aviation Corporation of New York, like Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, will be a holding corporation. Transportation lines, manufactories, sales and finance companies will be subsidiaries.

W. A. Harriman, head of the company which bears his name, will be chairman of the board. Robert Lehman, of Lehman Brothers, investment bankers, will be chairman of the executive committee. Graham C. Grosvenor, presi-

TOM TAGGART

TOM TAGGART, 73, DIES

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—(INS.)—Tom Taggart, 73, one of the greatest Democratic political leaders in the country, died here today at his home following a long illness of a stomach ailment.

Passing of Taggart marks the last of the group of the political "nineties" who controlled their states and ruled them with iron hands.

"BOSS" SINCE 1900

Since 1900, Taggart has sat at the tiller of the Democratic ship, steering a course that invariably brought him back into control. For 14 years prior to that rise to state "boss," Taggart fought his way upward through the political ranks, in county, city, state and national affairs.

The end came peacefully for Taggart at 10:30 a. m., while members of his family were at his bedside. He had been unconscious for several hours.

BOR NIN IRELAND

Taggart was born in County Monaghan, Ireland, November 17, 1856.

The Taggarts emigrated to the United States when their son was only 5 years old, and settled at Xenia, O., where the boy received his early education.

In 1892 he was promoted to Democratic state chairman.

Over powerful Republican opposition Taggart was elected mayor

URGE LOCAL LAWYER AS SOLICITOR

John Grier Buchanan, 40, Pittsburgh lawyer, today was recommended to President Hoover for appointment as solicitor general of the United States by United States Senato David A. Reed.

The post is one of outstanding importance in the administration and was held by William D. Mitchell, of Minnesota, until his elevation to the cabinet as attorney general.

POST OF IMPORTANCE

Appointment of Buchanan would further allot to Pittsburgh a place second only to a cabinet position and the most important legal post next to the attorney general, in the Department of Justice. The solicitor general is in active charge of all government cases before the United States Supreme Court.

Buchanan is a member of the firm of Smith, Buchanan, Scott & Gordon.

INDORSED BY BAR

His appointment as solicitor general was unanimously recommended by the Allegheny County Bar Association Friday.

Buchanan was admitted to practice in 1916. He was an honor man at Harvard and during the war served as a captain on the staff of the judge advocate general.

He is the son of Dr. John J. Buchanan, Pittsburgh physician and surgical authority of eminence. He graduated from Shady Side Academy and Princeton, where he was awarded an A. B. magna cum laude, in 1909. He was honor man of his Harvard class, graduating with a degee of LL. B., cum laude, in 1912.

IN EDUCATIONAL WORK

Mr. Buchanan is an associate professor in law of the University of

Sullivan Resigns Tax Board Position

The board of County Commissioners today accepted the resignation of P. J. Sullivan, a member of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes. Mr. Sullivan, recently elected a member of Congress, said that he would be unable to continue his work for the county in addition to his congressional dutise. Mr. Sullivan is also alderman of the Sixth Ward and leader in "Strip" politics.

Citizenship

MME. ALICE RIANO

The wife of the former Spanish ambassador to the United States, Don Juan de Riano y Gayangos, has regained her American citizenship, forfeited at the time of her marriage, when she completed naturalization proceedings in Superior Court at Newport, R. I. She is the former Alice Ward, of San Francisco.

BOYS RUN AWAY AS HOME BURNS

While firemen fought a blaze in the temporary county juvenile detention home at 3362 Fifth avenue early today, three of the 18 boys held there ran away. An attendant was overcome by smoke and it was in the excitement attending his rescue the boys fled.

Smoke was discovered in the building by John Davis, night attendant, of 1824 Antietam street. He investigated and found an unoccupied room on the third floor in flames.

BOYS AROUSED

Davis roused Leroy Thompson, 15, a Negro, and together they wakened the other occupants. The boys were taken to the first floor with their clothing, ordered to dress, and kept in readiness to leave the building.

William Bushman, 48, an attendant, obtained a fire extinguisher and attempted to quench the flames. He was overcome by smoke, and when police and firemen arrived they found him hanging over a staircase balustrade.

PULMOTOR USED

Wagonman E. K. Coberly carried Bushman to the first floor, where a pulmotor was used to revive him.

Fireman subdued the flames with chemicals. The damage was estimated at $50.

Checkup of the prisoners showed that three had slipped away in the excitement. They were Andrew Uzmanski, 15; Edward Delaney, 14, and John Mocko, 14.

Federal Court Jails Woman Bootlegger

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—(AP.)—The first woman to be sent to jail by the Eastern Pennsylvania Federal District Court for violating the National prohibition laws was today sentenced to the Mercer county prison at Trenton, N. J., for four months. She was Mrs. Jennie Kardos. Her husband, Frank, was given a similar sentence.

Presbyterian Vote On Women Proposed

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—(AP.)—The general council of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. today voted to submit to the general assembly at St. Paul, Minn., in May, anoverture to amend the form of government of the church so as to give women entire equality with men.

MONTEREY FEDERAL GOAL

International News Service.

With heavy forces of Mexican federal and rebel troops moving towards each other at numerous points, the prospect of violent fighting within the next 24 hours developed today.

Federal troops are being prepared for counter attacks against the rebels under Gen. Escobar, who captured Monterey, capital of Neuvo Leon, and third largest city in Mexico. There were casualties in the fighting there, but the extent is not known.

Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, youngest general commanding a division in the Mexican army, today was suddenly transferred from the command of the government's forces in the South to move immediately against the rebel troops at Monterey.

DRIVE ON CAPITAL

It is reported that the rebel chiefs are planning a concerted drive towards Mexico City from the north and west. Owing to the heavy forces of federals south of the capital, it is unlikely that the insurgents in that region will prove much of a menace to the city.

Chihuahua City, one of the most important communities in northern Mexico and the capital of the state of Chihuahua, is believed to be in rebel hands.

Rebel chiefs in Vera Cruz claim that all the Mexican warships in the Gulf of Mexico have joined the insurrection and that they will cooperate with the land forces.

CALL RATE RISE ROUTS BULLS

The bulls were thrown into retreat in the last hour of trading on the New York Stock Exchange today when an insufficient supply of call money called a halt to buying activity and threw the leading issues into a sharp decline.

Call money opened at 8 per cent, but following the calling of over $20,000,000 in loans by the banks and a heavy demand, the rate advanced rapidly until it reached 12 per cent in the latter part of the afternoon.

Even issues in which there has been especial incentive for buying such as Anaconda yielded sharply. United States Steel reacted to 183¼ from an early high of 187. Johns-Manville sold as low as 195¾, off 9 points from the high for the day. Erie reacted 3 points. The market became extremely dull after these movements. Radio, new, was sold in large blocks and was down 4 points to 75.

LINDY'S FRIEND SILENT ON WEDDING TRIP RUMOR

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 6.—(INS.)—Franklin Wallace, manager of an aviation school here, and a member of the Quiet Birdmen's Association, was not inclined to discuss today reports that he had received a code message from Mexico City inviting him to the wedding of Col. Charles Lindbergh.

Friends of the flyer said he expected to fly to Mexico City to attend the ceremony within four days. They deduced from this that the wedding was planned within a week.

MEXICO CITY, March 6.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is enjoying the relative obscurity into which the revolution has thrown him.

While the revolt has given him a breathing spell he is known, nevertheless, to be inpatient to get back to the United States. Rail communication with the states is cut off, while at Valbuena Field it is said repairs on his aeroplane are still proceeding.

STATE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE CHANGES RECOMMENDED

FAVORABLE REPORT VOTED

ial Dispatch to Sun-Telegraph.

RRISBURG, March 6.—ining a series of changes recommended by Gov. Fisher's administration, the revised administrative code was reported favorably today by the Senate Judiciary General Committee after an early meeting to consider the bulky piece of legislation.

Most important of the changes is creation of a State Military Reservation Commission in an advisory capacity in the Department of Military Affairs. The commission is to decide whether the National Guard training camp at Mt. Gretna should be retained and enlarged, and if not, is ordered to recommend a new site. Retention, it is understood, is dependent upon acquisition of a tract between two mountains as an artillery range.

Abolition of a provision of the original draft, creating a $7,500 office as chairman of the State Aeronautics Commission is another change. Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward, of McKeesport, is reinstated as chairman without pay, but he is authorized to name a vice chairman at a salary fixed by the commission.

ADAMS' SALARY RAISED

The salary of Maj. Lynn G. Adams, as superintendent of state police, is advanced from $6,000 to $7,500. Taking cognizance of opposition to placing too much power in the secretary of revenue, the board of finance and revenue is taken from the proposed revenue department and restored to the state treasury with the state treasurer, instead of the secretary of revenue, as chairman. Administration spokesmen explained this was proper as "it is a board of review over the revenue department and makes the neutral man the chairman."

Other changes include these:

In case of incapacity of the Public Service Commission chairman, the commissioner with longest service acts instead of the man whose term expires first. This will make S. Ray Shelby, Uniontown, the acting chairman when Chairman W. D. B. Ainey cannot serve.

The state treasurer and auditor general are exempted from rules governing use of state automobiles.

LICENSING PROFESSIONS

The Department of Public Instruction, in licensing professions, trades and cults which may be authorized in the future, is required to call in an advisory board of members of the profession for advice; and where there is a state association of members of the cult, the department is compelled to select its board from nominations by the association.

The State Farm Products Show Commission is permitted to rent the proposed farm show building between shows, and use the revenue for show purposes.

Senators of the committee raised some objection to central purchasing in Harrisburg for state institutions throughout the state, but made no changes in the code's provisions in this respect.

Decision in Sinclair Jury Case Sought

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP.)—Special efforts will be made in the Supreme Court this week by the government, through its counsel, Owen J. Roberts, to secure a decision by the highest tribunal during its present term in the jury-shadowing contempt cases against Harry F. Sinclaire, Henry M. Day, William J. Burns, and the latter's son, W. Sherman Burns. The District of Columbia Supreme Court held them guilty of contempt and they appealed.

Decision on another phase of the Teapot Dome oil cases is expected in the case recently argued before the highest court involving Sinclair's refusal to answer Senate questions.

terials from the United States. Additional troops are being recruited.

RAIL SERVICE CUT

Railway communication between El Paso, Tex., and Mexico City has been cut. Telegraphic and telephone communication is interrupted.

Federal troops are approaching Vera Cruz, capital of the state of Vera Cruz, which had been seized by the insurrectos.

Three thousand federals under Gen. Miguel Acosta, a cavalry commander, have reached Esperanza, half way between Mexico City and Vera Cruz.

President Portes Gil, of Mexico, has assured Dwight W. Morrow, the United States ambassador, that he is confident the revolt will be quelled.

LINDY MAROONED

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, famous American aviator, who was marooned in Mexico City by an accident to his plane, still is in Mexico City. He and his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador, spend much time together.

Former President Calles, who was especially appointed Mexican secretary of war, issued an official statement indicating his belief that Vera Cruz will soon be taken by the Federals. Calles said "that propaganda leaflets were being dropped from airplanes offering amnesty to the rebels who lay down their arms.

REBELS MUTINY

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS.)—The third battalion of the rebel garrison in Vera Cruz mutinied at dawn today against revolutionary Gen. Aguirre and now occupies half the city, American Consul Myers, at Vera Cruz, notified the state department at noon today.

Myers' dispatch gave no further details, but is was interpreted at the state department as indicating the mutineers had decided to abandon the revolution and restore Vera Cruz to the organized government authority.

MRS. COCHRAN, IN WILL, AIDS 5 CHURCHES

Five Presbyterian churches in Western Pennsylvania have been named as beneficiaries in the will of Mrs. Mary Cochran, widow of George Cochran, 3325 Brownsville road, Brentwood, probated today.

Bequests of $2,500 each will go to the First Presbyterian Church and Central Presbyterian Church, McKeesport. The Clairton, West Elizabeth and Wilson Presbyterian churches have been bequeathed $1,000 each.

SON REMEMBERED

The bulk of the $160,000 estate was left in trust for her son, Reed Cochran. In the event of his leaving no wife or children, his legacy will go to the McKeesport Hospital. The old farm home in Jefferson Township and 65 acres of coal land also go to the son. Mrs. Emma Moffatt, a sister, of Waynesburg, was left $2,000. Clyde F. Young, Fidelity Title and Trust Company, is named executor of the will.

OTHER WILLS FILED

James R., Thomas O. and Arthur Graham, nephews, and Mrs. May Stanford, a niece, were named as beneficiaries in the will of Mrs. Sarah Graham, Pittsburgh, who left an estate of $11,400. The Pittsburgh Savings and Trust Company is executor.

Mrs. Lizzie Woelfel, 340 Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, left her estate of $32,000 to two daughters, Emma L. and Elsie Woefel. Her son, Herbert, receives the home property. He and Emma are the executors.

American Arms Promised Mexico

MEXICO CITY, March 6.—(AP.)—The government today published this telegram from Ambassador Tellez at Washington: "As a result of a conference between President Hoover and Secretary Kellogg, the State Department is delivering to the press an announcement that the American government will furnish to the Mexican government, upon solicitation, arms and facilities for their exportation according to the needs of the Mexican government. Continuation of the policy established when an embargo was decreed on exportation of arms to Mexico was promised too; this will impede illicit exportation of arms to the rebels."

Gardner Aids' Pay Fund Appropriated

The four new district attorneys and their 12 old companions will be sure of their salaries this year, $28,207.22 having been transferred to the district attorney's fund today by the County Commissioners to care for the new assistants and the general increase in salaries.

A letter was received from District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner requesting the amount which he claimed will be necessary for the increases which started March 5.

Bryant Washburn to Marry Canadian

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—(AP.)—Bryant Washburn, motion picture actor, has announced that he will be married within a few days to Miss Dahlia Pears, actress, formerly of Toronto. The actor was divorced in February last year. Mrs. Washburn was granted custody of their two children.

Brock, Around World Aviator, Lands Here

William S. "Billy" Brock, who flew two-thirds around the world with Edward F. Schlee, of Detroit, arrived at Bettis Field, McKeesport, today in a Lockheed-Vega monoplane which will be displayed at the Pittsburgh aircraft show which opens Saturday in Motor Square Garden.

Hoover to Rename Moffet Air Chief of Indianapolis in 1895 and reelected in 1897 and again in 1899.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS.)—Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of naval aviation, will be reappointed for another term in his present post by President Hoover. The nomination is expected to be made in the course of a few days.

Upon termination of his third term as mayor Taggart took over the French Lick Springs Hotel properties, which added to his fame and increased his personal fortune.

In 1904 Taggart was an outstanding figure at the national Democratic convention at St. Louis, Mo. He occupied a similar important place at the national Democratic convention in Denver in 1908.

Upon the death of United States Senator Benjamin F. Shively in 1916, Gov. Ralston named Taggart as Shively's successor on March 20, 1916. Within a few months Senator Taggart had distinguished himself to a greater extent than many of his colleagues had in years of service.

BEATEN BY WATSON

He was chosen Democratic nominee for United States Senator to succeed himself, but was defeated in the November elections by James E. Watson, Republican.

Taggart again was active at the San Francisco national convention in 1920, but it was at the memorable convention in Madison Square Garden in New York that he reached the apex of his career only to be disappointed when the selection of the party's presidential nominee lay in his hand.

For the better part of three weeks the Democratic delegates had been wrangling over the choice of a national standard bearer with Al Smith and William H. McAdoo locked in death grips. Steadily Taggart had been advancing the late Senator Samuel Ralston's cause while the Indiana delegation cast its vote steadfastly for the "favorite son."

VICTORY CONCEDED

Finally delegations came to Taggart at his rooms in the Waldorf-Astoria, promising to switch to Ralston when voting was resumed that night.

Then came the fateful telegram from Ralston that he would not under any consideration accept the nomination.

When Taggart read the yellow piece of paper tears streamed down his face. His plans were for naught.

Mrs. Hoover Bans Secret Service Escort

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP.)—The new first lady is to dispense with the services of the secret service when she goes in public alone.

The use of secret service men was inaugurated by Mrs. Warren G. LARGEST IN WORLD

The authorized capital of the New York corporation makes it the largest aeronautical organization in the world.

Mr. Hann is in New York, completing details of the organization and Mr. Humphrey is vacationing in Florida. Col. Bane, at his office in the Oliver Building, confirmed the announcement from New York that he will head the new organization's technical staff, in addition to his duties with Pittsburgh Aviation Industries. Col. Bane was for several years commandant of McCook Field, Dayton, O., the Army's aviation research laboratory.

The association of leaders in Pittsburgh aviation interests with the giant New York corporation, means that Pittsburgh will be certain to gain prominence in the industry, Col. Bane said.

"In aviation," he declared, "you're in the air and you have to go somewhere. Connections in other cities, particularly in the matter of ground facilities and service arrangements, are of extreme importance. While Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, as a corporation, is not a part of the New York company, the association of members of this corporation with the Eastern company means that Pittsburgh is entering the picture in the national aspect of aeronautics.

"Undoubtedly other air lines are to be established—a southern transcontinental route, lines north and south, and in every direction. You can be assured that Pittsburgh men associated with corporations planning these national lines will see that all of them coming in the general direction of Pittsburgh will come here."

While there is no immediate prospect of industries coming to Pittsburgh as a result of the formation of the giant New York corporation, "the same effort to put Pittsburgh in the lead in manufactures and the industry generally may be expected," according to Col. Bane.

Other directors of the New York corporation include Harry S. New, former postmaster general; L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific Railroad; C. B. Seger, chairman of the finance committee of the Union Pacific Railroad; J. S. Pyeatt, president Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad; Edward P. Farley, former head of the United States Shipping Board; R. Stanley Dollar, of San Francisco, vice president Dollar Steamship Line; John L. Lancaster, of Dallas, president Texas and Pacific Railway, and Maj. Gen. Mason T. Patrick, former chief of air servive, U. S. A.

OUTSIDER GETS COUNTY JOB

The S. M. Siesel Contracting Company, a Milwaukee concern, today was given the contract for the new county office building after County Commissioner C. C. McGovern had made a vigorous protest against letting the money of the taxpayers go to out-of-the-county organizations.

The Siesel company bid was $2,493,750, the lowest of nine entered by the country's largest contracting concerns. McGovern said that the board of commissioners would be upheld in their judgment if they would award the contract to the Mellon-Stuart Company, a local concern, which had entered a bid of $2,545,000.

OTHER JOBS CITED

McGovern pointed out that the Mellon-Stuart company had erected a large percentage of Pittsburgh's finest buildings and by keeping the money for the new building here, the taxpayers would benefit. Even the bank clearances on the contract prize, should the work be given to the local company, would offset the $51,250 difference in the bids, he said.

Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the board, had introduced the resolution authorizing that the bid be given to the Siesel Co. and after McGovern had protested, Armstrong said that Mr. Siesel is a Pittsburgh man, born on the North Side, educated in the local schools and graduated from the engineering school at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

BID GOES TO COURT

Commissioner E. V. Babcock voted with Chairman Armstrong. The bid must be approved by the Court of Common Pleas before it becomes final.

Mr. Armstrong said that all the material put in the new building would come from Allegheny County concerns and that most of the men employed on the project would be local residents.

CHARTER FACES TROUBLE

the bill is not before them and that they have had no opportunity to study it, admit privately that they will be governed largely by the attitude of the Allegheny County delegation. That delegation, to date at least, is split wide open.

"What does Mellon think of it?" is the question asked most frequently.

Former Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon has been one of the most ardent advocates of the Metropolitan District plan. It was his influence last year that forced the proposed constitutional amendment through the House against considerable opposition on the part of the rural members, including many Allegheny County representatives from districts outside of Pittsburgh.

MELLON ONLY HOPE

Should he, on his return from Florida, exert his pressure for the passage of the charter as now drawn, he will be able to gather more than enough strength to carry the measure in nearly its present form past the legislative shoals and political breakers.

Gov. John S. Fisher, who received the charter late yesterday in the form of the third report of the Metropolitan District Commission from Miller, the chairman, and William E. Best, treasurer, was non-committal, although interested.

Immediately after handing the copy of the report to the Governor, Miller went to the Senate chamber and turned over the official copy for that body to John E. McKirdy, chief clerk.

The likelihood is that no further official action will be taken until late next week at the earliest.

METRO PLAN CHARTER SCANNED

one member for two years, and for these two years the board would choose its own president.

MAYOR'S SCOPE CURTAILED

The president of the Commissioners would be the chief executive of the consolidated city. He, and not the Mayor of Pittsburgh, would receive distinguished visitors and represent the community at social and high official functions.

There would be the following administrative departments: Finance, health, safety, public works, welfare, parks and recreation, planning, art, personnel, law, research and information, transit. The heads of each of these departments in general have power to appoint and remove all officers and employes thereof.

The charter contains the following features:

The unification of the county home at Woodville and the city farm at Mayview, now respectively administered by the directors of the poor and the city department of welfare.

The designation of through traffic streets, which would be maintained by the consolidated city.

Planning and zoning powers which do not interfere with similar powers of Pittsburgh and other units.

Power to create special districts for the purpose of supplying works, utilities or services such as sewage and garbage disposal, not for the benefit of any one municipal division.

Ample powers to solve the water problem which at the same time safeguard the rights of Pittsburgh and other cities owning water plants.

TRANSIT CONSIDERED

Power to deal broadly with the problem of rapid transit.

Power to make uniform regulations with regard to traffic on through traffic streets and with regard to signs, signal lights and other physical devices for the control of traffic anywhere in the consolidated city.

Power to pay for public improvements by special assessments on property within the district benefited by the improvement.

CREATES NEW POLICE

The charter would promote public safety by creating a small metropolitan police force organized on the lines of the state police for the purpose of patrolling the rural districts and which may be used by other municipalities upon request. There would be established a metropolitan detective bureau, a traffic division and a fire-prevention division.

The offices of justice of the peace, aldermen and magistrates would be abolished. Those in office would be permitted to serve out their terms. In their place would be a municipal court made up of from 30 to 45 salaried judges appointed by the County Court for a term of five years.

In this court would be established a small claims division in which cases involving less than $50 might be heard informally with costs not to exceed $1.

KANGAROO COURT PLANNED

Sessions of the Municipal Court would be held throughout the county in such a way as to serve the convenience of suitors in the court. Constables henceforth would be appointed by the judges of the Municipal Court, but constables in office will serve out their terms.

The charter would provide a health department with power to make and secure enforcement of regulations through local health authorities wherever they exist and directly in other parts of the consolidated city.

All elective officers in the county would be permitted to serve out their terms. Appointive officers of the county, of directors of the poor and of the city departments of welfare and transit would all continue in office with few exceptions for the time being. Positions for the few officers displaced could be found readily in the process of organizing the new government.

The pension rights of employes of Allegheny County and the City of Pittsburgh who are transferred to the consolidated city are protected completely.

The charter would safeguard the taxpayers' money by giving the Controller adequate auditing powers with a permanent appropriation of $25,000 a year for investigations; the establishment of a department of finance; a uniform modern accounting system; an effective budget; an audit every four years, and a department of research and information under a non-political board.

NEW ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

Assessment would be made by a consolidated city assessor assisted by local assessors locally appointed and paid for by each municipality. A board of assessment appeal would be appointed by the Common Pleas Court.

The charter protects the interests of outlying communities by preventing forcible annexation. Annexations henceforth can take place only as a result of a favorable vote of the people in both the annexed and annexing municipalities.

The charter is the result of six years' work. The commission first was appointed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot and a preliminary report was submitted to the Legislature in the session of 1925. In 1927 an act was passed authorizing a referendum on a constitutional amendment for the establishment of a consolidated city. The charter has been written since this referendum, as voted on at the election in November, 1928, gave the plan indorsement.

The text of the charter contains 30,000 words.

GASOLINE TAX INCREASE PROTESTED AT HEARING

HARRISBURG, March 6.—Opposition to a boost in the gasoline tax was voiced vigorously at a hearing last night before the House Ways and Means Committee, called to consider a change in the method of collecting such a levy.

The subject of the hearing was the Talbot bill, which, in general, would put the collection in the hands of possibly 600 wholesale distributors instead of the present method of having the collections handled by more than 25,000 retail dealers.

"We are unalterably opposed to an increase in the gasoline tax," declared Clarence E. Schock, chairman of the legislative committee of the Pennsylvania Oil Men's Association, which is holding a convention here this week. "We are willing to submit to the three-cent tax and no more, because we feel we will not be able to throw off the yoke of a two or three-cent tax."

State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis and former Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown, of Philadelphia, spoke in behalf of the Talbot bill.

Suicide of Woman Holds Mystery

Mystery shrouds the reason why Mrs. Rose Vogel, 42, of 2722 McDowell street, North Side, slashed her throat with a razor some time Tuesday night. She died today in St. John's Hospital. She was found in her bedroom by her daughter, Mrs. Anna Schede, of 615 Ridgewood avenue, who could assign no reason for the suicide.

Women's Thrift Returns Good Dividends

Sun-Telegraph Encourages Savings Bank Depositors

To stimulate interest in the practice of thrift, the Sun-Telegraph will deposit ten dollars ($10) to the credit of each of the following bank books. If you hold one of these bank books, bring it to the Sun-Telegraph office, Gazette, Square, and present it to Robert N. Laughlin, cashier.

Name of Bank.	Book No.
Peoples Savings & Trust Company	68,726
Dormont Savings & Trust Company	7,812
Dollar Savings Bank	339,710
Carrick Bank	8,081
Pittsburgh Trust Company	14,859
Keystone National Bank	7,391
M. Berardini State Bank	2,858
First National Bank	77,002
American State Bank & Trust Company	3,859
Pennsylvania Trust Company	22,091

The books designated must be presented before 5 p. m. Wednesday, March 13—a week from today.

Any bank in Greater Pittsburgh having savings or thrift accounts may have its pass book numbers included in these thrift gift lists by a request from a bank official to the Sun-Telegraph Thrift Department.

Watch tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph for more information of interest to savings bank depositors.

Thrifty folk have no fear of bad luck.

Fortified against disaster by a snug bank account, one can afford to laugh at signs and portents.

Wtih money laid away, and drawing interest, against a rainy day, any man or woman will feel secure against the vicissitudes of fortune.

Mrs. Margaret S. Meister, of 2419 Mountford avenue, North Side, was born on Friday the 13th; but she does not let that worry her. For some years she has had a saving account in the Mellon National Bank. Her thrift has brought her reward in more than one way.

Mrs. Margaret S. Meister

Mrs. Meister's bank book, No. 12,164, is one of those to the credit of which the Sun-Telegraph has deposited sums of money—in her case $10—to stimulate interest in the campaign to promote thrift.

Mrs. Meister has an attractive four-year-old son who is being taught thrift early. He already has two bank accounts.

Institutions and societies can practice thrift as well as individuals, and the Sun-Telegraph desires to reward worthy organizations that maintain savings bank accounts with which to carry on their benevolent works. There have been included, accordingly, in the list of bank book numbers to the credit of which sums of money will be deposited by this newspaper some meritorious organizations.

Bank book No. 757 of the Fourteenth Street Bank, to which it was announced a deposit of $10 would be given, is that of the Deutscher Krieger Verein, a beneficial society. Fred Kraeuter, of 2514 Arlington avenue, a trustee of this organization, has presented its bank book and received the $10 gift of the Sun-Telegraph.

Mrs. Gertrude Hoffman, of 5437 Penn avenue, holder of bank book No. 9,118 of the Arsenal Bank, is $5 richer today, thanks to the receipt of a Sun-Telegraph thrift gift.

MELLON ACTION HOLDS OVER

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The failure of the Senate to set a time for a report on the investigation which the judiciary committee was directed to make into the official status of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, was today regarded as precluding the possibility of any action being taken until the special session is convened next month.

The resolution, introduced by Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), demands that the committee inquire into whether Secretary Mellon could legally hold over from the Coolidge cabinet without confirmation of the Senate, and raises the question of his eligibility under a law barring cabinet members from being directly or indirectly interested in trade or commerce.

The new Hoover cabinet will meet with its chieftain at its first session on Friday. Six of the new cabinet were sworn into office yesterday following the Senate's confirmation of their nominations, taking their oaths at the various departments which they head. They were: Secretary Adams, of the Navy; Secretary Lamont, of the Commerce Department; Attorney General Mitchell; Secretary of War Good; Secretary Wilbur, of the Interior, and Postmaster General Brown.

The new Secretary of Agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde, was to take his oath of office today. Henry L. Stimson, the new Secretary of State, is on his way from Manila and will not be in Washington until the latter part of the month. In the interim, the Coolidge administration state department head, Secretary Kellogg, will continue in his post.

Secretary Mellon and Secretary Davis, of the Labor Department, also holding over from the Coolidge cabinet into the Hoover administration, did not take a new oath yesterday.

20 Padlocks Remain; Judge Removes Three

Final hearings in 23 temporary padlock injunctions for violation of prohibition laws were conducted today before Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in United States District Court. Judge Schoonmaker ordered 20 of the saloons and stores padlocked for one year. In three cases, where owners of the property filed bond against further violations and agreed to eject the tenants who violated the law, the temporary injunctions were removed.

Bankville Man Dies In Boulevard Crash

George W. Johnson, 48, of 7 Younger avenue, Banksville, was fatally injured in an automobile crash in Bigelow boulevard near Thirty-third street today. He died shortly afterward in West Penn Hospital. A car driven by Johnson's son, Harold, 25, collided with a truck of the American Reduction Company, driven by Charles Turner, a Negro, of 67 Rowley street, according to police. The younger Johnson and Turner were arrested.

Hurled Off Train, Man Gets $12,000

John Miller, of Coraopolis, who, physicians testified, has been mentally affected since he was injured on a Pennsylvania Railroad train in April, 1926, won a $12,000 verdict against the railroad in Common Pleas Court today. It was alleged that, in walking from one coach to another, he was hurled off the open vestibule of a train as it turned a curve.

"No, sir. I don't go swimming in the air."

"I couldn't fine a man with such a name. Sentence suspended."

THREE RESCUED FROM FIRE

A woman, her son and a man were carried down ladders by firemen from the second floor of the home of Thomas Carmichael, at 321 South Millvale avenue, when fire of undetermined origin swept the house last night.

Mrs. Alice D. Carmichael and her 5-year-old son, Wilbert and an electrician, whose name, police did not learn were carried to the street when dense smoke from the blaze which started in the basement, cut off their escape.

Wilbert, playing in the dining room, discovered the flames and notified his mother and the electrician, who had been called to the house to do repair work.

The man made an attempt to descend the stairs but was halted by heavy smoke. He then broke a window and shouted to neighbors, who sounded an alarm.

BOAT BATTLER'S TRIAL STARTS

The sequel to the Sewickley houseboat battle, November 21, came in Criminal Court today when Louis Springer and his wife, Margaret, were placed on trial. He is charged with felonious assault and battery and pointing firearms, and the latter with being an accessory.

Springer and two constables were wounded when Springer put up a three-hour gun battle with police and peace officers from his boat in the Ohio River. He surrendered, according to police, only after hand grenades were resorted to.

The trouble started when police went to Springer's boat to arrest a man.

WILBERT CARMICHAEL

Wilbert, 5, was rescued by firemen of Engine Company No. 6 when fire trapped him, his mother and an electrician working in the house on the second floor of their home, 321 South Millvale avenue. Wilbert discovered the fire.

TIE WATCHMAN, LOOT SAFE

Four masked, armed robbers broke into the Rutter Brothers Lumber Company office at Airbrake avenue and Eleventh street, Turtle Creek, early today and, after blindfolding the night watchman and binding him to a chair, wrecked the safe combination and escaped with $111.

The watchman, Lott Nichols, worked himself loose after an hour's effort and reported the robbery to police.

HOOVER TO PUSH LAW INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(INS.)—President Hoover will give immediate attention to the appointment of the commission to investigate and report on the problem of law enforcement, official Washington believed today. The President wants it understood, however, that prohibition is just one of the many angles that must be covered by this commission.

He will confer with Attorney General William D. Mitchell at an early date concerning the makeup of the commission.

Kept constantly informed by Secretary of State Kellogg of the latest developments in the Mexican situation, President Hoover is greatly interested in conditions there. He declared that he saw no reason for a change in the American policy on arms embargo affecting Mexico.

The President soon is to issue the call for the special session of Congress for the consideration of farm relief and limited revision of the Tariff act. He called Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, Republican House leader, for a conference today to discuss the date for convening. The majority leader has estimated that this could be by April 19.

VERONA'S AID INDICTED

Harry Fink, private detective and aide to Alderman John J. Verona, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday on the strength of a story told by Betty Milton, who had been fined $25 as an inmate of a disorderly house.

It is alleged that Fink paid the fine for the Milton woman and on her story, Fink was arrested by Police Inspector James N. Hoey and arraigned before Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court. Fink waived hearing and then preferred charges of conspiracy to indict against Hoey, Brandon and Policeman Patrick Tulley, Thomas Martin and Harry Lemp. They also waived hearing after posting bond before Alderman Verona before whom Fink made the informations.

Verona's papers, holding the policemen and Brandon for court, were filed in the district attorney's office yesterday and probably will come up before the next grand jury.

The charge on which Fink was indicted by the grand jury was preferred by Inspector Hoey.

Sentences of Tax Evaders Postponed

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, in Federal Court today, postponed until March 15 sentencing of Fred Stratman and Daniel McLaughlin, defendants in income tax evasion prosecutions. Stratman pleaded no defense and McLaughlin pleaded guilty to defrauding the government. In the meantime the court will dispose of motions for new trials in behalf of the two and others found guilty in the North Side liquor conspiracy case.

Tugs Free Liner Grounded in Gale

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 6.—(AP.)—Unscathed despite a day spent aground in the St. John's River about 17 miles below here, the Clyde Liner Mohawk docked last evening and prepared to continue her voyage from New York to Miami.

The liner, carrying 195 passengers and a cargo of freight, was swept aground in the early morning hours by a sudden gale near the mouth of the river. She had to wait all day for the favorable tide before two tugs could pull her off.

WORKERS HERE JOIN FIGHT ON EARNED INCOME TAXES

Pittsburgh bank clerks, department store buyers, salesmen, accountants and professional women are among the first backers of the organized movement to petition Congress for a reduction of taxes on earned incomes.

These groups, through their various local organizations or by affliation with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on Earned Incomes, are preparing to lead the way in a countrywide movement to lift the burden of taxation from professional men and women and wage earners.

CLUBS PLAN ACTION

The question will be framed for presentation to the Professional Women's Club at its meeting tomorrow. Clerical workers by the hundreds are filling out petitions printed in the Sun-Telegraph. Dr. L. B. Bernstein, president of the Pittsburgh Social Workers' Club, is giving consideration to the movement today.

The petitions now pouring into the Sun-Telegraph office will be submitted to Congress at the coming special session. Assurances have been given by the leaders at Washington that the appeals of the professional men and women and wage earners will receive speedy attention.

Joseph Stadtfeld, president of the Allegheny County Bar Association, today declared it was inherently unfair to tax earned incomes at the same rate as incomes derived from invested capital. Such taxation, he added, tended to check initiative and industry. Mr. Stadtfeld said he felt sure that many Pittsburgh attorneys would be glad to give their support to the plan to amend the income tax law.

STAGE PEOPLE JOIN

Following the action of high salaried stage stars, every member of George White's "Scandals" company playing in Pittsburgh signed petitions at the Variety Club today for lower income taxes.

"Indeed, I don't know how much income tax I pay," said Ann Pennington, famous little dancer, "but I'm quite sure I pay enough. My manager does all that accounting for me because I'm not good at figures—figures in arithmetic, I mean. Some of the girls pay a good deal and I often hear of millionaires who claim exemptions and pay next to nothing. For this reason, here goes my 'John Hancock' on the dotted line of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's petition."

Largest Cake Plant In World in City

Pittsburgh is now the home of the "world's largest cake kitchen" following the opening of Grennan Bakeries, Inc., at 200 North Braddock avenue. The new building occupies two and a half acres of ground and has a capacity of 384,000 cakes per day.

The plant is modern in every detail. Clubs, groups and societies will be invited to visit the plant and inspect the processes of baking.

Found Dying in Road, Man's Fall Blamed

An accidental fall was blamed today for the death of Peter Schultz, 62, of Bridgeville, who was found lying in Pressley road, near Bridgeville, last night, with his skull fractured.

County Detective Robert McMillen, who investigated reports that Schultz had been slain, reported to the coroner that Schultz had slipped and struck his head on the road.

5 APPEAL RUM CONVICTIONS

Five men convicted in the South Side federal liquor conspiracy cases have filed motions for new trials on the grounds that Judge Nelson McVicar erred in refusing to accept the report of the jury that it had disagreed. The men are Mickey, Gus, Sam and Joe Meyers and James F. Swift.

The foreman of the jury reported that the members had been deadlocked for nine hours. The jurors were told by Judge McVicar to try again, and a few hours later they returned a verdict convicting the five petitioners.

RICH GIRL STOWAWAY PUT TO WORK IN SHIP'S GALLEY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—(AP.)—Far out on the Pacific bound for the tropical isles of Tahiti, Miss Hazel Cooke, San Francisco society girl, today was lending a hand in the galley and helping the stewards aboard the liner Tahiti because she is a stowaway.

Mrs. William J. Kierferdorf, wife of a prominent San Francisco banker, and mother of Miss Cooke, yesterday received a radiogram from the skipper of the Tahiti saying the girl had turned up as a stowaway, and asking for instructions.

"Put her to work," Mr. and Mrs. Kierferdorf radioed back.

In her 18 years of life, Miss Cooke has crossed the Pacific more than a dozen times, and knows the orient almost as well as her native land. But the lure of travel has always held her.

"Some day," she recently told her friends here, "I'll stow away aboard a ship bound for some outlandish port."

Another radiogram from the captain of the Tahiti last nigh to the Kierferdorfs, said:

"Following your instructions to the letter. Miss Cooke is not much help in the galley, but by the end of the voyage she should be pretty good at bed-making."

Wales to Confer Knighthood Accolades

LONDON, March 6.—(AP.)—An important part of the new duties devolving upon the Prince of Wales as a result of his father's illness will be to act as His Majesty's deputy at this year's investitures of knighthood.

It is stated authoritatively a royal warrant granting the powers to the prince to confer the accolade of knighthood has been prepared and is awaiting His Majesty's signature. It probably will be signed in the next two or three days.

King George himself, when Prince of Wales, conferred the accolade on certain Indian subjects who had received knighthood while he toured India, King Edward having given him similar powers.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes, such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldom have a new opportunity for the accumulation of savings which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income, as distinguished from earnings on capital, and, since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

Hoffman Sculpture Exhibit Extended

Announcement was made today at the Carnegie Institute that the Malvina Hoffman exhibition of sculpture, which was to have closed today, has been extended through March 31. The exhibition has proved one of the most popular ever held here. It is the first time that the mature work of the sculptor has been gathered together for public presentation. Visitors to the exhibition have shown particular interest in the materials which Miss Hoffman uses, one of her figures being carved out of anthracite coal, another out of fire brick, and two out of polished black marble.

Failing to Get Film Job, Girl Cuts Wrists

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 6.—(INS.)—Penniless and despondent over her failure to break into the movies, Julia Reynolds, 23, comely and fashionably dressed, yesterday slashed her wrists in an attempt to end her life, according to a sheriff's report. Sobbing hysterically, the girl was found wandering about the streets.

"I have no friends nor money and can't get a job," she cried.

Plan Scotch Concert At Eighth St. Church

Friday night in the Second Presbyterian Church, Eighth street, the Men's Club will present the men's chorus of Clan Cameron in an all-Scotch musical program. J. S. Ferguson is director of the chorus. Incidental numbers will be given by R. E. Elker, violinist, and William Davidson, piper. The public will be welcomed and a lunch will be served for members of the Men's Club and their families.

A FLAVOR HARMONY PRAISED by CONNOISSEURS

ASK a true coffee connoisseur! He'll tell you that there's not a finer-tasting coffee than White House. Ask the housewife who gives her family and guests only the best! She treasures the famous White House flavor above all others.

Two generations have paid tribute to the aromatic goodness of White House Coffee. Today, we challenge the world to produce a finer flavor.

The choicest beans from the entire coffee-growing world are blended by a master. This "coffee harmony" is skillfully roasted so that none of its precious, delicate flavor escapes. Finally—a soul-satisfying cup that brings new flavor delights to your table!

Enjoy this coffee treat today. Secure the package that bears a picture of the White House. Serve White House Coffee at your evening meal! Note the difference!

Milk Chocolate Bar

Taste a little as it comes from the tin. How creamy it is! The milk's already in it!

The purest, freshest full-cream milk is blended with the cocoa and sugar by the same secret process Daniel Peter used to make the original milk chocolate.

Blended so finely, so perfectly that no cooking is needed. You just add hot water to replace the moisture that has been removed from the milk.

So there is no flat "cooked taste" of boiled or heated milk—no unpleasant scum—no scorching.

You make Peter's Milk Cocoa right in the cup—just by adding hot water. Nothing could be easier. Yet you have a delicious, highly nutritious drink—made of the choicest, rich cocoa, fine table sugar, and the purest, freshest, full-cream milk, blended by the makers of Peter's—the original milk chocolate bar.

WITH ORDINARY COCOA YOU MUST BUY THREE THINGS SUGAR COCOA MILK

WITH PETER'S YOU NEED ONLY HOT WATER

Fresh full-cream milk and fine table sugar are already in it. No bothersome cooking, no scum, no scorching, no pans to wash.

CONTRACT LET FOR RAISING OF FLOOD AREA

Contract for the raising of a score of North Side streets above the flood danger zone was awarded yesterday by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang. The improvement includes the cutting off of the top of Monument Hill and the use of 200,000 cubic yards of earth provided by this operation for the filling of the streets above flood level.

The area affected is bounded by Federal street, Manchester avenue, the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad and the Ohio River.

Director Lang said that the soldiers' memorial now on Monument Hill was to be moved to a site in West Park at a cost of $35,000. The hill cutting and street raising contract was awarded to the Harrison Construction Company on a bid of $241,271.

The total of contracts for city improvements let by the public works director yesterday approximated $500,000. These awards increased the sum of contracts let by Director Lang during 1929 to $2,000,000. Within a month he expects to award additional work aggregating $1,000,000.

GARAGE YIELDS BIG BREWERY

A garage in the rear of an old-time pretentious residence at 1219 Ridge avenue today yielded one of the largest wildcat breweries seized on the North Side.

Lieut. John Lynch and a squad of Woods Run police raided the garage, arrested Albert Salvatore, 21, of 3179 Luckey way, and confiscated 2,800 gallons of beer, 68 empty five-gallon malt cans and a complete brewing equipment.

An Italian family living in the house, once in the elite residential district of the North Side, had leased the garage and part of the dwelling to Salvatore, police say they learned. The plant had been operating only a short time, they said.

STILL A LINCOLN!

THAT beautiful, gleaming Lincoln that you admired yesterday—that swift, smooth-running mechanism—did you stop to think that it has probably gone many thousands of miles?

Yet today its strength and power are undiminished, its silence and beauty unimpaired. It is still a magnificent motor car. . . . Still a Lincoln!

From time to time it is possible to obtain one of these Lincolns at very advantageous prices . . . Lincolns that have stood the test of service, that have been inspected by Lincoln craftsmen and gone over in Lincoln shops. Such cars are real bargains and thoroughly sound investments. Shrewd buyers are always on the lookout for them.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on our floor. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. We are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

Sunshine for health! That's the modern rule

Children Now Gain Sun Vitamin a new way

Ultra-Violet Ray "irradiation" of famous hot breakfast food a new health development

SUNSHINE builds strong, sturdy bodies! That's the health news of the day. Just what the secret of the sun's rays is, scientists have recently discovered. And now a leader among them has found a way to pass it on to you . . . in the famous hot breakfast food—Quaker Farina.

Vitamin "D" is the way science explains the newly-found health secret of sunshine. This vitamin enables the body to build hard teeth, sound bones. Children who get plenty of this vitamin are more apt to be well-developed physically. They have good appetites. Growth is speeded.

When Vitamin "D" is lacking, bones fail to develop properly. Appetite lags. The child is "always having colds." So hard is it to get sufficient sunshine that 90% of city children, authorities say, show signs of "sunshine starvation." For this reason, physicians have long sought a simple, easy way to make more "sun vitamin" available every day.

Now a way has been found. It is by "irradiating" Quaker Farina with Ultra-Violet Light under the Steenbock Process. Quaker Farina is made of the creamy white heart of the wheat. Full of energy . . . it is an ideal hot breakfast for the whole family. Taste and appearance are unchanged. And now it offers a health plus which no other hot cereal can claim! The price is the same as before. NOTE: All Quaker Farina is irradiated although some packages are not so marked.

NICE WORDS WON'T DYE a dress or coat...

Neither pretty pictures nor colorful adjectives will dye a dress or coat. It takes real dyes to do the work; dyes made from true anilines.

Next time you have dyeing to do, try Diamond Dyes. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree they are better dyes.

You get none of that re-dyed look from Diamond Dyes; no streaking or spotting. Just fresh, crisp, bright new color. And watch the way they keep their brilliance through wear and washing. They are better dyes because they contain plenty of real anilines—from three to five times more than other dyes. But you pay no more for them than for ordinary dyes

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. Remember this when you buy. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

OLD GOLD WINS ON THE ÎLE DE FRANCE IN A TEST OF THE LEADING CIGARETTE BRANDS

"At the request of the P. Lorillard Company, makers of OLD GOLD cigarettes, we conducted a test on the Île de France to determine which of the four leading cigarettes . . . with brand names concealed . . . would appeal to the greatest number of smokers . . . The test was given at a luncheon on board the ship. 21 distinguished New Yorkers participated . . . The test was conducted with absolute fairness and impartiality. Not one of the guests knew the names of the four brands . . . The only question asked was: 'Which of these four cigarettes do you like the best? . . . Answer by number . . . without trying to guess the brand name.' . . . At the conclusion of the test the count showed that 12 guests out of the 21 had chosen OLD GOLD, giving OLD GOLD a preference of 57% against 43% for the other three brands of cigarettes combined."

Correlation in the Matter of Blue

Horne's, considering the importance of blue this Spring, has gone to great length to correlate its Fashion Sections on the subject . . . So that to go with a vivid blue frock, one may have the correct dark blue coat; a hat to match either frock or coat; dark blue shoes; jewelry in bright or dull finish silver, plain or set with blue stones.

An ensemble may be selected here tomorrow with one of these charming blue dresses as a beginning.

Women's and Misses' Models

Here is a delightful collection of dresses in those vivid tones which are perpetuating blue in the mode this Spring, regardless of the fact that blue has been "good" for many seasons past . . .

Crayon Blues
Violet Blues
Indigo Blues

. . . all chosen for the definite reason that they combine so perfectly with coats of navy blue or middy blue in forming ensembles.

Dresses of tailored type, street type, and dresses for afternoon parties. Of flat crepe, Canton crepe, crepe jolie and georgette.

Models with features which make them attractive when coats are removed . . . Draped and scarf necklines, wrist finishes which enhance the beauty of hands at the bridge table, spirited movement of skirts.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE DEACON'S FALL

By WILLIAM ALLEN WARD

PETE SIMMS dozed on the door-steps of Smith's grocery. Beside him dozed Simp, his mongrel hound, product of Tobinville's back alleys. Pete Simms was known as the "no-'count" man of the village of Tobinville. He was known as Misery Simms, and the hound dog, Simp, was known as Misery's company.

"Misery and Company again," said Deacon Jones, as he passed late in the evening on his way home from the village postoffice, "Ol' Misery hisself and his company."

The deacon was a pillar in the village church. He gripped the amen corner like a miser grips his gold, and loud were his prayers. Despite the fact that Deacon Jones' voice had a crack in each octave that sounded like rubbing resin on a clothesline, he insisted in leading the singing at prayer meeting and at the regular church services. But when night like a monster crept over the countryside, spreading wide his robes of darkness, old man Jones would reach into his carefully locked vault and pull out the mortgages he held on a dozen or more homes of Tobinville. His weasel face would twist with a smile when he observed that a note was nearly due and a foreclosure was almost a certainty.

"Ol' Misery hisself," the deacon cackled, "jus' dreaming, dreamin', that's all . . . wastin' yore life."

Misery Simms never opened his eyes. Simp was awakened by the deacon's tirade and opened one eye in a sleepy manner. Villagers listened to the deacon with awed respect, for most of them feared him.

Then the pious deacon resolved to make himself a hero in the minds of the villagers. He would deliver a lecture right there in the public street, holding up Misery Simms as a model for the wrong way a man should live; then use his own life as a model for the few who chose to live right.

"Gather closely, you rip-snortin' vagabonds of this little town," said the deacon. "You kids stop playing ball and running around playing hide-and-seek while I tell you a few things that will do your soul some good."

The deacon discovered he was standing close to a bog-hole in the street. Tobinville was located in the swampy section of Eastern Texas and bog-holes in the village streets are common things in the rainy season. This bog-hole was several feet deep in water and the mud at the bottom was several inches in depth and very sticky. A small creek ran close and the bog was fed by back water from the tiny stream.

"Gather close, you urchins," whizzed the Deacon, "gather close. I'm gonna use this vagabond here, Misery Simms as a example. See that wreck of human life—drunken sot. Look at him, ain't got a cent in the bank and don't hold a—"

Deacon Simms almost made a slip. He almost said, "and don't hold a mortgage!" But he turned the sentence and continued: "He don't even hold a reputation as a good street cleaner. He won't work at any job—he's a no count rascal—"

Misery Simms was too indolent to reply. And really, he didn't care. He had partaken freely of his own moonshine and was very, very sleepy. Besides, the tiny cabin in the scrub oak a mile beyond the village belonged to Misery Simms—Deacon Jones had no mortgage on it!

"Look at Misery Simms, you youngin's," said the Deacon in a rasping voice, "compare him with me, with Deacon Jones, the most honored citizen of Tobinville."

Deacon Jones waxed enthusiastic. He walked backwards as he made emphatic gestures with his outstretched arms.

"Ain't bragging," he said, "Ain't bragging—but look at me! My life is an example of the clean life—everybody in Tobinville are my friends, everybody in town likes me, because I'm the principal citizen—I've done it—won the people's confidence by living clean—look at me!"

Flop!

The Deacon had stepped in the mud hole. Head first, he turned a flip, for his feet slipped, and he went under. He went into bog-hole and stuck in the mud.

He came up with great effort and yelled "Help!" at the top of his voice.

"Help, help, ye little devils, drag me out of here," roared the Deacon.

The kids looked on for a moment and then disappeared. Not one offered a helping hand!

"Help!" gasped the Deacon as the mud heavily mixed with quick sand pulled him down. "Help!"

Misery Simms came out of his doze. Simp, Misery's company, also awakened. Suddenly coming to life Misery jumped to the rescue of the Deacon. The dog plunged into the bog while Misery Simms followed.

"Help—help!" yelled the drowning man. "Help—save me—"

"Steady, ol' man," drawled Misery Simms, "It's Ol' Misery and his hound dog, Simp . . . We'll get you out of this bog-hole."

After considerable difficulty Deacon Jones was rescued.

Standing upon the dry bank, after a struggle of several minutes, Deacon Jones surveyed the village with a forlorn look. Not a grown up . . . not a kid, not even a dog or a cat was in sight, except Misery and company.

"Misery," began the Deacon, "You ain't such a bad man—"

"Save thee unnecessary language," drawled Misrey, as he beckoned to Simp and walked away.

A moment later he drawled: "Better be careful next time, me and my hound might not be near to pull you out . . . and seems like we are 'bout the only ones in Tobinville that think enough of you to save yore hide from the quicksand."

LIQUOR DEATHS MOUNT TO 21

PEORIA, Ill., March 6.—(INS.)—The death toll in Peoria and Knox counties due to poisoned alcohol rose to 21 today.

Five alleged botleggers were arrested, two of them women. They are C. O. Guffin and his wife, Nita; Morris Mansfield and his wife, Jessie, and John Cox, 45, of Vermont, Ill.

The Guffins, according to the authorities, obtained their liquor from the Mansfields and the Mansfields were said to have declared that they obtained their supply from Chicago "runners."

Prof. George Ashman, of the chemistry department of Bradley Polytechnic Institute, testifying at the coroner's inquest into the death of Clarence Hoppe, one of the Peoria victims, stated that Hoppe died as a result of drinking liquor containing from 10 to 15 per cent of wood alcohol.

"KONJOLA FIRST MEDICINE THAT BENEFITED ME"

Happy Experience With New Remedy Is Described by Grateful Pittsburgh Man.

What happiness has Konjola brought into the world! What gladness it has put into the hearts of countless thousands who have found in this new medicine the first and only relief after years of seeking health so long denied them!

MR. ULYSSE GROTTICELLI

How this super-compound of 32 ingredients works is being explained by the Konjola Man, who daily is meeting scores of sufferers at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's) Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, this city, and pointing out to them the amazing record of success that Konjola has achieved wherever this astonishing remedy has been introduced. It is a remarkable fact that Konjola triumphs over those obstinate cases that have baffled everything else tried. This is so because Konjola attacks the disease at its source. It goes right after causes. Every ingredient of this super-compound has a mission to perform in clearing the system of poisons. Konjola paves the way for new, abundant and glorious health. Take, for instance, the case of Mr. Ulysse Grotticelli, 636 Boggs Avenue, Mt. Washington, Pittsburgh. Mr. Grotticelli, who was assistant professor of chemistry at Naples, Italy, called on the Konjola Man and made this astounding statement:

"How I wish that all who are ill could know of Konjola. It was the first medicine that benefited me. I had been suffering from constipation for years and years. My food never digested right: it always fermented and formed gas which pressed against my heart, causing wild palpitation. I was unable to sleep good at night and was forced to rise several times because of bladder actions. This had been my condition for years and although I tried many medicines I failed to find one that reached the source of my troubles.

"The many recommendations that Konjola had been receiving in Pittsburgh convinced me that there was real merit to this medicine. Finally I made up my mind to find out what it would do for me. I bought just one bottle and was hardly prepared for the surprise it gave me. Before I had finished it I knew that, at last, I was on the road to health and traveling fast. My stomach was strengthened and cleansed; food digests perfectly and I have regular bowel movements daily. I can eat what I please without any distress afterward. I enjoy my work a great deal more and have greater energy and vigor. Words fail me when I tell what I think of this wonderful medicine."

So it goes; success after success when Konjola is given its chance. It is logical to believe that what this modern medicine did for Mr. Grotticelli it will do for all who suffer—and for you.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Doctor's Discovery Reduces It Quickly and Dizzy Spells Disappear.

Thousands who have dizzy spells, sleeplessness, nervousness, shortness of breath, pains in the head and impaired energy have been told by physicians or insurance examiners that they have high blood pressure. The serious results are well enough known to check it at once. High blood pressure caused by overtaxing the heart often brings on serious conditions.

Norma reduces high blood pressure. Often one bottle will do it. Many have so testified. It is a doctor's prescription and is much used by women at the changing time of life who usually have blood pressure above normal. Ask for Norma at May Drug Co. or any drug store.

BUICK FOUNDER DIES POOR

DETROIT, Mich., March 6.—(AP.)—David D. Buick, 74, founder of the Buick Automobile Company, now a unit of the General Motors Corporation, died of cancer in Harper Hospital here last night.

Mr. Buick, who was known as one of the pioneers of the automobile industry, died in comparative poverty. For the last two years he had held an instructorship in the Detroit School of Trades.

In 1901 Mr. Buick was a wealthy man. During the next two years he used his fortune in a series of "horseless carriages," none of which was a success. J. H. Whiting, president of the Flint Wagon Works, became his financial backer and partner.

They finally produced a car that would sell, but by that time the Buick company, the Flint Wagon Works and several Flint banks were so deeply involved they asked M. C. Durant, of the Durant-Dort Carriage Company, of Flint, to take over the tottering Buick company.

Durant sold $500,000 worth of stock in the enterprise and later organized the General Motors Corporation, which he in turn lost to the DuPonts and other capitalists.

After unsuccessful oil and land ventures in California and Florida, Buick returned to Detroit. He was past 70, "broke," almost friendless. He made his home in a shabby little flat. Cars bearing his name flashed past his door. He could not afford an automobile.

A month ago he became ill and was sent to Harper Hospital, where he died.

FIREMAN, AIDE TO VERONA, DIES

James McManus, fireman-constable, and adherent of John J. Verona in the political warfare of the Hill and "Strip," died today in St. Francis Hospital.

McManus had been in the hospital almost continuously since last October 31, when he suffered an injury to his knee as he was sliding down a pole in No. 18 Engine House, Eighth street, in response to an alarm of fire.

In the factional outbreak that followed the ousting of Verona as police magistrate by Mayor Charles H. Kline, six months ago, McManus was a warrant server on Verona opponents. He was elected a constable of the Second Ward in November, 1927. He had been a fireman for 19 years.

Born in the "Strip" 42 years ago, McManus had spent his entire life there, having lived in recent years at 2221 Spring way. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in Old St. Patrick's Church. Burial will take place from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McManus, 56 Bascom street. Owen McManus is a brother.

Injunction to Block Rail Line Refused

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 6.—A preliminary injunction against the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad, asked by Mary McClelland Hill and Elizabeth Hill Gault, of Union Township, was refused in an opinion handed down in court here. The railroad will take about 10 acres of a tract owned by the sisters in building its extension from Cochrans Mill, Allegheny County, to Connellsville, Fayette County. The injunction was asked to restrain the company from taking any land for "disposal of waste."

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that produced the rain and snow over this section yesterday is now in the far Northeast. The disturbance that appeared over Alberta yesterday morning moved eastward along the border, and is centered over the Lake Superior section this morning, the low pressure extending southwestward over the central plains. It is producing only light snow over the border states, but mild weather throughout the central valleys.

High pressure in the Northwest is causing a decided drop in temperature over that section, to below zero over the Canadian Northwest, and to 10 below in North Dakota.

River Conditions.

The rivers are still rising slowly, but they are near stationary at the headwaters. Stage at Pittsburgh is 19.2 feet; Dam No. 2, 11.8; Dam No. 6, 19.1; Dam No. 9, 18.1, and Dam No. 12, 16.6. At Pittsburgh between 21 and 22 feet stage may be expected tonight, and at Wheeling between 24 and 25 feet Thursday afternoon.

Misses' Spring Coats Show the Newest Trends

The new Spring coats are beautifully tailored, with careful attention to fashion details and various "soft" touches that reveal the "feminine" note. The new woolen materials include Kitten's Ear Broadcloth, Basketweave, Sylvia Cloth, Creola, Kasha Broadcloth. The new silk fabrics are Satin, Faille Silk, and Ottoman.

Furs Applied as Fabrics

Another indication of the new mode is the use of flat furs to form handkerchief scarfs, draped collars, shawl collars and upstanding collars. These include broadtail, galyak, monkey, pahmi, mole, caracul, krimmer and natural and beige squirrel.

The Favored Spring Colors

Black ranks high in favor. Middy, Independence and navy blue, tan, beige, grey and green are all smart, and are good "ensemble" shades.

Revue of Farce Accompanied By Notes About Stage and Filmland

MAD PETRUCHIO AS TOM MIX PUTS HIS KATHERINE ON MOTORCYCLE

By GEORGE SEIBEL

GEORGE SEIBEL

FEMINISM and Poetry both were knocked into a cocked hat last night at the Nixon Theater when the melancholy Hamlet turned into a hilarious Tom Mix to tame a most rambunctious Katherine. Fritz Leiber worked this assortment of miracles, giving a performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" that proved the modernity of Shakespeare and the versatility of Fritz Leiber. Not that the modernity of Shakespeare required any such proof, for it was long ago pointed out that his Romans were Londoners of Elizabeth's reign, which means that they were also Washingtonians in Herbert Hoover's. But the versatility of Leiber, revealing him as a comedian of racy humor, was news to Pittsburgh. He is a great Petruchio, and even the liberties taken with the rare old comedy cannot diminish that glory.

Certainly there were some departures from Shakespearean tradition. It started when Christopher Sly sang a few bars of "Sweet Adeline." It went still further when Petruchio dragged his bride off to the chorus from "Lohengrin." There seemed nothing left to shock the classic scholar when Grumio appeared as a black-faced buttons and expressed his longing for a "hot dog." But then Petruchio bore his wife away on a motorcycle—one of these vehicles with a bathtub annex known as a "wife-killer." This to the classic fan must have been the unkindest cut of all.

UP-TO-DATE SLANG

If any exception could be taken to this modern-dress version of "The Taming of the Shrew," it would be to the introduction of modern slang. "You've got It!" the drunken Sly tells his unshaven Lady. When Biondello announces that Petruchio has come, he adds: "And how!" Yet even these interpolations add spice to the merry salad made of this vastly amusing old farce. Sothern went quite as far as any actor could without committing the sin of anachronishm, but Leiber almost proves there can be no such thing as anachronism in playing Shakespeare. "He was not for an age, but for all time."

So we do not mind the toy balloons in the last banquet scene, and we do not mind the allusion to Carnegie when Tranio brings on his load of books. It is a holiday, and Will Shakespeare would have enjoyed it himself. It furnished proof of his infinite variety and that he was the choicest comic spirit of the ages.

He wrote this play in the same humor, as students of Shakespeare know. When Kit Sly talks of "Marian Hacket, the fat ale-wife of Wincot," he was indulging in a local gag, and probably had drunk many a foaming tankard she had drawn. There are allusions to friends and neighbors throughout the farce, and bits of lore about Padua indicate he knew some English students at that University.

KATE OF KATE HALL

But who will go into textual details when it is a solemn duty to laugh at the antics of a group of players who entered fully into the spirit of the evening. Virginia Bronson deserves special praise as Katherine the Shrew. Having seen Ada Rehan do this trying part, the Kate of Kate Hall we saw last night still measured up to all the possibilities. Her closing speech of admonition to wives was admirably read.

Others in the cast were equally imbued with the essence of mirthful parody. Robert Strauss as Grumio was most amusing; the Bianca of Harriett Russell had much charm; the Tranio of Robert Allen proved a very adroit schemer; the Gremio of John Burke was full of good points; while Hart Jenks and Josef Lazarovici as Lucentio and Hortensio played the school scene with real vim.

Above all the rest Fritz Leiber was a capital comedian—Hamlet transmogrified. His drunken scene as Christopher Sly and his scenes with Katherine overflowed with humor and animal spirits. He deserves praise for this proof of his versatility, as well as for the demonstration that Shakespeare in modern dress is Shakespeare still. When Sir Barry Jackson played "Hamlet" in evening dress to a London audience, many who cried sacrilege were converted. With this merry farce there is even less reason to quarrel. Pittsburgh liked it—and probably some people never suspected that Shakespeare could be so amusing.

This afternoon "Romeo and Juliet" will be given, and tonight "Macbeth"—but neither in modern dress.

HIGH HAT MAGIC :: TELLS THEM HOW :: IT IS GOODBYE

Maybe Buster Keaton thinks Thurston has been around when he finds a teddy bear in his hat in "Spite Marriage."

Jane Winton and Paul Ellis are told some new movie emoting tricks by Director Charles Brabin, who is making a picturization of the novel, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." Both Miss Winton and Ellis have prominent roles in the production.

Gary Cooper saw Lupe Velez to the train when she recently departed for New York and a personal stage appearance in connection with her film, "Lady of the Pavement."

THRILLS, FUN IN BILLS COMING

Helen Hayes comes to the Alvin for one week, beginning Monday, March 11, in her new starring vehicle, "Coquette." Topping the list of her support is Andrew Lawlor, Jr., who played the precocious brother of Miss Hayes in "Penrod." He bears the same relationship to the star in his present role.

Raymond Huntley playing the role of Count Dracula in the thrill drama "Dracula," was the original when the play was first produced in England. He also played the role last season in London. "Dracula" is to be the attraction in the Nixon, beginning Monday evening, March 11. Seats go on sale tomorrow at the box office of the Nixon.

Seats go on sale in the Pitt box office tomorrow morning for the one week engagement, opening next Monday, March 11, with matinees Thursday and Saturday, of the comedy of American life, "Skidding," by Aurania Rouverol. "Skidding" comes here after a run of 11 months on Broadway, and an engagement in Chicago.

Kenneth Harlan is on leave of absence from Hollywood, and next week in the Davis he will headline the two-a-day Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville program in "The Honeymoon." Nan Halperin is another featured booking.

Arabian Knights Of Movies In Same Film

Louis Wolheim, William Boyd and Director Lewis Milestone, the combination that produced "Two Arabian Knights," will combine their talents again, this time in an all-talking soldier comedy, "Take It Easy."

Lupe Velez will follow her work in "Lady of the Pavements" and "The Gaucho" by appearing as the girl of this new film.

Louis Wolheim is one of the best known stage actors in Hollywood. He was the original Captain Flagg of "What Price Glory" on the New York stage. He was the original actor of Eugene O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape" on the New York stage. He supported John and Lionel Barrymore in "The Jest."

Director Lewis Milestone is completing the new Emil Jannings picture, after which he will prepare the scenario of "Take It Easy." Mr. Milestone made "The Racket," "Two Arabian Knights," "The Cave Man," "The Garden of Eden" and other films.

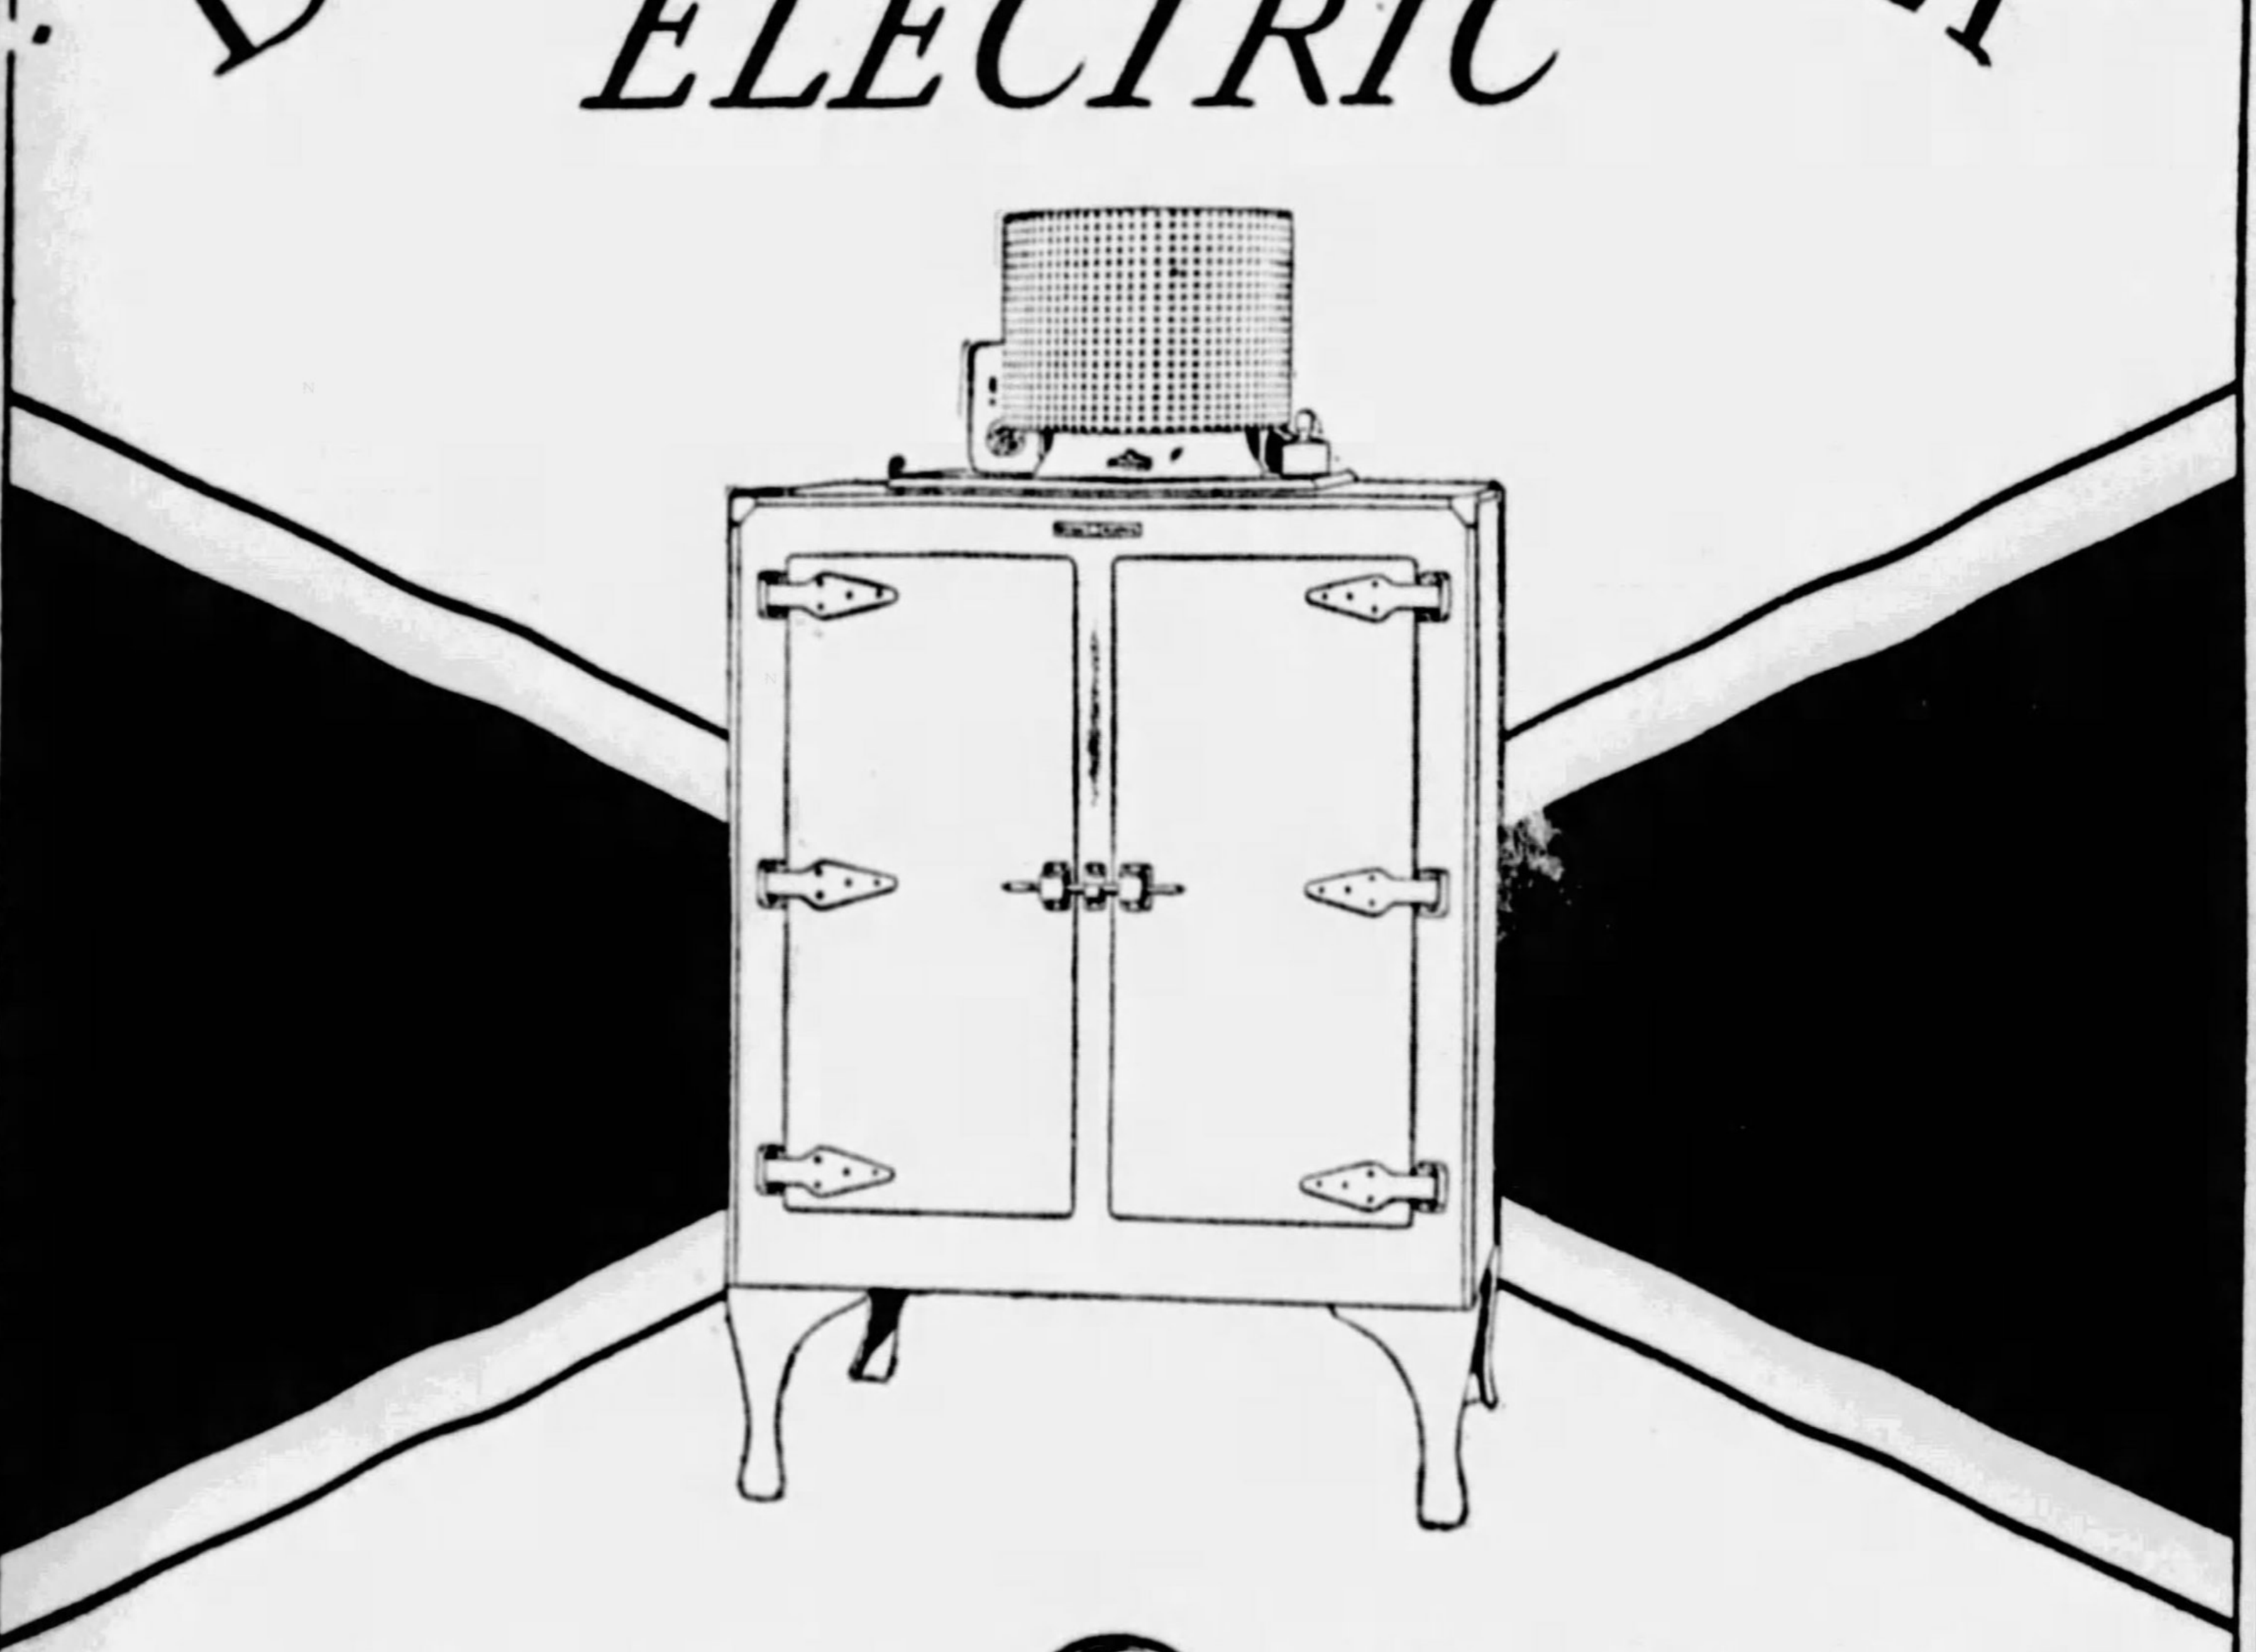
DISTINCTIVELY ELECTRIC



GENERAL ELECTRIC
Refrigerator

The General Electric Refrigerator, designed and built after fifteen years of painstaking development by the Research Laboratories, is an electrical achievement and the outstanding electric refrigerator. Like an electric iron or fan it plugs into any convenience outlet and requires no other connection.

All its mechanism is assembled in an hermetically sealed steel casing and placed up on top, leaving the entire cabinet space for food storage. The mechanism thus enclosed is dirt-proof, worry-proof, so automatic you do not even oil it, so quiet you hardly know when the motor is running.

All porcelain-finished inside—up on legs to give broom-room underneath.

It preserves food always at the scientifically correct temperature, well under 50 degrees, and provides an ample supply of ice cubes.

Phone for our illustrated booklet. Examine the various models at our display rooms. You may purchase any size or model on deferred payments.

Avoid Indigestion

ACIDINE checks it quickly because it is the most powerful known force against acid stomach.

Indigestion is a danger signal of oncoming troubles such as colds, sick headache, rheumatism, sour stomach, dizziness and chronic dyspepsia.

The instant you get the first signal of gas, sourness or dizziness—take ACIDINE at once. Your troubles will be relieved immediately. Your druggist knows its worth and will return your money if you don't find it the best relief for all these troubles you have ever had.

U.S. CITIZENSHIP OF 21 TAKEN

Citizenship papers of 21 foreign-born residents of Western Pennsylvania, granted in the United States District Court here and in Common Pleas Courts of several counties, were ordered cancelled in decrees signed Tuesday by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson. The order was made because of their continued absence from the country within five years after being naturalized.

Most of them are natives of Italy who returned there to live. Before directing that the orders of naturalization be set aside and certificates cancelled the court was advised that every effort was made through foreign legations to serve notice on them, calling upon them to show cause why their citizenship should not be revoked. No replies were received.

"He'll ask me now— every skin blemish is gone"

THERE is more than just the satisfaction of having a clear skin. Joys, yet to be realized, make it a requirement. Good society, in fact, demands it.

Skin troubles are a detriment to one's happiness. They embarrass. Hold you back—so to speak.

To have a clear skin, glowing complexion, energy, vitality and the blessing of good health, you must keep your blood in good condition. You owe it to yourself. Your friends expect it of you.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils, eczema and other skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low, due generally to a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

The sure way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

S.S.S. helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Healthy blood nourishes the body and works against infection and disease.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

Take S.S.S. at mealtime. You will be delighted with its blood building and tonic effect.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefit in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR: OSCAR SHAW MAKES RADIO DEBUT

RICHARD CROOKS, TENOR, AND TROUBADORS LISTED

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

OSCAR SHAW, who was co-starred with Mary Eaton in the "Five O'Clock Girl" when it played in Pittsburgh, will sing "All Alone" and several other numbers tonight, WJAS at 9:30, when he makes his bow to the radio audience as guest toastmaster of the LaPalina hour.

Rudy Vallee, Annette Hanshaw and a large orchestra will furnish the details for a new feature from WJAS at 9 o'clock.

A love tale of Chinatown has been selected by Hank Simmons for his Show Boat production, 8 p. m. at WJAS, while tears and sobs will be in order at 10:30 o'clock when the Daguerreotypes sing "Tragedies of the Past."

"Roses of Picardy" will be Andy Sannella's contribution to the Foresters' program from KDKA at 8:30 o'clock. The popular guitarist will be heard regularly with the Foresters in the future.

WCAE will offer a sprakling program including Richard Crooks, tenor, at 7:30; the Troubadors, with vocal chorus, at 9, and the popular Vetell and Horton on the Gold Strand Hour at 10:30 o'clock. Tracy Brown's Music will be featured at 11 p. m.

We watched the Pittsburgh Letter Carriers' Band play in the WJAS studio last night and enjoyed the concert immensely. Especially did we enjoy Henry Bertha's trombone solo, "The Message," which was full of staccato breaks. The entire ensemble played well and many telephone calls showed that the audience evinced a great deal of interest in this civic enterprise. The band is composed of 42 men who deliver mail in all parts of the city.

New Recipe for Coloring Gray Hair

By LOIS PAGE

One of the questions most frequently asked me is: What shall I do for my graying hair?" Unhesitatingly I recommend that tried and proven recipe of sage and sulphur. A brew of common garden sage with sulphur and alcohol added, makes the best hair restorer I know of.

You can either prepare the mixture yourself at home, or as most people prefer to do, buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the ready-to-use preparation and since all druggists sell it at 75c a bottle, there is really no need of going to the bother of making it yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it, and draw it through the hair, one strand at a time. One application banishes the gray and one or two more completely restores your gray, faded or streaked hair to its original color. There is no hard, dyed look. The whole effect is one of perfect naturalness. Thousands of men and women use this preparation with no one suspecting it.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

SPARK OF HUMAN LIFE

Where does it come from and where does it go? Everything begins in Electro chemistry and everything ends the same way. Youth is the great jewel of life. With a clean blood stream it is glorious, and every one is entitled to this heritage for a Happy Old Age. Health makes us more kind and considerate, and that is about all that is needed to make this world a better place to live in. If the Spark is not in Protein substance our body would die.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, former New York Health Commissioner, now U. S. Senator, said: "There is one food without which life would soon end—Protein." This sun-kissed atom that gives and sustains life finds solace in your blood stream.

The principal object of this laboratory is to restore health to suffering men and women and thereby enable them to earn a livelihood.

BLOOD CELL PROTEIN SERUMS

"PULSE OF CHINATOWN."

This melodrama of Mongolian life was written by Howard P. Taylor, vice president of the American Dramatists' Club, and gives a particularly vivid picture of the Chinese character.

The story centers around a little German girl who is captured by a bunch of rogues and carried to Chinese joint to be educated as a pickpocket and thief. One of these rogues, however, is touched by her beauty and simplicity, and becomes her champion. The climax of the play comes as a result of his attempt to effect her rescue, and a series of exciting incidents, taking place in the lowest dives of New York City, furnish many thrills.

A party at which Miss Virginia Clark announces her engagement will provide the romantic background for unusual entertainment by Rudy Vallee, Annette Hanshaw and the Van Heusen Orchestra, in their initial broadcast over stations of the Columbia System tonight.

Each week, Mr. Van Heusen, popular man about town, will attend some dance or fete, and this week he has selected the party given by the Clarks to announce the engagement of their daughter. A slight romance will be enacted, to the tunes of a rhythmic orchestra, and Rudy Vallee and Annette Hanshaw will render specialty numbers as additional entertainment.

MEDICAL SCIENTIST LISTS PROHIBITION EVILS

VOLSTEADISM DEATH TOLL HELD GREATER THAN WAR'S

Dr. Mayo F. Behneman, physician, and director of laboratories at Franklin Hospital, San Francisco, assistant in medicine at the University of California and lately district medical officer for the United States Marine Corps in the Rocky Mountain states, has made a deep study of prohibtion.

Classed as a Pacific Coast authority on alcohol and its effects in medicine and known for his liberal ideas with respect to means of justifying scientifically the nation-wide demand for a temperance substitute for prohibition, Dr. Behneman was telegraphed for an opinion.

His reply, in part, is appended. He discusses the subject mainly from the public health angle, noting that the bone drys stress the social side of the evils of drink; rather than the medical. He says:

Death Rate Higher

"Permanent complete alcoholic prohibition stands no chance of being accepted in this country. The pendulum has swung the other way!

"Despite the prohibitionist politicians, America's death rate in 1926 was higher than in 1925 in 23 of the 28 states of the Department of Commerce registration area. And in 1925, the death rate was higher than in 1924 in 16 of those states. Back in 1919, when a good many deaths from war illnesses were always occurring, the registration area death rate was 12.8 persons out of every 1,000; seven years later, in 1926, the rate had dropped to 12.1, a decrease of seven-tenths of one person out of every 1,000.

"Stop and think what an infinitesimal role prohibition played. Great advances in the medical sciences, establishment of foundations for preservation of the nation's health, and the gradual decrease in post-war deaths were just a few factors that brought that figure down seven-tenths of one-thousandth.

"How has our death rate compared with other countries? To be fair, we must go back to 1914, five years before enactment of the dry law, and up to 1924, five years afterwards. In that ten-year period, the following 'wet' countries either equolled or passed this country in the lowering of their death rates: Austria, England, Wales, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy and Spain.

Diseases Increase

"Alcoholic ingestion has long been attacked on the grounds of its death-dealing qualities resulting in exit through heart, lung and kidney diseases, particularly Bright's disease. How ironical, that in 1925 there was an increase in mortality over 1924, in influenza, heart disease, and in all forms of nephritis. And in the latter year the mortality had increase over 1920 in cancer, diabetes, nephritis and violent deaths. All since the reign of the bootlegger began.

"And here, perhaps, is the most startling and ludicrous situation, except for its tragedy, yet presented. The death rate from alcoholism in this land of the free in 1920 was 1.2 person per thousand, while after four years of prohibition it rose to 3.2, almost tripling itself!

"These are some of the evils of drastic, complete alcoholic prohibition with its bootlegging, its poisonous liquor, and its inevitable production of an increase in other vices which menace society. These are some of the reasons why poisonous liquor alone killed in the first seven years of prohibition 15,000 more people than America lost in the World War.

More Insanity

"The mental hospitals of the United States contain nearly 300,000 inmates, and about 75,000 new ones enter yearly. And there is a most decided increase annually.

"A word concerning the prisons and the narcotic addicts. The United States Department of Justice has lately announced that the most striking instance in the increase in the number of Federal prisoners in the last 10 years was among those convicted for violation of the narcotic law. There were only 299 such prisoners in 1919, while in 1927 there were 2,116, the largest number incarcerated for violating any one Federal law.

"Altogether, the number of Federal prisoners during this period has increased 110 per cent, while the population of the country increased less than 20 per cent. On June 30, 1927, there were 18,788 Federal prisoners in penitentiaries and jails, while on June 30, 1918, the number was 8,927.

Valuable as Food

"Although the population has increased only 40 per cent, arrests for drunkenness have increased 168 per cent during the last 17 years, according to police records.

"Where does the argument against the use of alcoholic beverages lie? Many feel that the drinking of alcoholic liquor harms the human body. Few seem to carry the correct thought, that only ABUSE of alcoholic liquors causes harm.

"The moderate, correct use of alcohol never hurt anybody, and there is no physiological basis or any other basis for feeling otherwise.

"No right-minded person would argue honestly for the old saloon unless its sole products were the light wines and beers.

"Alcohol as a food we find even superior to most other foods in one particular—it does not require digestion. That one fact alone makes alcoholic beverages indispensible in the feeding and treatment of those medical conditions related to a non-functioning digestive system.

"Under the present conditions, broadly speaking, the man who doesn't need his beer for its food value and social aspect is the very one who can afford to buy it from the bootlegger, while the hard worker, with his unbalanced diet, his monotonous fatiguing routine work, and restricted social life, hasn't got the money to pay five times as much for something one-fourth as good."

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

ATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

anet Davis May Join List of Debutantes For This Year

WITH Easter only three and a half weeks off, we might reasonably be expected to be thinking of spring weddings, of odes to the first crocus, of our costumes for the Pascal promenade. But with the lowering heavens sending down upon us alternately rain and snow, we are much more likely to retire again to our snug fireside seats—there to await the end of the winter, to be noted in social annals for its longevity.

Those of us who are fairly yearning for a party here in town are particularly disappointed at the recovery of winter from its brief relapse. Many of us hoped that our travelers might hasten home for the shy Northern springtime, if we could only write them exquisite descriptions of the weather, and then we should have had a renewal of gaiety.

There's just nothing left now for us but looking forward. At least delightful plans are being made for the coming months.

MOST of the plans for the future concern the debutantes of 1929. And our list of buds for next winter numbers nearly 40 now—the largest bouquet of buds ever known here, I believe.

For a long time I've been wondering if Janet Davis, daughter of the Charles Wiley Davises, of Woodland road, Sewickley, might not make her bow next season. And now I've heard she probably will. Just when her debut will be I've not been able to find out. Janet is now abroad with her mother. And news has reached me that another sub-deb is a member of the Davis family. I'm referring to Amelia Davis, Janet's sister, who'll probably make her curtsy to the social world in 1930.

IN Palm Beach one may find many a wandering Pittsburgher. Mrs. J. Frank Drake and her family are there, I've learned.

NOW an event scheduled originally for the Lenten season has been postponed—the Stage and Play Society's performance of Phillip Barry's "You and I." The date happened to fall on March 2 in Holy Week. The new date is Wednesday, April 10. The postponement will give the cast more time for perfecting their performance—one of the most ambitious ever given by the society.

I WONDER if you knew that Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw III have abandoned Havana at last, and succumbed to the attraction of Palm Beach? With the Thaws is their well-known young daughter, Virginia, who'll come out in New York next winter.

* * *

WHILE I am on the topic of Palm Beach, I might mention that Mrs. Henry R. Rea, that tireless hostess, entertained at an informal buffet supper in her Florida home, Lagomar, Sunday evening. An Hungarian orchestra played. Among the guests, numbering about 30, were many Pittsburgh folks, as one might expect.

JUST returned from the East is Dorothy Fagan, daughter of Mrs. Charles A. Fagan, of North Highland avenue. She was in Philadelphia as the guest of Mrs. Cadwalader Bowie, and on Saturday night was a guest at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dolan when Mrs. Bowie's engagement to Morgan Reichner, of New York, was announced.

THE Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta will hold a benefit bridge party Saturday afternoon, March 16, in the College Club. Miss Alma K. Swavel is general chairman and is in charge of reservations.

THE first formal dinner of the University of Pittsburgh Panhellenic Council will be held Friday night in the Heinz House, with active and associate members, the women's fraternity council and student guests attending. Miss Gertrude Starr is chairman of the committee in charge.

THE ENGINEERS' SOCIETY of Western Pennsylvania will hold its annual open house and "ladies' night" Friday evening in the club rooms in the William Penn Hotel.

THE Woman's Bible Class of Emory Methodist Episcopal Church will give an entertainment, "The Three Pegs," tomorrow night in the church for the benefit of the class missionary and social service activities. A cafeteria supper will follow, with Mrs. J. I. Hottel in charge. Miss Edna Schlegel is directing the entertainment.

IT is interesting to learn that, in addition to Dr. Y. C. James Yen, founder and developer of the mass education movement in China, the Allegheny County League of Women Voters will have Dr. William Hung, of Harvard, as speaker at the annual banquet on March 25 in McCreery's. Dr. Hung, who is at Harvard assisting in the organization of the Harvard-Yenching Institute of Chinese studies, with Chinese history as his special field, will speak on "China and the New Pacific." He represented Yenching at the Institute of Pacific Relations.

THE usual large audience heard the manuscript program which was carried out according to schedule yesterday by the Tuesday Musical Club in upper Memorial Hall. Each of the original compositions, which 11 of the manuscript section members had contributed, received warm applause from the appreciative listeners, the lullaby of Henrietta Bodycombe's and Helen Roessing's "Willow Trees" making an especially pleasing impression. Among the audience were several members of the Scottdale Monday Music Club, these including Mrs. L. N. Skemp, its president and state chairman of extension.

THE Health Colony had an interesting talk and demonstration at the annual luncheon which was an event of yesterday in the Congress of Clubs. Ralph H. Smith, assistant United States district attorney, talked on "Narcotics," explaining the narcotic laws and their enforcement, while W. T. Duffy, chief federal narcotic inspector for this district, displayed various kinds of "dope" and explained the methods by which they were used. Music was furnished by Miss Amelia Lockard, who pleased with several contralto solos, with Mrs. Maybelle Davis Rockwell accompanying her. Mrs. Robert K. Cochrane welcomed the guests, and introduced Mrs. E. D. Harshbarger, chairman for the day, who presided. Other speakers included Dr. Joseph Shilen, superintendent of Leech Farm, and E. L. Meeker, a former patient at Cresson Sanitarium, which institution is the Health Colony's special care.

MRS. CHESTER F. JOHNSTON was hostess yesterday for the meeting of the Woman's Literary Club of Bellevue. Mrs. W. G. A. Millar, Mrs. E. G. Roddy and Mrs. F. P. Moore gave the papers, which were on French painters, and Mrs. J. L. Hukill discussed current events.

DR. BLANCHE H. JACKSON is announced as speaker for Friday's meeting of the Squirrel Hill Community Club. Her subject will be "Milestones in the Development of Medicine."

MRS. H. P. MIMS, Mrs. W. C. Perkins, Mrs. Frederick M. Skinner and Mrs. Earl G. Hadley will be hostesses for the Southern Club's annual altruistic day, Friday, in the Ruskin apartments. In the absence of Mrs. David I. McCahill, the altruistic chairman, Mrs. Henry M. Pennywitt will serve as chairman. Dr. T. B. H. Anderson, of the Marine Hospital, will speak of the work done by disabled ex-service men.

THE Grove City College Club is planning a scholarship benefit bridge at the Food Craft Shop on April 27. Luncheon, a musical program and bridge will mark the monthly meeting of the organization to be held Saturday in the Congress of Clubs.

A Bargain in Money

YOUR dollars will buy a bargain in money as well as in merchandise. For example, with $1 you can buy $1.49 (4% semi-annual compound interest for 10 years).

This table shows how much money you can buy in 10 years by saving a small amount regularly each month:

Amount saved monthly	Amount saved in 10 years	Compound Interest	Total Wealth in 10 years
$ 5	$ 600	$ 137.45	$ 737.45
10	1,200	274.90	1,474.90
25	3,000	687.25	3,687.25
50	6,000	1,374.50	7,374.50
100	12,000	2,749.00	14,749.00

Compare the first and last columns. Note, for instance, that $25 a month grows to $3,687.25 and that $687.25 of this is compound interest. More important than the amount you save is the regularity with which you save it. Even a small sum saved regularly will become a big amount in a few years.

Sigrid Onegin, contralto, repeated her triumphs and again electrified a fine audience in Syria Mosque last night. In this generation she is without a peer among the contraltos, and, as a recital singer, she remains quite in a class by herself.

As a program builder she never fails to include some novelty which she unearths in dusty archives. There is always a generous taste of the opera, something light and amusing, and, of course, a sufficient number of miniatures from among the rarest classics. Her opening "Salut" was the most gracious "How-dee-do" we have ever had from any singer. In her folk songs, she finds herself quickly in the characteristic mood, whether it be Russian, Swiss, or Norwegian. She distinguishes that mood not by words, but by her music. In the lieder of Brahms and Schubert every detail is finely chiseled as only the most painstaking artist may accomplish.

Onegin's voice even defies Pittsburgh weather. When she sings, one is aware of no shortcomings whatever; one tries to find only what one deems best. From year to year it grows more opulent, its coloratura more astonishing, its power and subtle shadings more musical. The tremendous vitality and youth behind every song disarms criticism from the beginning. And these qualities, together with her delicate humor, find fullest expression in the richest of all music, her folk songs.

As a singer of lieder, Onegin is gaining rapidly in repose, but the stirring drama behind the "Erlking" and the joyous rhythms of Brahms' "Der Schmied," given as encore, permit her no calm. Her interpretations are original enough to freshen all the old standbys, but they do not wander from truth. She merely intensifies. They are sometimes overwhelming.

Onegin graciously included two of Harvey Gaul's lyrics in her program, the composer accompanying. The latter did not fail to reward her on the stage with one of his delicious asides, which only we, who are happy to call ourselves his friends, may appreciate. As a finale encore to an evening of wonderful music came the brilliant "Brindisi" from Donizetti's "Lucrezia Borgia." Fritz Hubsch played accompaniments, but was slightly obscured by the excellent singer.

the supreme and very elaborate loma corslet

—just received

Every woman has an innate—and entirely commendable—desire to achieve smartness. Translated as style, "smartness" is that expression of the mode that you feel (with authority) to be perfect.

This new foundation garment by Loma is a semi stepin—made up of beautiful satin brocade and very lightly boned to give comfort.

The dainty top is of orange pink Breton lace. Satin ribbon shoulder straps—and six hose supporters are included. Price $25.

Other less elaborate models at $8.50, $10.00 and $18.50

the new arch-preserver pumps—last word in fashion—and comfort —smarter in style, unexcelled foot corrective features—and very moderately priced

$10.00 $11.50 $12.50

The new models shown come in modish Black Kidskin, Brown Kid, Patent Leather, or Sun Tan Kid—each style in a choice of at least two of these leathers. The well dressed women today are finding in the New Arch Preserver Shoes the combination of qualities they have long desired. We firmly believe no other FASHION shoes give the comfort for which Arch Preserver Shoes are noted. The hidden arch bridge that takes all the strain off the arch, the flat inner sole that prevents pinching, the "metatorsal" support that puts verve and foot free grace into every step.

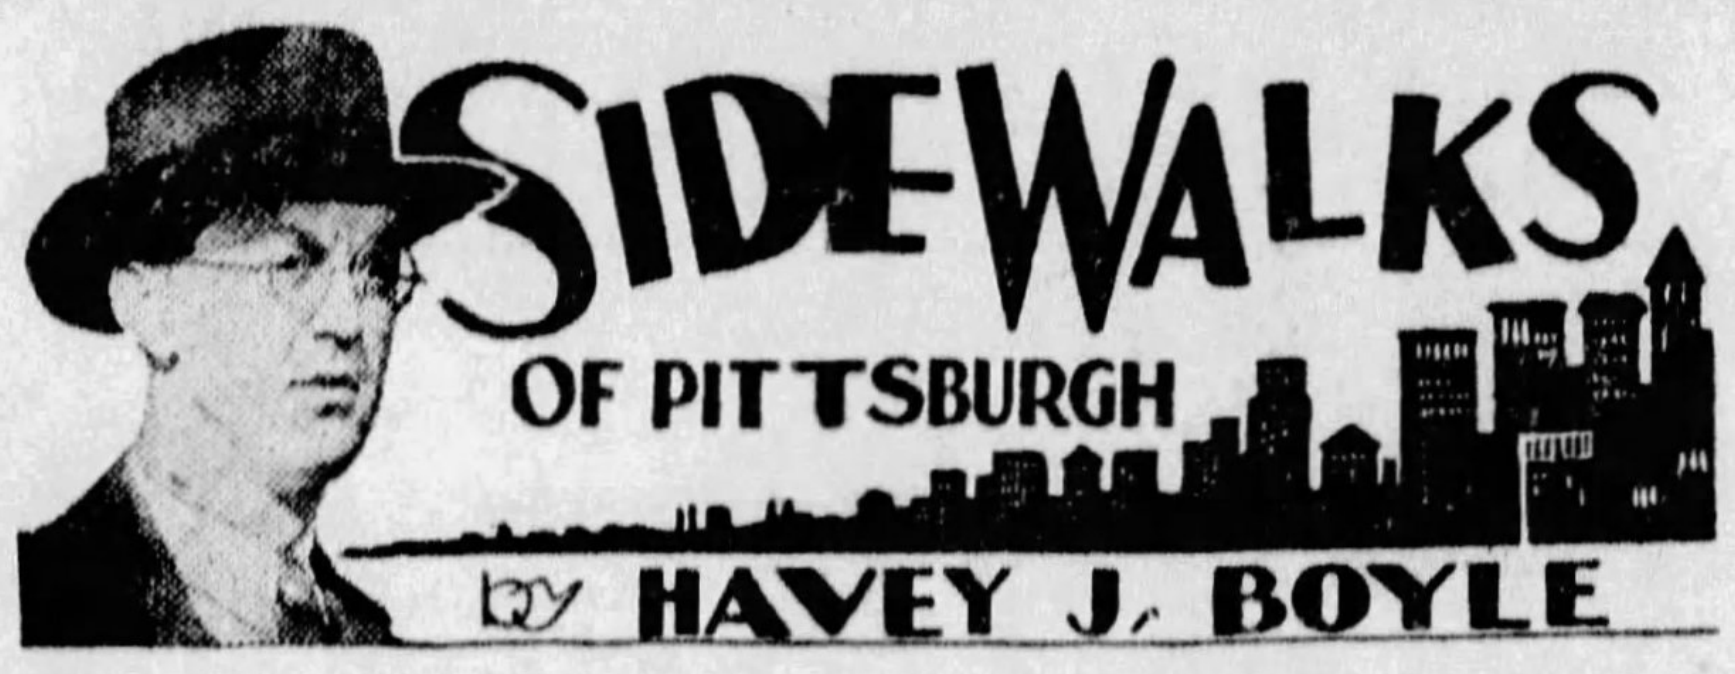
SCHOOLS AND CLUBS RUSH TO ENTER FLAG CONTEST

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1929
METROPOLITAN DISTRICT NEWS



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

ON BRASS PLAQUES on the stairway leading from the second to the third floor of the old Court House is history with dates and names that may stir the memories of oldsters. The inscription on the plaques read: Old Court House burned May 7, 1882; contract for erection of new Court House and jail signed September 10, 1884; completed April 17, 1888; cost of building $2,341,456.08; cost of furnishings, $113,107.61 . . . Commissioners, Robert E. Mercer, George Y. McKee, Daniel McWilliams; county engineer, Charles Davis; architects, H. H. Richardson, died April 27, 1886; Shepley, Rutyan and Coolidge; contractors and builders, Norcross Brothers; contractor's superintendent, Thomas O'Reilly.

The job of remodeling by Stanley Roush, county architect and the men associated with him, is considered one of the best things in town.

The tower of that building, experts will tell you, as designed by Richardson, is of architectural importance all over the country.

Ralph Whitehead, a member of the American Legion Post of McKeesport, met this visiting fireman in the Penn-McKee Hotel lobby in McKeesport, and then we went to a meeting of the post. The boys listened patiently as I spoke the few words I know about newspaper work.

Before the time for the talk Ralph talked of his hobby. He is ad amateur archaeologist, is interested in the fossils and bones of this state, with particular reference to what the old Indians have left buried in the ground. He has read nearly every work in the Carnegie Library relating to Indian excavations.

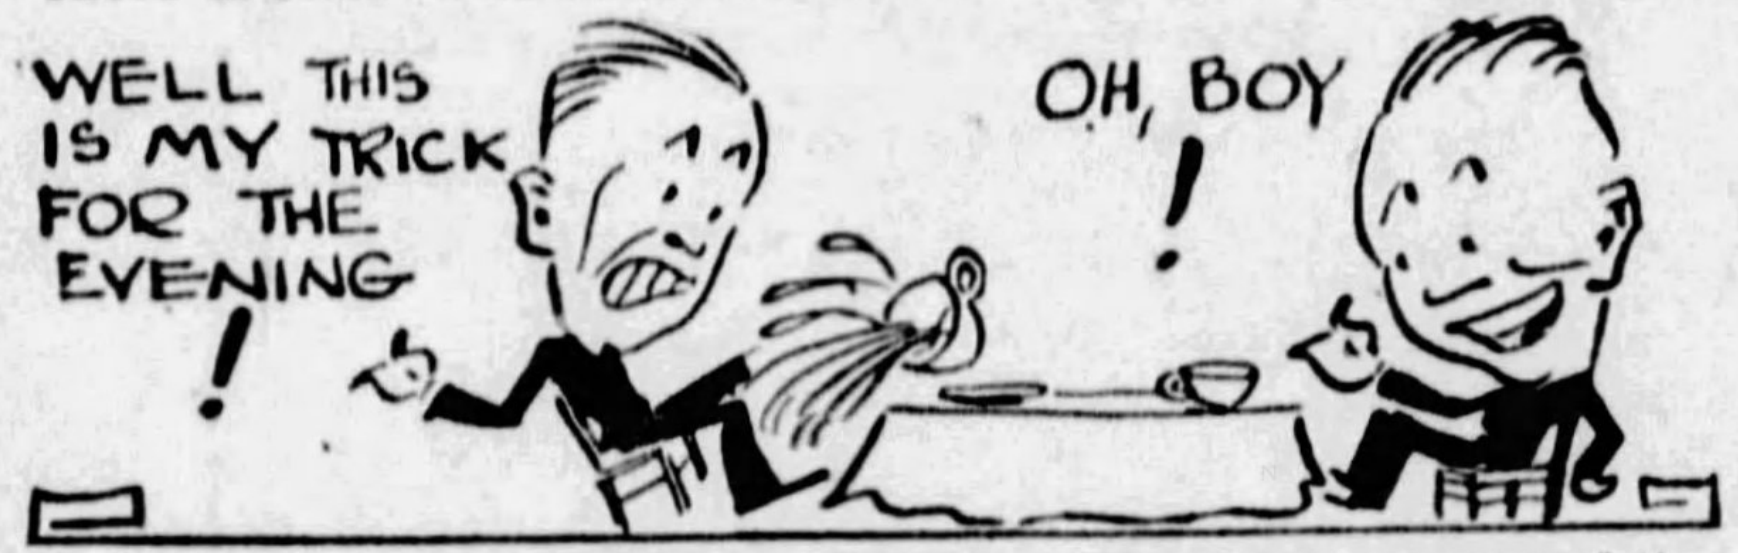
HE TOLD me, too, that when he was in France he was sitting beside a large gun (he was in the Artillery) on his first day up front when a shell came along and hit a boy sitting next to him, causing instant death. This was his first experience at the front. He was so shocked (shell shock they call it) that he had to be sent back for a rest of three or four days. After that he was better able to stand the gaff. Once he saw seven men mowed down, but by that time he was over his shock. But now and then he shudders. He deems the Infantryman the hero of the war.

Mr. Whitehead holds, by the way, the coffee-spilling championship of his post. After long practice Mr. Whitehead can spill a cup of coffee into his lap better than any of his fellow-members. There is some little inconvenience in dumping a cup of coffee into your lap, but, apparently, Mr. Whitehead has overcome any of the conventional prejudices in this regard. He did the trick but once the other night and it went over big with the audience assembled. I think hot noodle soup should knock the boys out of their chairs and into the aisles.



WELL THIS IS MY TRICK FOR THE EVENING !
OH, BOY !

Quite a few of the boys of the McKeesport Post are wearing medals tendered by the United Spanish War Veterans. One of the boys wrote out a list and it includes: Harry M. Jones, R. C. Calhoun, Bernard Ragan, J. P. Bligle, P. W. Mack, H. Stanley Douglass, Robert H. Pitzer, Edward H. Houk, Daniel F. Marsh, Ralph H. Whitehead and C. C. Johnson.

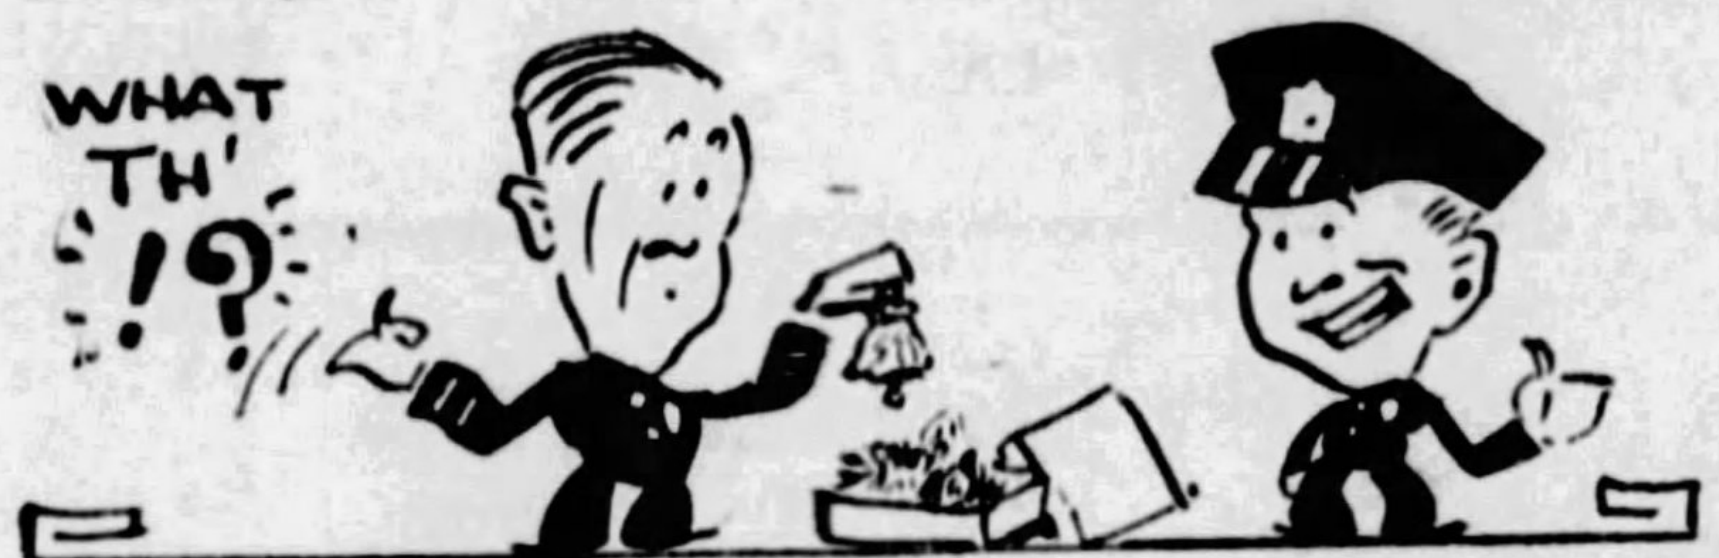
ASSISTANT SUPT. OF POLICE LEO COLEMAN was inspecting the policemen who were getting out their spring uniforms. There was a titter (if policemen can be said to titter) in the No. 1 Station when Officer Paul Moore reached into a box, in which he had some reason to believe rested his last year's cap. Officer Moore lifted the lid off the box and the policemen assembled saw about as pretty a display of Christmas tree trinkets as they had ever seen. It dawned, then, upon Officer Moore as he tried to explain why he had brought down the ornaments that possibly in the post-Christmas rush, attendant upon taking the tree down, the ornaments had been placed in the box he had previously reserved for his cap. The inspection completed, Officer Moore went back home with the trinkets, trusting to luck that nothing would happen that might cause the trinkets to roll out of the box.



He carried it with that carefulness that diners use in walking into cabarets.

BEGIN WORK ON SCHOOL

Excavation has been started for the new six-room addition to the Samuel Hamilton School, Perrysville road and Cemetery lane, the Ross Township School Board was informed last night at its monthly meeting. The addition is to be completed by September 1.

The board authorized employment of Miss Bessie Danhart as first grade teacher at the Samuel Hamilton school to take the place of Miss Henrietta M. Mitchell, resigned. Louis C. Lustenberger is president and Paul Hughes secretary of the board.

Westminster Guild Meets in Bellevue

The Westminster Guild of Bellevue Presbyterian Church will meet at 6:30 p. m. Friday in the church rooms. Mrs. J. M. Doremus will discuss "Existing Conditions in China." Misses Aida Jackson and Edna Walters will be dinner hostesses.

Bethel School Board Plans New Building

If present plans materialize, the school district of Bethel will soon have a complete and modern new school structure. Plans are now being prepared for a six-room and gymnasium addition to the Bethel School, Bethel road. It is estimated the improvement will cost $60,000.

3 Children Inherit Estate of Mother

Frank J. Cunningham, James F. Cunningham and Mrs. Annie Youngman are named heirs to the $6,000 estate of their mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham, of 89 Westwood street, in her will, filed for probate. Frank was named executor.

E. Pittsburgh Wife Says Husband Cruel

After 29 years of married life, Mrs. Mary Schreiber, 1416 Oak street, East Pittsburgh, has filed suit for divorce against Charles Schreiber, 1504 Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh, on grounds of cruelty. They were married March 4, 1900.

FATHER GONE, FAMILY IN NEED

Four children and an anxious mother are in dire need today because their father and husband disappeared three weeks ago, it became known today when Mrs. Nellie Darr, of Vista street, Etna, appealed to the Sun-Telegraph for aid in finding her husband, Leo A. Darr, a salesman.

"Every day the children ask when their father is coming home," Mrs. Darr said. "Especially Leo, Jr., 3, my husband's favorite child, is heartbroken."

Mrs. Darr said she had been forced to give up their home at 17 Lawrence street, Millvale. She and her children are now being cared for by her brother and she is looking for work.

Darr is 5 feet 11 inches in height, weighs 160 pounds, has dark hair and blue eyes. When he disappeared he wore a dark suit, gray overcoat and tan shoes. He has a scar on the chin. Mrs. Darr has also reported her husband's disappearance to the Missing Persons Bureau.

Missing

LEO A. DARR

Darr, Vista street, Etna, who has been missing three weeks, is sought by his wife, Nellie, because their four children, Pearl, 8; Jean, 6; Leo, Jr., 3, and Albert, 3 months, need him.

TWO ARRESTS AFTER FIST FIGHT

A fist fight at a meeting Monday night of the Glenfield Borough Council had an echo last night when C. H. Schofield, Jr., one of the alleged principals, was held in $300 bond after a hearing before Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, of Sewickley.

James N. Muse, borough fireman, who charged Schofield with assault and battery, testified that the defendant had struck him at the meeting when he, Muse, declared that the wheeziness of the borough fire truck was due to Schofield's inefficiency as a mechanic. Schofield answered that the cause was Muse's driving and someone shouted "liar," witnesses testified.

The meeting broke up in disorder, with the original question, the purchase of a new fire truck, undecided. Muse swore out a warrant for Schofield, and Schofield countered by making the same charge against Muse before Justice of the Peace Arthur Davis, of Emsworth. Muse will have a hearing Friday night.

CITY MUST PAY FOR PROPERTY

Through a consent verdict taken in Common Pleas Court the City of Pittsburgh has settled with F. A. Grimm in the sum of $17,250 for property in Pauline avenue, West Liberty district, taken by condemnation proceedings when Pauline avenue was opened from Shiras to West Liberty avenues. Viewers had assessed damages of $19,400 on the property and the city appealed, holding that it was not worth over $13,500.

Aid Society Will Meet at Bellevue

The Ladies' Aid Society, Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, will meet at noon tomorrow in the church rooms for a social and business session. Circle No. 1 will have charge of the luncheon.

Meeting Is Held By Ben Avon "Y"

The Ben Avon Chapter, Y. W. C. A., was scheduled to meet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Ben Avon United Presbyterian Church. Mrs. W. W. Anderson was to review recent books.

Rules of the Quest

1. This is a selective search, not a motion picture, popularity or beauty contest. It is an honest and sincere effort to find the girl who best represents the Typical American Girl. As used herein, the term, "Typical American Girl," means one who is representative of young American womanhood in character, intellect, appearance, etc. The quest will commence March 1 and end at midnight, March 31.

2. A National committee of judges appointed by Smart Set, will make the final decision and award the $5,000 prize in New York, at a date set by the publisher of Smart Set Magazine. This committee is composed of Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, Vina Delmar, Jesse L. Lasky, John Golden, Guy Hoff and Margaret Sangster, editor of Smart Set and a representative of the Hearst newspapers.

3. A local committee of judges appointed by each co-operating newspaper will select each newspaper's regional winner.

4. A candidate cannot propose herself. She must be proposed by some individual or some club or organization. This proposal must be sent to the Quest Editor, of the nearest co-operating newspaper.

5. Each candidate's proposal must be accompanied by her photograph, biographical sketch, listing age, weight, height, coloring, education and her social, business and athletic activities. Her qualifications will be considered by the Quest Editor who will notify her if she has been selected.

6. The girl chosen as the regional winner, will be sent under proper chaperonage, to New York, at Smart Set's call.

7. The minimum age is 17.

8. In the event that the decision of the National committee of judges results in a tie vote, the full award of $5,000 will be given to each tying candidate.

9. The decision of the judges will be final. No relative or member of the household or anyone connected with this publication, or with participating newspapers, can enter the quest.

10. The Quest Editor of each co-operating newspaper will organize a process for eliminating candidates whereby each week his local committee will investigate the most likely candidates. At the end of the quest, the local committee will make a final choice by ballot.

The aims of the newly organized Jewish Day Nursery were explained to an audience that crowded the Lando Theater. The speakers were Rabbi Friedman, James F. Malone, president of Council; Robert Davidson, chairman, and Attorney Maurice A. Nernburg.

'TYPICAL AMERICAN GIRL' OF REGION GETS N. Y. TRIP

In addition to the main attraction of the $5,000 cash prize and the fame that will come to the Typical American Girl, the Sun-Telegraph's quest also offers the attractive feature of a trip to New York to the young woman who is chosen as the Typical American Girl in this region.

With regard to the trip to New York and the selection of the Typical American Girl by a nationally prominent committee of judges, it is advisable to reiterate that this trip and selection will have nothing in common with the popularity and beauty contests of the past which have brought girls to the greater cities and have so often exploited them in an undignified manner. There will be no public parading of the candidates for the high honor of the Typical American Girl.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, seeking the Typical American Girl in co-operation with 17 other Hearst newspapers and Smart Set Magazine, does not believe that she would make herself available for popularity or beauty contests of the old type and for this reason every activity of the Quest will be carried out in a manner befitting the dignity of the occasion.

Therefore you should feel no hesitancy in proposing your Typical American Girl for fear she will be involved in something she would not care to participate in.

College organizations, young women's associations, social, literary, business and professional clubs are especially invited to propose their candidate for "Typical American Girl" honors.

The rules governing the contest are printed herewith. Read them carefully before proposing your candidate.

Help your favorite win the $5,000 prize and international fame. Address your nomination to the Quest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh.

North Side Church Plans Family Day

Family day will be observed next Sunday at the North United Presbyterian Church, 4101 Perrysville avenue, in connection with a five weeks' loyalty crusade. J. S. McKain will preside. The Rev. Dr. J. A. Alexander, superintendent of missions for the Pittsburgh United Presbyterian synod, will speak on "The Church and the Family." The Rev. Dr. John E. Simpson is pastor. The crusade will conclude Easter Sunday morning.

KIWANIS CLUB PLANS RALLY

"Service and Good Fellowship" was the subject of the speech made by Dr. A. S. Haines, of Mt. Lebanon, at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club of the South Hills, held in the Mt. Lebanon Lutheran Church, Washington road, yesterday. Dr. Haines, who is the district governor of the Lions Club of Pennsylvania, stressed on the point where "Service and goodfellowship existed between the Kiwanians, Rotarians and the Lions." He explained that these organizations were represented by the selected business and professional men in their communities throughout United States and Canada.

The dinner guests were: Roy E. Whitfield, president of the Wilkinsburg Kiwanis Club; Roy Adams and Howard G. Winters, members of the Wilkinsburg Kiwanis Club; F. W. Davis, of Dormont, and Howard Haines, of Mt. Lebanon.

The weekly door prize, a box of cigars, donated by Kenneth S. Burley, was won by Hamilton Alderdice. Vice President James T. Hibbard, presided in the absence of President Ben F. Williams.

The Kiwanians are musically inclined, so a quartet is going to organize. Secretary Edgar E. Hughes announced that members will get a "try-out" in the home of J. S. Hamilton, 5 West Shady Drive, Mt. Lebanon, tonight at 7 o'clock.

A "get-together" will be the feature of next week's meeting. Each of the 50 members present were requested to bring a friend along next week. Surprises were promised.

The club's bowling team is practicing every night, it was announced. The semi-final tournament will take place next week.

Young Peoples Group Planned by Church

A committee to organize a young people's group of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church has been named consisting of Edward Johnson, Frank Stright, George Beggs, Lydia Caldwell, Kathryn Schulte, Gertrude Holman and Marjorie Hooper.

Ross Twp. Issues 2 Building Permits

George G. Antil, building inspector of Ross Township, reports issuing the following permits: Joseph Zeller, brick veneered dwelling, Mt. Troy road extension, to cost $5,000; W. J. Donough Company, brick and shingle dwelling, Bellevue terrace, $6,500.

Odd Fellows Aid To Hold Card Party

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Odd Fellows Club of the North Boroughs will hold a card party in the I. O. O. F. clubrooms, Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, tomorrow night.

ASKS $10,000 FOR BEATING

Claiming to have been tripped, knocked down, kicked and pummeled, Michael Brady, 91 Clifton Park, North Side, has filed suit for $10,000 damages in Common Pleas Court against Martin Cunningham, 41 Chautauqua street, North Side.

Brady, who is a street car motorman, says he was returning home the night of October 24, walking in Holyoke street near Brightridge street, when Cunningham set upon him. He claims a gash made in his head has left a permanent scar. Cunningham, he says, pleaded nolle contendre to a charge of assault and battery in Criminal Court January 10.

Today's Flagism

Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, one of the outstanding Union military geniuses of Civil War days, was born on March 6, 1831. The massacre of a large number of Texan patriots at the Alamo in San Antonio occurred on March 6, 1836. The Americans were surrounded in the old mission building and brutally slaughtered when their fortress capitulated. A few years later Texas came under the protection of the Stars and Stripes.

EDUCATORS INDORSE PROJECT

Since the closing date for the acceptance of applications to conduct local contest units has been extended to March 15, it is estimated that many more schools, clubs and organizations will add their names to the already large list now competing.

The Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association which is being conducted by the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers is open to every boy and girl in the United States between the ages of 14 to 18. The contest consists of answering 75 questions on the American flag and in writing a short essay on "Old Glory's Greatest Glory."

INSTRUCTIONS READY

All instructions, materials and a complete set of 75 questions will be supplied to any individual or organization desiring to conduct a local contest unit. Each unit must consist of at least 25 contestants.

The Flag Contest has assumed proportions far greater than anticipated either by the United States Flag Association or the Hearst newspapers. It has become definitely established as the greatest and most far-reaching patriotic movement in the history of the country.

Universal Service.

DETROIT, March 5.—Enthusiastic endorsement was given Sunday to the first annual Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association by Dr. Frank Cody, superintendent of the Detroit public schools, and the newly-elected president of the department of superintendence of the National Education Association.

INDORSED BY SCHOOLS

More than 4,000 school superintendents who supervise nearly 200,000 teachers are represented in the department which Dr. Cody heads, in a signed statement given to Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association, Dr. Cody said:

"After careful study of the flag contest plan of the United States Flag Association, I heartily indorse it, not only as a sound, far-reaching, educational project in the interest of good citizenship and American patriotism, but also as an undertaking that will be helpful to teachers and stimulating to pupils in their studies that are covered by the program. The movement deserves the support and encouragement of all loyal Americans, especially school teachers, principals, superintendents or other school authorities of the country who are charged with the education of American youth.

"As superintendent of public schools of Detroit, I have done all in my power to encourage the undertaking in the schools under my jurisdiction and am glad to say that a contest is being conducted in every public school in Detroit having the necessary number of eligible pupils."

Dr. Cody promised his full support not only in making this present contest a success but in furthering other flag contests to be conducted annually by the flag association, under the sponsorship of the Hearst newspapers.

Evangelist Conducts North Side Meetings

The Rev. John Thomas, Welsh evangelist, is conducting a series of Gospel meetings nightly at Carnegie Hall, North Side, this week. The meetings are under the auspices of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. The Cleveland Quintet of colored singers furnishes the music. Mr. Thomas will broadcast a sermon from station KQV at 1 p. m., tomorrow. The quintet will also go on the air at that time.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, March 6.

Mr. Coolidge came into office accidentally, and we didn't expect anything. We just thought if this little inoffensive fellow can keep some of the states from seceding we will all be thankful. But Hoover—here is just a few things we look to be settled not later than Saturday:

Farm relief—Now we have never had farm relief in all our history but we look to him for it.

Prohibition enforcement—Never had it since it was established but we expect it from him.

Prosperity—Millions never had it under Coolidge, never had it under anybody, but expect it under Hoover.

And women think he will wash their dishes and look after their babies. Nothing short of Heaven will we accept under Hoover. Good luck to you, Herb.

Yours,

WILL.

Dick Senses Odd Change In Felicia After Her Son Is Rescued

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Dick Stuyvesant and Felicia Brett, both in Reno for divorce, meet and fall in love with each other. Dick is staying at the hotel with an old friend, John Berkeley. Felicia is visiting at the home of Dr. Tom Hodge, his wife Ann, and their lively daughter, Peg. Felicia receives a wire from her mother, Mrs. Henley-Martin, saying that Brett is on his way to Reno. She goes East by airplane, gets her 6-year-old son, Alex, and returns to the Hodges just as her husband arrives. Felicia refuses to go back to him. He learns that she is going about with Dick and has her shadowed by detectives. He also engaged two men to kidnap little Alex. Dick and Felicia, returning to the Hodges from a party, find Tom and Ann bound and gagged and the child's crib empty. On a stretch of narrow mountain road about 17 miles out of Reno, the kidnapers' car is stopped by a large boulder which has slid down the mountain side and blocks the way. With the only rope they have, a short halter lead, they bind the now wakeful and frightened child and leave him on a ledge, with a dirty handkerchief tied over his mouth. As the sun gets higher, a rattlesnake crawls out from the broken rocks. While Felicia is answering the questions of detectives and Dick is getting all the assistance his wealth and influence can command, a Desert Rat comes across little Alex and saves him from the snake, only to find himself threatened by the automatic of a mountain "bad man." He knocks out the "bad man" and climbs on up the mountainside with the boy. Meanwhile, Dick has arranged to go searching in an airplane with Sam Lanier, a state policeman. They sight little Alex and the rat with the two kidnapers pursuing them some distance behind. Dick makes a parachute jump. He overtakes the kidnapers and, at the point of a gun, marches them toward Reno until they meet Lanier coming back in a car with J. B. and another policeman. While the kidnapers are taken to prison, Dick, J. B. and Lanier go back up the mountain until, in the mournful ruins of a deserted city, they are met by the Rat and little Alex. The failure of the kidnaping plot is reported to Brett by his detective, who tells him that the Desert Rat was once a prosperous broker, Stephen Pierce. Brett recognizes the name and laughs exultantly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XV.

WITH Alex, junior, shouting in Peg's old playroom upstairs, and Stephen Pierce, the Desert Rat, playing combination nursemaid and bodyguard, Felicia became almost another person.

During those dread hours that her son was missing, she had held herself from breakdown only by terrific effort. Now reaction had set in. In a flowered chiffon dress, she lay on the couch in the Hodge living room, a little smile playing about her mouth, one bare arm trailing, so that her fingers brushed the carpet.

"Cigaret, Felicia?" Formality had ceased between Felicia and J. B. in those agonizing hours.

"Um-m-m!" she smiled lazily at him. "Why shouldn't I? It's time I learned to smoke!"

Dick frowned slightly, as the girl's fingers steadied J. B.'s hand, holding the match for her. He sensed some strange new quality in Felicia, a devil-may-care attitude born of the wave of relief that had surged over her. It showed again later in the evening. When she lifted her face to kiss him good-night, there was almost an abandonment in her surrender to him. It was as though the tension she had been under—the guard against hysteria—suddenly swept away, had swept with it other reserves, other guards.

Days passed peacefully, with no word from Brett, no cloud of trouble.

"Have you heard from him? Is he in New York?" Dick asked her once.

Felicia shrugged. "I don't know, Dicky, and I don't care. I want to forget that there is such a person as Alex Brett! For seven years he cheated me of youth—of everything. And now he's gone! I hope he's dead! Oh, Dicky—Dicky—"

Her cheek brushed against his, and her lips found his mouth.

"I don't care about anything!"

Strange, new Felicia! Lovely and fascinating, but—. Metaphorically, Dick kicked himself. What was he complaining about? Wasn't she the loveliest, sweetest human being who ever lived? He kissed her, fervently—as fervently as one can kiss and still keep an eye on the roadway ahead.

They were on their way back to the Hodge home; Judge and Mrs. Cooper were to dine with them, and they were already late. Felicia tore upstairs to change her frock; when she came down, Mrs. Cooper had followed Ann into the dining room, and the three men, the judge, the doctor and Dick, were deep in discussion.

They rose, three pairs of eyes glowing with admiration for the slender girl in mauve and silver who smiled upon them.

"We're talking about Reno," Judge Cooper told her, "as usual!" He smiled at her, a cherubic little man with apple-red cheeks and a bald head fringed by a halo of pure white hair.

"Well, there's lots to say," Felicia replied, sitting down beside him. "They're the craziest people I ever saw!"

"They're masqueraders," said the judge. "I was just saying that same thing to Dick, here. Most of the people you see doing the wildest things are pretending, trying to hide their real misery—or, if not misery, uneasiness. They're blowing off steam!"

"Some of those people at—oh, places like The Pines—give a pretty good imitation of being wild," said Felicia. "If they're pretending they're certainly good actors."

Judge Cooper shook his bald head. "Child, I've lived in Reno for 40 years and I've sat on the bench for 25. And not a day has passed that I haven't run up against sheer, undiluted tragedy being disguised with frenzied gaiety."

Dick leaned toward the older man, earnestly. "How do you feel about the divorces you've granted? Justified or not?"

"Do you suppose I haven't wondered about that? I've granted about 30,000 decrees. A newspaperman once wrote an article that pictured me as a sort of great, grinning ogre perched atop the heaped-up fragments of 60,000 loves. He didn't understand. What I really have done is to send 60,000 individuals away from here, free. Free to return to sane, useful and constructive lives. Free to try it again.

"And most of them do—I think I have married a good 5,000 of 'em myself."

Felicia was interested. "And these remarried ones—do they come back?"

The judge shook his head. "I don't believe I've dissolved 18 of these second marriages in 25 years. No, they've learned their lesson. They've acquired tolerance. They've learned that a few words spoken over them by minister or magistrate aren't black magic that can make each instantly ready to conform to the other's ideas in every blessed detail of living. Those who stay here to help us build Nevada make our finest citizens—honest, decent and clean-minded!"

Anna and Mrs. Cooper came in, smiling.

"At it again!" Mrs. Cooper murmured. "Heavens, you'd think there was nothing in Reno but divorce, to hear my husband talk!"

"How do they act—the majority of them—when they get their decrees?" Felicia persisted.

To Judge Cooper it was a familiar question. "That is where the keynote of each one's real character is revealed," he retorted, "so watch out, my girl! Of course, it's been the custom for years to send the erstwhile mate a congratulatory telegram, wishing him or her 'better luck next time.' Some even send them collect!" His eyes twinkled. "Then they either do what I believe you youngsters call 'throw a party,' and get thoroughly drunk, or they retire quietly to their own quarters and take this disruption of their marital estate in the dignified manner in which the court granted it. Sometimes women faint—once in a while one even goes so far as to kiss me!"

"Oh, it's very hard, this being a judge's wife!" Mrs. Cooper murmured, and they laughed.

"What do you think about it?" Felicia asked abruptly, turning to the fragile little old lady.

"Divorce?" Mrs. Cooper smiled. "Land's sake's, child, it's the only decent thing for people to do when they can't get along! Especially if they have children. Wrangling parents only bring up children who'll go out and wrangle in their own homes!"

"She's entirely right—as usual!" cried the judge, and his wife flushed.

Felicia's eyes were dreamy. "Masqueraders," she repeated, more to herself than to anyone else. "City of masquerade!" The judge was looking at her, and she smiled. "You know, I've never seen anything like that!" she told him. "I've traveled and all that, but I've never—never been anywhere, never taken part in things."

Again that premonition of alarm fluttered within Dick's heart. Somehow he felt afraid for her. How pretty she was in that evening frock, how desirable!

"Well, there are a good many places here not to go!" the judge commented, rather dryly. "I had a client the other day who made an amusing analogy. He cited tales of men sent to the South Seas who drank heavily, made love to native girls, and, as the saying goes, 'went native.' And he said that's what happens to decent, cultured Americans in Reno; that they come out here, restless and unhappy—and 'go native.' Better watch out, Mrs. Brett."

"Well," Felicia retorted, shrugging a bare shoulder rather saucily at him, "it's hot enough here to 'go native' if one could carry it through to one's costume!"

She was merely responding to Judge Cooper's bandage, yet Dick felt a cold chill run along his spine. What if Felicia were caught by this reckless immoral atmosphere? It was fantastic, impossible! But he wished that he did not have to leave her. . . .

He had made all his arrangements to start on a business trip with Sam Lanier the next day. No adequate excuse for canceling the plan occurred to him and, besides, it would be absurd to do so. Of course he trusted Felicia. Still he felt uneasy.

Will Felicia be safe? Follow her adventures tomorrow in this newspaper.

Polly Regrets Discovery Of Mother's Hateful Affair With Keith

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Polly Carter, ultra-sophisticated modern girl, returns home from college with a degree and a shock-proof conscience. Expecting to find the same old-fashioned parents in the same small-town routine, she is startled to discover her own mother carrying on a clandestine love affair with her father's partner. Mr. Carter, a public spirited citizen, has neglected home ties for the meeting rooms of various committees and is blissfully ignorant of his wife's waywardness. Polly, accustomed as she is to modern freedom of the younger generation, is stunned by the scene of her mother in another man's embrace.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER III.

FAR more innocent and ignorant of the world than she had ever realized till now, Polly lay stifling her sobs in a pillow. After her first flare of wrath ended, she was suddenly a piteous orphan out in the night of the world, and terribly sorry for herself.

She was suddenly thrown back from her imagined peak of sophistication to the estate of a frightened girl.

The mother she had loved and looked to for protection and guidance was dead. In her place was an evil stepmother, an unimaginably wicked and abominable hag in whose heart there could not possibly be any real love for that outrageous man.

Her mother was an old woman —40, if a day—how could a woman of that age love anybody except her husband? How could a mother love anybody but the father of her children?

How could any woman at her time of life put on a mask of youth and meet a man secretly? Connive with him, telephone him, hide out on a dark porch with him? and he an old white-haired veteran like Walter Keith! It was revolting! That's what it was, revolting!

Polly had heard them mumbling about not being able to live without each other. It was as silly as a couple in the old folks' home putting on a burlesque of "Romeo and Juliet."

If it hadn't been her own mother she could have laughed herself sick.

She did laugh herself sick. She cried and giggled and grieved and guffawed all at once and her mother would have heard her in spite of the suffocation of the drenched pillow if Mrs. Carter's own blood had not been roaring in her ears so loudly that she could hear nothing but tumultuous thoughts.

Out of Polly's hysteria rose a ferment of acrid anger. Her mother had shattered the one last ideal left. A fine example to set to a child that looked up to her!

Polly saw no inconsistency in claiming all the privileges of a little girl of 9 or 10, and assuming all the wisdom of a sibyl of 21. She saw no inconsistency in the lessons she drew from her mother's conduct. While she had revered her mother, Polly had been as wild a girl as her common sense and her discretion had permitted—sometimes a little wilder than that. Now that she believed her mother wicked she felt utter contempt for everything but the strictest integrity. She would never let a man embrace her as long as she lived, now that she saw how it looked from the outside. She hated all men, all women, and the world and life. She hated most of all the vile thing called love. She was done with that dirty thing. She would march coldly through the world henceforth, as if she were really an orphan. And she was an orphan, for she utterly disowned her mother, cast her off. The Magdalen downstairs no longer deserved that most honorable of names.

Next, Polly began to feel exceedingly sorry for her father. She had usually thought of him as a darling old dunderhead, very respectable, but not very intelligent. He had lived for centuries but he was more innocent than a child. She had always babied her father. He did splendid work for the city, for the poor, and for the sick in the hospitals, but he ignored his own poverty and sickness. Yet how could he have suspected that the wife he trusted was a viper, his household a den of intrigue?

Somebody must tell him about it. To think of him coming home to a Jezebel who only waited till his back was turned, then threw herself into the arms of another man—and that man, of all men his partner!

And, besides, if Walter Keith could spend his evenings robbing her father of his wife's love, what was to keep him from spending his days in cheating her father of his money, the fruits of his toil? Keith was probably falsifying the books, tapping the cash drawer, growing rich off her father's hard work.

Polly resolved to inform her father immediately of his wife's disloyalty and his partner's duplicity. And then, of course, her father would dissolve both partnerships.

It would get in the papers, along with Meg Fairley's mother's divorce and all the other divorces that were filling the press. It would cover everybody with disgrace; but no open scandal could be so hideous as this festering wickedness. She could imagine the headlines, the ridicule and scorn of the neighbors, and she cowered before the vision. The home would be broken up, of course.

Her father would order his disgraceful wife to darken his doors no longer. He would tell her perhaps: "Go to the man you really love, the reptile who has helped you drag my good name in the dust. Go to your Walter Keith, and never let me see either of you again."

Yet her mother could not go to Walter Keith, because he had a wife already, a stupid dreary woman but a clinging one. Poor Mrs. Keith! Poor fat old bore! How could so handsome a man as Walter Keith ever have married her? It was easy to see why he could not be satisfied with such a frump, but let him look elsewhere for his diversions. He had no right to break up Polly's father's home.

As Polly ciphered at her problem it grew more and more complicated, more and more far-reaching. To begin with, she would tell her father the simple truth:

"Papa, it's only fair to let you know what I've just learned."

Then her father would turn her mother out into the night. Or he would walk out himself. Then Polly would have to go too, of course. But where? She absolutely refused to be settled on any of the relations; they were all poorer than papa and the most appalling people. Let one thing be thoroughly understood. Polly absolutely, positively, abso-positiveliilutely would not be boarded out with any of the relations.

To move to a hotel for a while would be interesting, but you can't live at a hotel forever. And how would she spend her time? None of her old friends would speak to her probably, after such public scandal; and, if they did, she would hate to look them in the face after they knew her shame. She could not bear the thought of a convent. Perhaps she would go on the stage and play tragedies—Ibsen and the like.

Everybody would rather expect her father to shoot the man who despoiled his home, and she hoped he would.

And yet, while that would be poetic justice, there would be the machinery of legal justice to go through. The jury would acquit him, of course, eventually; but he would be locked up for a while probably, until he had raised enormous bail. He might have to spend a year or two in prison and squander all his money before he could be acquitted.

By that time his practice would be gone, and he would have to resign all his secretaryships; for people wouldn't want him on the committees and boards any more since, in the eyes of the prigs, the dear sweet man would after all be a murderer—not really one, of course, but at least a slayer of his fellow man.

The future along this line grew so inconvenient and so slow that Polly decided against her father's killing Walter Keith after all.

There was something odious about letting such vermin live, of course, but it would be horribly impractical to slaughter him. Yet if he didn't, it would be almost more disgraceful than if he did. But if he did—

She began to cry again for sheer inability to manage the world to her liking. She had come from college with a head full of old wisdom and a complete set of shock-absorbers, and here she was like a child lost in a jungle filled with tigers and venomous pythons.

Everything would have been so beautiful, if her mother had only been what she should have been, if she had never made that detour from the path of virtue. And now the home was wrecked beyond mending. Such a sweet home, too! Her own room was such a darling! The old carpet, the bedstead that was antique without being an antique, the wallpaper that she had hated once and found so pleasant now—all the petty, nonsensical, frayed and shabby things seemed to plead not to be flung out into the world.

She lifted her head and looked through dripping eyes about the cozy snuggery. She loved it as a kitten loves its old basket. Telling over her possessions she found herself rich where she had thought herself poor. But then one never knows how much one owns until the bankrupt sale compels an inventory.

She wished that she had never found out about the hateful flirtation. Where ignorance is bliss—how true, how true! But, alas, there was no known way of unknowing what one had found out.

If only she had minded her own business and stayed at the theater with Bob and come home when she was expected! The truth was too terrible! She could not bear it. But she had to. Life held her fast and pushed between her teeth a dose of the most sickening medicine and she had to swallow it.

The worst of it was having to tell on her mother. That gagged her. She had always despised a tattler more than anybody else in the world. Even as a little girl she had shouted at other little girls who blabbed:

Tell-tale tit!
Your tongue shall be slit
And every little dog in town
Shall have a little bit.

To keep quiet about her mother's crime would make her a party to it. A fine thing for her to connive at the deception of her poor father! No, no! a thousand times No! She must go to him and say—and say—what?

"Papa, I hate to have to tell you this, but tonight when I came home unexpectedly I found —I found—"

Her tongue seemed to freeze to her icy teeth. She couldn't say it. She would rather have them slit her tongue to shreds and toss it to the dogs in town than use it for her mother's destruction.

And even supposing she did tell her father, what then? What would he do? What would he say? Her mother would deny it, of course. It would be only Polly's word against her mother's. And if her father was the gentleman she hopped he was he would refuse to believe a word against his wife. If he were an honorable man he would slap his daughter over and tell her what Polly herself had told Meg Fairley when she implied that just what had happened might happen:

"Go wash your dirty brain!"

Or, suppose her father believed every word she told him. He might give his wife one look of horror and drop dead at her feet. He had a weak heart. She had heard him say that his doctor had warned him not to overtax it. One insurance company had refused to renew his policy and that had worried him almost to death.

Perhaps she'd best keep quiet, after all, for her father's sake, at least. Still, of course, he might not die. He might turn on his wife and strike her down, trample on her. That would be a terrible thing for poor mamma.

Or he might break down and weep. Polly had heard him cry once when a little brother of hers had died. She never wanted to hear such a sound again. This would be worse than a death and he would be far lonelier.

The poor, poor man, what would he do without mamma! He depended on her for everything, and he could be rather maddening at times. He was always shouting through the house, "Mamma! Mamma! Where did you put my pen?" or "Where did you hide my slippers?" when, as like as not, they were right in front of him.

Her mother had to look him over every morning to find if his socks were mates, or if he had buttoned all his clothes up, or put on a tie at all. What would he do without her?

Polly's thoughts were in utter disarray and every plan was unmade as fast as made.

All this while Mrs. Carter had sat staring at Polly's shawl and making and unmaking plans of her own.

Storms of remorse and of defiance swept her alternately. She reviled herself and defended herself. The gradualness of her drift into her intimacy with Walter Keith, the fact that it was due to her husband's blind and blundering neglect of her and the unbearable monotony of her life had absolved her conscience a little to herself.

But she knew how unpardonable she would look in the eyes of a young daughter who had all the ideals of youth and all the cruelty of youth. Polly had never known the devastating weariness of a wife whose children have grown up and left her and whose busy husband has left her to endure her endless idleness as best as she may.

At last, however, it grew more harrowing to wait and wonder than to go up and face her judge and receive her condemnation.

She mounted the stairs as heavily as if they led to the gallows, and paused at every step to compose some all, too vain defense. At last she flung open Polly's door and entered the room to take what punishment might be awaiting her.

Hoover Praised By Italian Diplomat

"President Hoover is a composite of three of the greatest Americans that ever lived—Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt," vouchsafed Count Ernesto Russo, attache of the Italian embassy at Washington, in an interview upon his arrival here yesterday.

"Hoover is a good diplomat but, above all, he is an engineer—a man who will do things," the count said.

Then he launched into a discourse on America's hero, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, declaring:

"Here is a future diplomat, a young man who undoubtedly will rise to untold heights in his country's service. It wouldn't surprise me if he should become president."

The count is here in the interests of his country, having come to purchase airplane propellors.

Mrs. Whitney to See Columbus Dedication

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP.)—Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney will sail next week for Europe to attend the unveiling of her statue to Christopher Columbus, which will be dedicated at Palos, Spain, April 21. The United States cruiser Raleigh, under command of Admiral Dayton, and Spanish warships will fly the Stars and and Stripes and the standards of castile in honor of the discoverer on the spot from which his three little ships started out into the unknown.

RIVERS RISING SLOWLY

Rivers here were slowly rising today as the rain of yesterday drained off into their headwaters. The stage at the Point at noon was 19.6 feet and the level was moving up at the rate of one-tenth of a foot an hour. Flood stage is 25 feet.

Forcaster W. S. Brotzman predicted that the crest of the rise would be 21 or 22 feet late tonight. Fair weather today was expected to be followed by rain tomorrow.

Heavy Snow Makes Roads Dangerous

Snow and rain, falling throughout the state yesterday, had the highways in dangerous condition today, according to reports to L. L. Roth, manager of the touring bureau of the Pittsburgh Motor Club. He gave out the following road bulletin:

Lincoln highway, east, covered with four to six inches of snow; roadway over Ligonier mountain to Bedford dangerous.

Lincoln highway, west, covered with six to eight inches of snow as far as Canton, O.

National pike, covered with four to six inches of snow through Uniontown and as far as Cumberland, Md.

U. S. Route No. 49 to Washington and the National pike to Wheeling, covered with three to five inches of snow.

William Penn highway, east, covered with four to six inches of snow; route to Erie, covered with three to five inches of snow.

Dry Agents Hold 4, Seize Auto and Rum

Observing a man carry several pints of whisky from an automobile into the saloon of Jakov Dzelalia, at 1130 Progress street, yesterday prohibition agents raided the saloon, arrested Dzelalia and Tony O'Para, of 4428 Liberty avenue, and seized the machine, they reported.

A 100-gallon still was seized in a dwelling in Wheeler street extension, where Andy DeMore and Americo Posati were taken into custody, according to the agents.

REPORT ON CITY FUNDS READY

Controller Henry Oliver Evans has prepared for distribution to taxpayers a nine-page report on the city's appropriations and bond accounts. The purpose, he declared, is to allow taxpayers to check the city's accuracy and speed in planning and executing bond improvement projects and also the efficiency of the municipal accounting system.

The report prepared by Controller Evans shows 317 instances in which estimates on improvements were exactly balanced by actual expenditures.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

The One-Woman Man

ONE of the great fallacies with which this gallant old world has jollied itself, is the tacit assumption that man is a natural varietist in his affections, and that a "one-woman-man" is an anomaly, who belongs in the Metropolitan Museum, along with the other freaks.

Man has, somehow, got the idea that he needs a change of heart every few weeks or months or years, according to his nature and his opportunities.

The moment a woman irritates him, he begins to wonder if he's tired of her and ought to go out and find a blonde or something as a counter-irritant.

One woman may be the leading lady in his life, but still he imagines that there ought to be ninety-nine others to make up the ensemble.

Yet, the most bored and miserable man in the world is the hard-boiled bachelor of forty who has settled down to a life of continuous variety.

The truth is, that man is a creature of habit—and change is utterly abhorrent to him.

He likes his eggs and his bacon cooked the same way, every day, year in and year out, his coat hung in the same place, and his hair cut in the same style.

He hates to have the furniture moved around, his desk tidied up, or his chair moved from the familiar corner. A new picture on the wall, a new shade on the lamp or even a new frock on his wife always give him a slight shock and brings a little frown of apprehension to his forehead.

If he knocks the ashes from his pipe into the Satsuma vase or leaves his shoes under the piano three times in succession—that's a "habit;" and he keeps right on doing it.

He sticks to the same political policies, reads the same comic strips and votes for the same party all his life.

It takes him a whole season to get used to a new hat on the same old wife—and by that time she is ready to throw it away, and he is forced to readjust himself and get used to another one.

It is WOMAN who yearns for constant change and variety. It is woman who changes her fashions and invents a new way of doing her hair every year or so. Who is forever shortening her skirts or letting them down; getting thin or getting fat; changing the furniture around and changing it back again; moving from apartment to apartment, and looking up the rates to Bermuda or Florida or Paris or Reno.

Woman might have some excuse for claiming to be a sentimental varietist. But though her mind changes every few minutes, her heart is naturally steadfast. A normal woman is a one-man-woman—no matter how TIRED she may get of that one man!

And by that same token, a normal man is a one-woman-man at heart, and if he were told that he would HAVE to trade off his old wife for a brand new one every few years, he would be panic-stricken at the prospect.

* * *

Variety in love, like a taste for olives or alcohol, is just a cultivated habit. Every man is true to one woman—in the abstract!

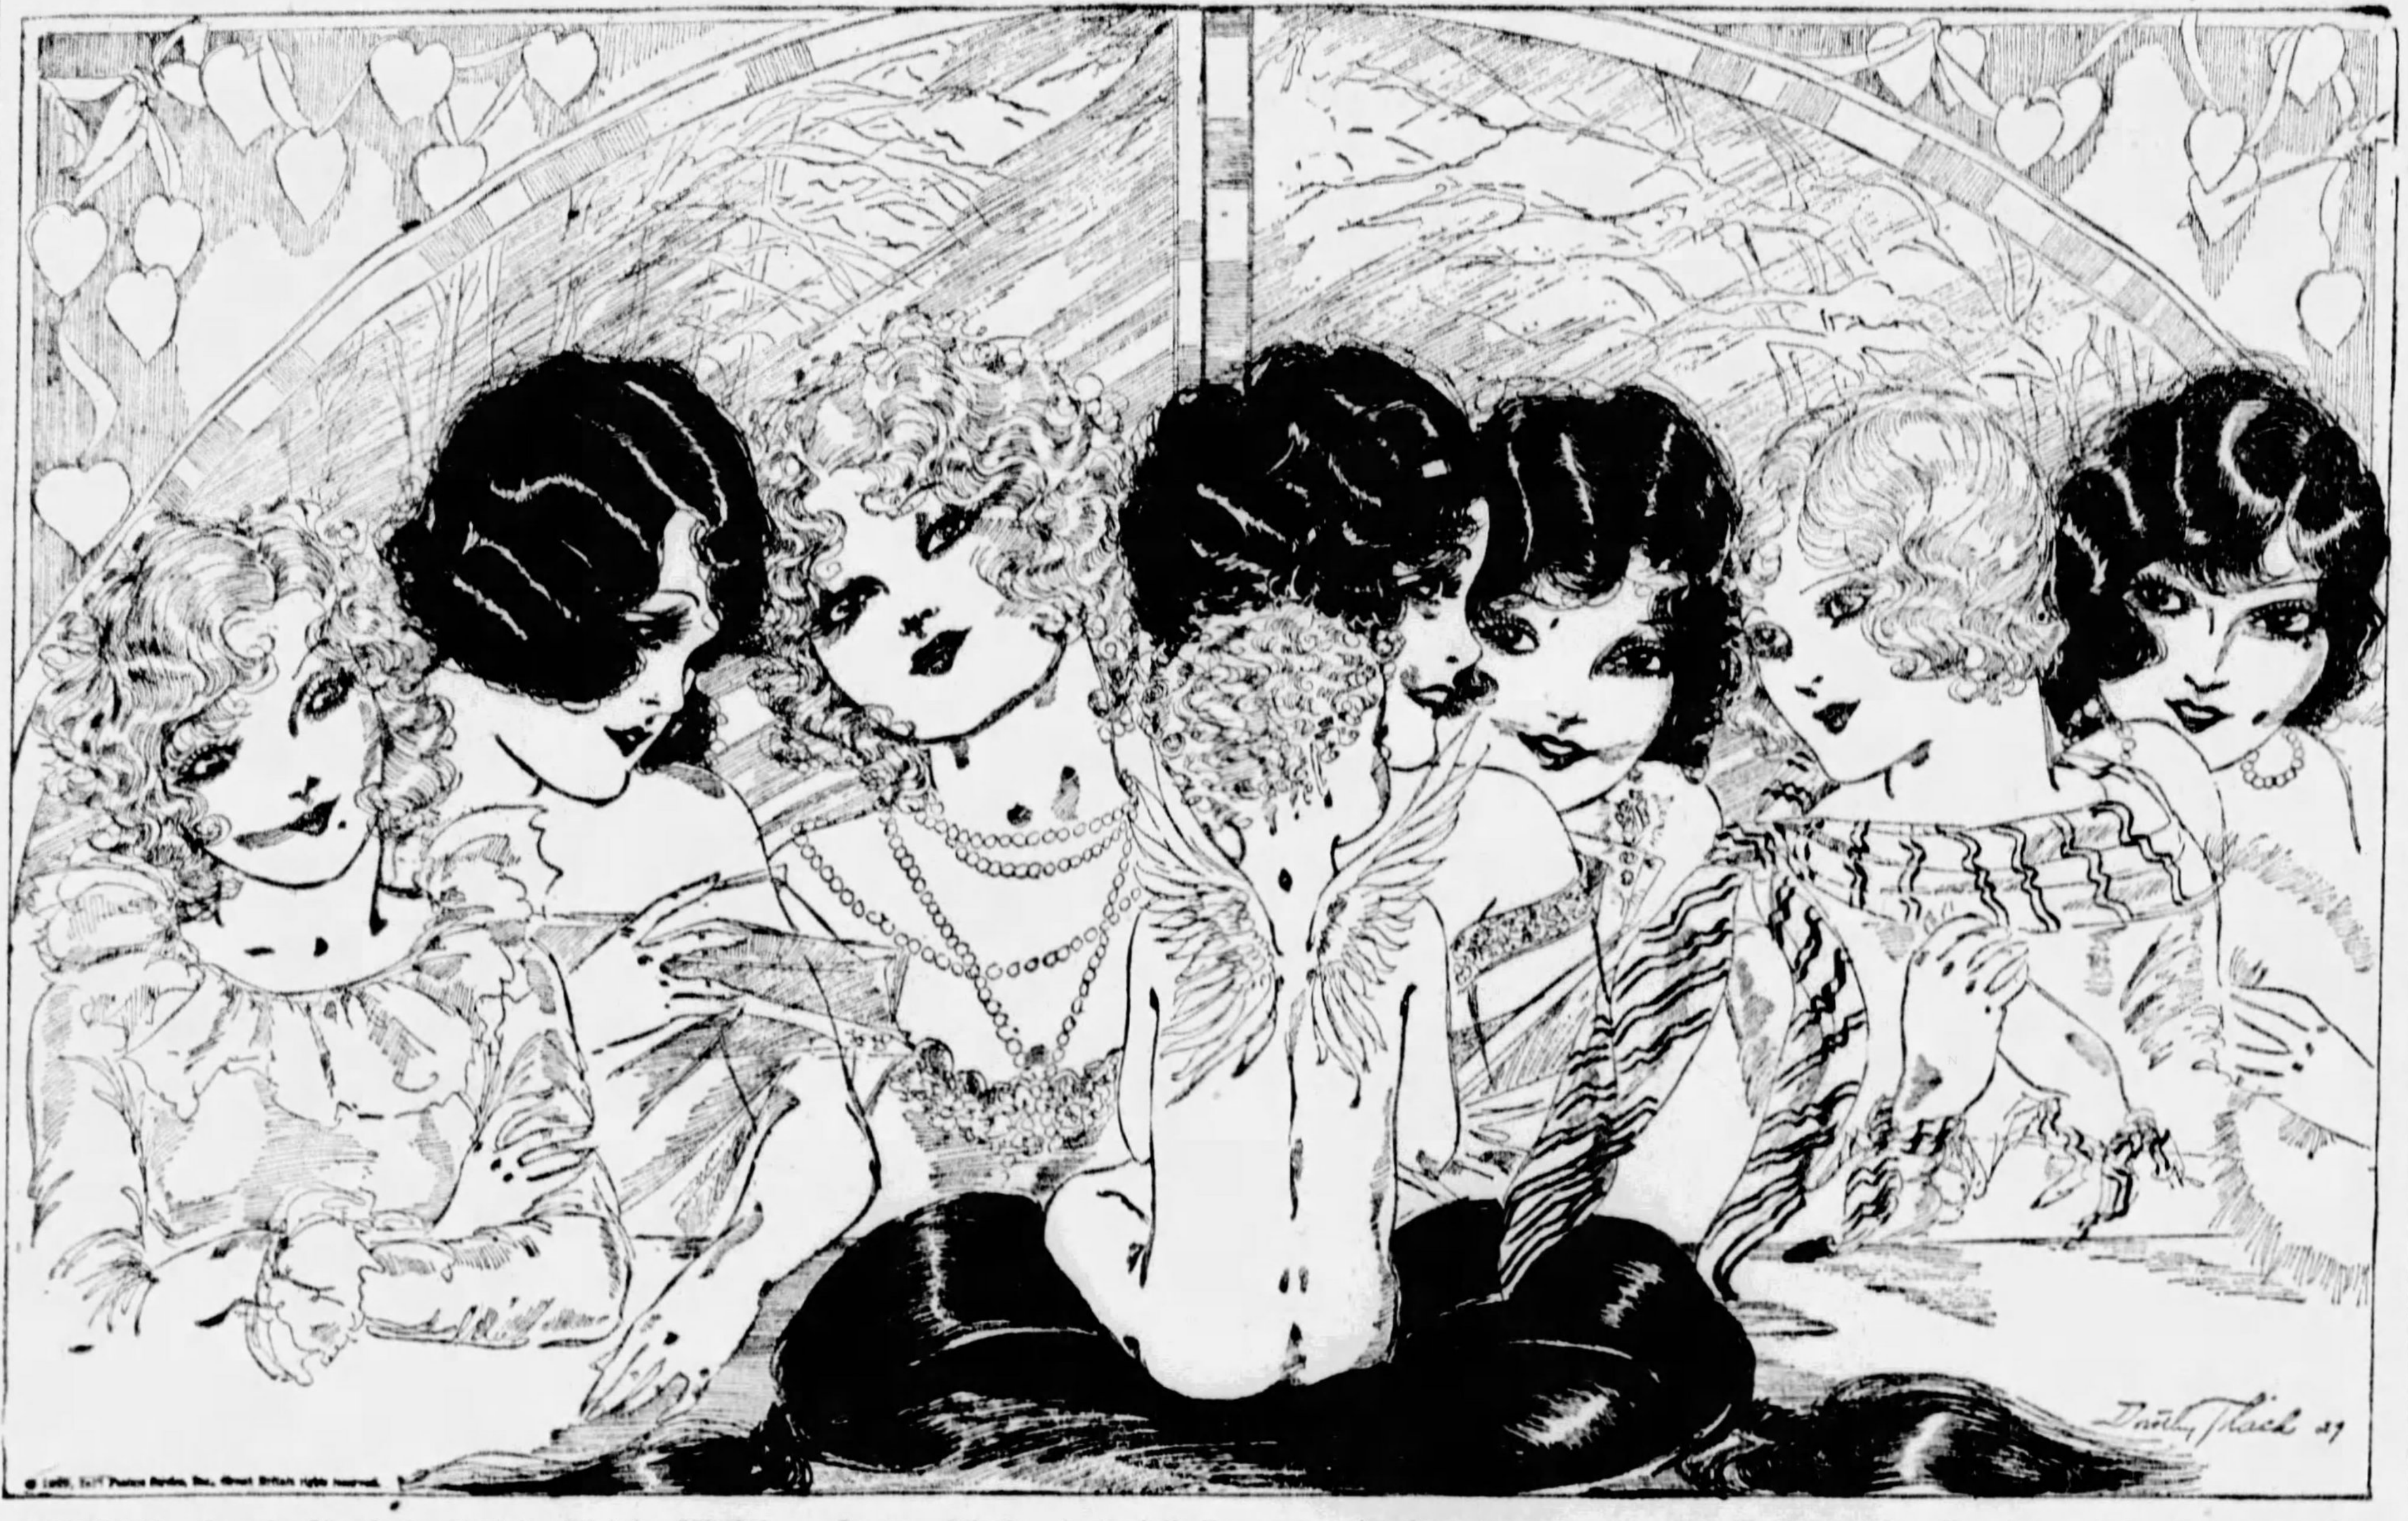
CUPID CALLS THE ROLL!

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



"ELLA! Jane! Myrtle! Doris! Elsie! Kittie! Florence!" Dan calls the roll and each in turn answers as her name is called! And each type fits every temperament that one can conceive.

Ella, sweet, demure, domestic, timid and lovely. Jane, with her titian locks and lilting laughter and her teasing eyes, taking life as a huge joke! Myrtle, tender, loving, dreaming, placid, altogether adorable. Doris, practical, honest, fearless, a mate for any man. Elsie, impish, humorous, generous, laughing, yet so clever. Kittie, just what her name implies—sweet, soft, cuddly, clinging. Florence, temperamental, lovely, with more than her share of brains and an ambition that will carry her far.

So take your pick! Dan knows each and every one of them, but every so often he has to call the roll that he may note any difference in them and make the entries in his little book, so that he may search and find for them the one who will bring Love and Happiness.

They think it's all a huge joke, but some day when Love comes to them, they'll remember the days of the roll call and be grateful to Dan that he watched over them so carefully. For Dan never makes mistakes.

It isn't his fault if things go wrong, for it pains and grieves him sorely when two whom he has brought together disagree over some trivial thing. That's why he's so careful in recording the temperament of each type—that he may bring Love to them in the person of one who will make them happiest.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Clear Air Passages of Nose and Throat

IN my mail are many letters asking about difficult breathing. Old people, young people, babies—it makes no difference what the age may be, or the sex, there are many persons who suffer from this symptom.

DR. COPELAND

Perhaps this is a good time to discuss the subject. By doing so in a formal way, all the letters of inquiry are answered at once.

There is a multitude of causes for difficult breathing. In the first place, it often travels along with some alteration of the normal condition of the blood. For instance, following an infection these may be the development of poisons which affect the breathing.

Wrong diet with intestinal fermentation may result in an acid condition of the system. This is what is sometimes called "acidosis." It may have difficult breathing as one of its signs.

There are various nervous and mechanical states which have their effects upon the ease of breathing. Among such we find obstructions in the nose, throat or bronchial tubes. A polypus in the nose or a swelling of the mucous lining of the breathing apparatus may interfere with its proper action.

Sometimes the breathing muscles of the chest may be disturbed and incapable of normal breathing. This is what happens in pleurisy when the chest is filled with fluid. This prevents free action of the diaphragm and regular breathing.

Besides these causes of uncomfortable and difficult breathing, we find other cases which can be traced to interferences with free circulation of the blood through the lungs. There may be some disturbance in the action of the heart. The blood is not sent through the lungs in proper fashion. In consequence the blood is impaired in its content and the victim struggles for more oxygen.

This is a brief recital of three causes which may produce labored breathing. Let me describe in a little more detail, some of these effects.

Perhaps one of the most common causes for the symptom is gas formation in the stomach and intestines. A mild attack of indigestion may result in tremendous gas formation. The diaphragm is pressed upon and the patient thinks the "heart is under pressure."

If there is a chronic heart trouble, the disturbance with gas may aggravate it. Both factors work together to make the breathing very difficult.

In acidosis, as I have said, there may be some trouble. Usually the breathing is very deep. It may not be terribly labored, but it seems to go to the very toes.

In pneumonia the lungs are clogged. It is not surprising that in this disease the breathing is interfered with and consequently may be very rapid.

Adenoids and enlarged tonsils in children are common causes for the symptom. There is no hope of complete relief until these are properly treated. It stands to reason that blocking of the nasal and throat passages will interfere with breathing.

This is a brief and somewhat incomplete statement regarding the causes of abnormal breathing. If it helps you to understand the symptom, I shall be very glad. Your doctor will complete the picture.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, March 7

THIS day will be notable for a strong inclination to "silent and self-measuring contemplation." It may emphasize singular or subtle emotions and experiences of an unusual nature, with marked turning away from the workaday and sordid. The mental attitude may be exalted and the feelings chaste and spiritual. Nevertheless industry will thrive and there may be an unexpected change of benefit. All relating to high expressions of art, music, poetry or amusement should thrive and be pleasant as well as substantially profitable.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of peculiarly exalted and virtuous outlook, with the tendency to high emotions and practices. All the finer faculties will seek expression, even in ways of pleasure. Affairs of this nature as well as industry and applications should thrive and bring pleasure. A good change is probable.

A child born on this day may have a very ideal and exalted nature, but will also be practical and industrious, especially in those affairs of a refined and cultural character.

No man or woman of the humblest sort can be really strong, gentle, pure and good without the world being better for it.—Phillips Brooks.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Katie's Departure for Kitchen Arouses Madge's Curiosity.

IT was with a feeling of utter bafflement that I scanned the torn pieces of blotter from Mary's desk pad. Of course I had hoped to find some imprint—even though blurred—of the name "Janet Rawdon" and an address beneath it. I felt that if I could have had but two or three indistinct letters of such an address, I would have had some starting point in the answer to the question in which we were all so vitally interested. "Who was 'Janet Rawdon' and why was Mary Harrison sending checks to her each week, the checks representing the greater part of her generous allowance?"

But I had found no trace whatever of the name, and the only fact I had gleaned from my search of Mary's waste basket was the apparently innocuous one that someone had cut a circular hole in the blotter which had covered her desk pad.

Mechanically I busied myself in the girl's clothes closet as I had told Katie I would do. But before I had finished going over her gowns, with a view to having them cleaned, mended and made over before she should go into the city for the winter, Katie was back at the door, flushed and patently triumphant at having finished her task before I had completed my self-imposed one.

"You not troo yet?" she asked with a naive impudence for which I sometimes long to slap her. "Me, I got all Marion's room feexed und cleaned. Now I take dees vun eef you ready for me."

"I shall be in one minute, Katie," I told her, making no comment upon her speedy work, which is the worst punishment she can suffer. But I have no other weapon against her impertinence, so innocently wide-eyed and apparently unintentional, that I cannot openly reprove her for it.

"If you'll just carry these to my room." I laid a pile of dresses across her arms. "I'll bring the rest of the things. Then the room will be clear for you."

Katie's expressive face fell. She had hoped and, I guessed, had dashed madly through her work with that incentive—that I would not be through and would delay her cleaning of Mary's room. This would have been a triumph indeed—she is about 10 years old in her jealousy over her ability to turn out work.

She stalked sullenly ahead of me to my room, put the dresses down on the bed and turned a disconsolate face to me.

"Vot time Meester Graham vant dot pink pudding?" she asked.

I started—for I had forgotten the excuse I had made for sharing in the cleaning.

"I thought it would be nice to have it for luncheon and he's going away either tonight or tomorrow," I said. "I didn't mean that he asked for it specially today. But he was speaking of it only a day or two ago, and I meant to ask you to make it."

I felt better when I finished, for this was the literal truth. Katie stood with her arms akimbo, and considered for a minute.

"Den I go down now and start heem," she said. "While she feexing, I coom oop und finish Mary's room."

I wondered a bit, for this never had been her procedure in preparing the pink pudding, a dish which I always had understood required the constant watchfulness of the cook. But I made no comment, and Katie departed for the kitchen, going through the double doors which led to her own rooms in the kitchen wing.

With an impulse I did not stop to analyze, I hurried out of my door, down the front stairs and back to the kitchen, where I pretended to busy myself with the small electric iron and the folding ironing board which we keep for pressing. But it was over five minutes before Katie appeared, although her usual rate of progress from the second floor to the kitchen is measured by seconds.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Written Invitations

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to be married soon at a home wedding just for the immediate family and a few of my fiance's relatives. Would like to write a small note in my parents' name asking them to attend.

Would you please advise me what to write? Should I write on writing paper, or would correspondence cards be more appropriate?

CONSTANT READER.

YOUR mother writes these notes of invitation on letter paper of the conservative white, double-sheet variety. This is a form:

Dear Mary:

Bob and Jeannette are to be married at our home on Friday, the first of May, at 4 o'clock and, of course, we all very much want to have you and Tom come to their wedding. And won't you plan to stay after the ceremony for "congratulations and a cup of tea?" Do say that you will both come, for the fiancee and fiance would be bitterly disappointed if you, good dearly loved friends were not there.

Dearest greetings from us all, and the anticipation of seeing you on the "famous first."

Cordially yours,
MARY CONANT SMITH.

Mourning Costume

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have enjoyed reading your column daily and many questions have been answered that have been of interest to me. Now, I have a few questions of my own that I would like to have you answer, if you will be so kind.

1. What is the correct mourning apparel for a young woman to wear at the death of her husband's brother?

2. How long should mourning clothes be worn?

3. Is a veil worn, and for how long?

I. K.

NOWDAYS, with the wide views on mourning, it would not be likely that she would wear mourning for a brother-in-law. She would wear dark, conservative clothes, but probably not black.

2. That depends on so many things that there is a suggestion really for every separate case. From six months to a year is a very general rule. But some people wear them for the rest of their lives—some widows, for instance—and many people, very many people, now do not wear them at all.

3. A veil is worn by a widow or a mother for the funeral, but usually not after that.

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!
Pain Stops Instantly!

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

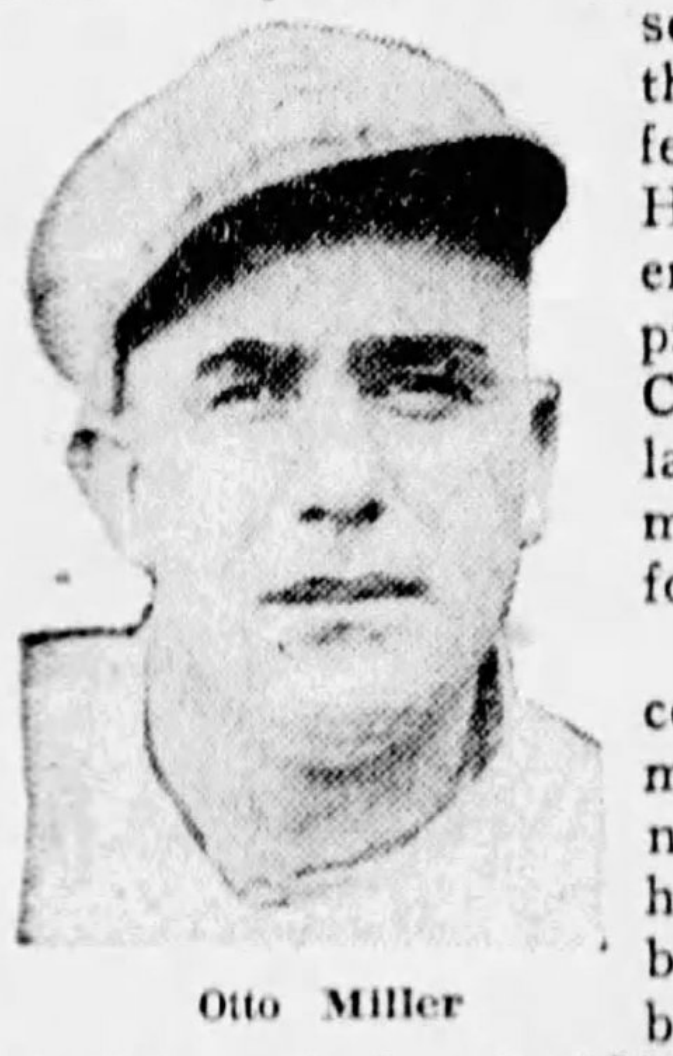
MAT GAME SUCCESS IN EAST

THERE is no getting away from the fact that the Cubs shape up as a formidable entry in the National League pennant race this year. Though they have been weakened in a fielding sense by the loss of Freddie Maguire, they have made a big gain on the offensive by the acquisition of Rogers Hornsby, and are likely to be strengthened further by an improvement in the pitching form of Charley Root and Hal Carlson as compared with their work last year. And in 1928, it must be remembered, the Bruins were beaten out for the flag by only four games.



Otto Miller

As far as the regular lineup is concerned, therefore, the Cubs on paper must be said to look like a strong pennant bidder. They will be one of the hardest teams in either major league to beat on their home grounds, and may be expected to make a better showing on the road than in 1928, when they won only one game more than they lost, their record on foreign fields being 39 victories against 38 defeats. But one possible weakness in the machine that is being generally overlooked, and one that may interfere seriously with the outfit's championship chances, is lack of reserve strength.

ONE of baseball's natural laws is that a club can be no stronger than its substitutes, and Joe McCarthy's team appears to be none too well fortified in that respect, particulraly with relation to the infield. So it follows that, with all due respect to the strength of the regular lineup, Chicago's pennant chances will depend largely upon how fortunate the Bruins are in escaping the loss of one or more regulars for extended periods through illness or injury.

Otto Miller, the veteran Brooklyn coach, is one baseball man who does not permit that angle to go unnoticed in expressing his views on the pennant race. Miller, incidentally, concedes to the Pirates an even flag chance with the Giants. "A lot of people like the Cubs, but I'm not so sure that they'll win," he said. "They will be strong and hard to beat as long as they escape injuries, but you must remember they haven't any great reserve strength, especially among their infielders. Good utility men are valuable fellows to have around. I look for either the Giants or Pirates to be on top at he finish."

BASKETBALL champions of the past will meet champions of the present day at the South Side market house tomorrow night, when the original Morry Big Five, one of the strongest floor machines ever to represent Pittsburgh and former champion of the Central League, oppose the crack Cleveland Rosenblums, winners of the first round championship in the American Professional League, in a game that promises to develop into one of the greatest ever staged here.

Morry Goldman

Morry Goldman, sponsor of the unique exhibition game, and a man who has played a big part in placing the professional sport on the high plane it occupies in Western Pennsylvania at present, has reorganized his team of three years ago for this contest and will present a lineup that will include five prominent coaches in this vicinity.

INCLUDED in the Morry lineup will be Chick Davies, Duquesne University coach; Bill Campbell, Homestead High School coach; Ken Loeffler, Geneva College coach; Yans Wallace, coach of the Knickerbocker Club, champion of the West Penn League, and George Ramsay, coach of the McKeesport Alumni Club of the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League. Moon Klinzing, star of the Goldensons in the Allegheny County League, and Whitey Littell, star of the Butler Armcos, Butler County League champions, will complete the Morry roster. All of these stars learned the fine points of professional basketball under the Morry banner. Klinzing and Littell played on the Rosenblum team two years ago.

ONLY one man who helped the Morrys sweep through the old Central League three years ago will be missing when the Morrys take the floor against the Rosies. Pip Koehler, star forward of the team, is a member of the Toledo baseball club in the American Association and was unable to accept Goldman's invitation owing to the fact that spring training for the Mudhens starts this week.

The Cleveland team is without doubt the strongest in the American League this season, its lineup including four ex-members of the New York Celtics. The recent addition of Johnny Beckman, former Celtic flash, has given the Ohioans a veteran of 22 years of professional basketball experience. Beckman, along with Joe Lapchick, Pete Barry and Dutch Dehnert, played prominent roles in making the Celtics the greatest of all porfessional floor machines. Tomorrow night's game between the Morrys and Rosies will be the first in which these four stars have played together since the old Celtics met the Morrys at the Market House six years ago.

AS the big-time indoor track season nears its close, there is much in the dope to support the opinion recently expressed by Arthur J. Daley, Eastern running authority, that the finish will find Edvin Wide, of Sweden, ranking ahead of all the rest of the speed stars.

Edvin Wide

Wide stands out as the only topliner who has not been defeated this season, following the downfall of Paavo Nurmi. It may be argued that he has not run as often, has not been tested as severely as some of the others, but that is due to lack of strong opposition in his races rather to any fault of his own.

WIDE'S favorite distance is two miles, and right now there are only two men in the game from whom he could not "run away" without trouble. They are the suspended Nurmi and his Finnish countryman, Eino Purje. There is little chance of the three meeting at two miles this season, and if Wide can win over Purje, Ray Conger, Leo Lermond, Galen Elliott and Phil Edwards in the one-mile race at the Knigths of Columbus games in New York one week from next Saturday he will have a record that will make him unquestionably the outstanding runner of the season. Even if he fails there he must be credited with the most remarkable performance of the winter, as on two successive nights he ran two-mile races in 9 minutes 5 4-5 seconds in one instance and in 9 minutes and 7 seconds in the other. Nurmi and Willie Ritola were the only men ever to run the distance faster in this country.

THEY are going to bring professional wrestling back into Pittsburgh, but, happily, they will be required to demonstrate that they have an acceptable grade of goods, and that the whole thing is on the up and up, before they will be permitted to go very far with it. Ray Fabiani, of Philadelphia, believes that the mat game can be revived here as successfully as in the Quaker City, Boston and elsewhere, and plans to stage a series of Monday night shows at Moose Temple, leading up to some bigger cards later at Motor Square Garden.

In Philadelphia, after starting out with a house of only $250, wrestling was eventually made to go over so big that it now draws gates of from $17,000 to $18,000 there, and Fabiani has asked the State Athletic Commission for permission to attempt to develop a

BUCS TO TEST ROOKIES

Meet Ray Eberle, Announcing "Find" of West Pa. Rings

ATTENTION!

Western Pennsylvania has a new announcer at boxing shows who has proved a knockout with the fans at the Moose Temple here and in McKeesport, Washington, Pa., and New Castle. He is Ray Eberle, a former boxer. Eberle has a way of his own about everything he does. Here, for instance, we see him blowing a whistle and holding one hand aloft to silence the crowd before making an announcement. That's quite a new wrinkle and one that not even the famous Joe Humphries has thought of introducing.

"THE WINNAH—!"

As in making his other announcements to the crowd, Eberle has his own snappy way of indicating the winner at the conclusion of a bout, pointing to the individual in no uncertain manner. His ingratiating smile, as seen above, has helped to make him the most popular announcer in these parts in years, despite his comparatively short period of service.

DISCOVERER

Bill Jolley, New Castle promoter, who made the "Jolly Bowl" popular and gave Eberle his start as an announcer of boxing bouts last summer. Since then Eberle's fame has swept through the entire tri-state district.

BELLEVUE FACES ALIQUIPPA QUINTET

By JESS CARVER

The boys are all ready for the second round competition in the W. P. I. A. L. elimination tournament. Things will start hummin' tonight as Nate Lippe heads a valiant band of Aliquippians out to the Stadium Pavilion, where his Harding High team engages Bellevue in the first of the second round clashes.

Harding reached the second round by toppling tough and rugged Braddock last Thursday evening by a 22-20 count. Bellevue entered the round with a decisive victory over Dunbar Township, the most decisive win of the tourney to date. It is very possible that a crowd rivalling the record breaker that saw Homestead and Monessen Monday night will attend tonight's battle. If such proves to be the case, the Stadium officials have arranged to put cushions on the rafters.

This game tonight is difficult to dope. Both teams have made enviable records during the past campaign. Bellevue rambled through Section II undefeated, and Aliquippa emerged from the heap in Section IV with but one setback charged to its account.

HARDING DANGEROUS

The Harding Highers are figured as a smart, well drilled team, especially strong on the defense. Bellevue has been a heavy scoring aggregation tutored by Larry Danver, former Geneva player. Any team that can go through a W. P. I. A. L. sectional drive without meeting up with a licking is a good ball club. Bellevue will give Aliquippa a bit of trouble tonight.

Fifth Avenue can look forward to its second round game Saturday in the tourney with Freeport with the weight of the City League title series off its collective minds. Yesterday, the Uptowners banged South Hills into complete submission in a matinee contest in the Stadium Pavilion, drubbing the Tunnelites, 28 to 9.

Fifth, playing below the form of which the team is capable, nevertheless made South Hills look very, very bad.

By virtue of the triumph, such as it was, Fifth took the City League championship for 1929. The Uptowners were in the title series last year, but were nosed out by Allegheny in the three-game series. This year, Coach Briggs' boys came through, and yesterday, knocked for several of those well known goals South Hills' challenge.

The contest was close for the first period, but after that, South Hills totally was unable to do anything worth while along scoring lines, and staggered about the floor well nigh helpless as Fifth Avenue's total mounted. The half ended 9 to 4.

SOUTH HILLS BAD

It was not til the closing minutes of the final quarter that South Hills brought its total up to anywhere near respectable figures. Coach Cutteback inserted an entirely new team, something he should have done earlier when he saw his varsity was away off, and these boys scored four points for him.

Fifth played a fair sort of game but not as good as it demonstrated against Stowe in the first W. P. I. A. L. contest. The feature of the game was the foul shooting of the Briggsmen, who flipped in eight out of eight. The lineup:

Fifth—28.		South Hills—9.
Keegan	F.	Garnham
Brenner	F.	Miller
Runner	C.	Ladley
Seigel	G.	Hassenfritz
Reiter	G.	Jones

Score by periods:

Fifth	3	8	8	11—28
South Hills	2	2	1	4—9

Substitutions—Fifth: Meyers, Adelsberg. South Hills: Vethitti, Fitzgerald, Reit, Rigg, Day.

Field goals—Fifth: Keegan 2, Brenner 4, Seigel 2, Reiter 2. South Hills: Garnham, Ladley, Rigg.

Fouls—Fifth: Keegan, 3 out of 3; Brenner, 1 out of 1; Seigel, 1 out of 1; Reiter, 1 out of 1; Adelsberg, 2 out of 2. South Hills: Miller 1 out of 2; Ladley, 0 out of 3; Jones, 1 out of 4; Hassenfritz, 0 out of 1; Day, 1 out of 2.

Team fouls—Fifth, 8 out of 8; South Hills, 3 out of 12.

Leading scorer—Brenner, Fifth, 9 points.

Time of periods—8 minutes.

Referee—Cal Bolster.

Another Is Added To Waner Act; It's a Boy!

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 6.—(AP.)—The famous Waner act of the Pittsburgh Pirates, whose latest skit consists of a holdout against signing their contracts, today has three members.

Paul Waner, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Waner, arrived yesterday morning. He was a lusty youth of 7½ pounds.

Paul Waner, Sr., and Lloyd Waner, are the other members of the act.

SWIM ENTRY CLOSES

The entry list is closed, and all preliminaries have been attended to for the A. M. A. championship water meet to be held at the Pittsburgh Natatorium next Monday evening under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Aquatic Club.

Fight Results

At Steubenville—Jack Wells defeated Sandy Seifert, 10 rounds; Sammy Paris and Pete Roberts drew, 6 rounds; Nat Litfin defeated Young Ketchel, 6 rounds; Bobby Beuford defeated Harry Morris, 6 rounds.

At Reading—Pinky Kauffman defeated Bobby Risden, 8 rounds; Joe Kuhns defeated Eddie Dempsey, 8 rounds; Pat Igoe defeated Syd Thomas, 8 rounds; Freddie Schmidt and Al Coulon drew, 6 rounds; Joe Hassenauer knocked out Myles McFarland, 1 round; Young Kutz knocked out Bus Green, 1 round.

At Indianapolis—Steve McDonald defeated Eddie Anderson, 10 rounds; Otto Anderson defeated Young Billy Wallace, 8 rounds.

At Minneapolis—Cuban Bobby Brown defeated Harry Dillon, 10 rounds; Herman Ratzlaff defeated Morrie Green, 6 rounds; Jack Sharkey knocked out Jack Daniels, 2 rounds; Jack Kearns defeated Bud Glover, 4 rounds.

At Hot Springs, Ark.—Kid Adams defeated Irish Mickey McGill, 10 rounds.

At San Antonio, Tex.—Carlos Garcia defeated Paul Wangley, 10 rounds.

At Fresno, Cal.—Jock Malone defeated Johnny Cline, 10 rounds.

At Los Angeles—Ernie Peters defeated Blas Rodriguez, 10 rounds.

At New York—Stanislaus Loayza knocked out Nat Kawler, 3 rounds; Wild Jim Griffin and Jose Lete drew, 6 rounds.

International Speed Event Opens Today

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 6.—(AP.)—The third annual international speed classic which opened here today saw two of the world's fastest automobiles tuned to perfection awaiting favorable beach and weather conditions which will permit them to go hurtling along the ocean speedway in an attempt to establish a new speed record for the straightway mile.

J. M. White, of Philadelphia, whose 36-cylinder triplex holds the present record of 207.55, and Maj. H. O. D. Segrave, British contender, pronounced their machines ready for the terrific grueling they will undergo in quest of new laurels and declared that beach and weather conditions alone would determine their starting time.

The beach, which stretches out for more than 20 miles along the ocean front, has been badly ruffled for several days due to adverse action of the winds and tide. Weather reports, however, indicated a possible change for the better and the two drivers believed trials may be attempted by Friday.

TOURNEY DATES SET

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 6.—The third annual tri-state championship independent basketball tournament will be held in the local armory on April 5 and 6, it was made known by James J. Hurley, of this city.

FORMER BOXER NOW STAR ANNOUNCER

By HARRY KECK,
SPORTS EDITOR.

The Pittsburgh district has a "Joe Humphries" of its own—a young one who gives promise of becoming a famous figure in the boxing realm if he continues to get the opportunity to develop his peculiar talents.

This newcomer is Ray Eberle, of Aliquippa, Pa., announcer of the boxing shows at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle; the Palisades arena, McKeesport; the Gardens at Washington, Pa., and the Moose Temple here. His full name is Joseph Raymond Eberle and he is 28 years old, married and the father of a 3-year-old son. He is popularly known by the nickname of Spike.

Up to a few years ago, Spike Eberle was a boxer in the featherweight and lightweight classes around Beaver Falls. Then he was married and one night unwisely, or at least so he thought at the time, he took his bride to see him fight. He suffered a defeat and Friend Wife immediately demanded that he quit the ring. He complied and dropped out of the racket until one night last summer, when he filled in as an announcer at the Jolly Bowl. He went over in big league style and now announcing is his regular sideline. He has a fine steady job at the Jones & Laughlin plant at Aliquippa, being in charge of con-

PITCHING STAFF APPEARS STRONG

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 6—His pitchers reaping the rich benefits of 10 days of intensive training, Manager Bush, of the Pirates, today was able to form an idea as to the probable identity of his hurling staff for the coming campaign.

Donie seems to lean quite forcibly toward Steve Swetonic and Larry French, of the recruit brigade. These two clever twirlers already have made a decided impression on Donie and his lieutenants. The actions of the North Side righthander and the Coast League southpaw are watched closely when they throw to the hitters and it is probable that the two promising sharpshooters will get plenty of opportunity to show their wares in the long series of games with the Seals and Missions of San Francisco.

Steve and Larry are likely to work against the Seals Sunday when the Coast League champions come here to tackle the big leaguers. The latter is able to go nine innings right now, he having pitched quite a lot of ball here this winter. Swetonic is not ready for the full distance, but Steve acts as if he could take the five inning route quite handily.

MEADOWS READY

Another development very pleasing to Manager Bush is the work of Lee Meadows, who retired from the sport last summer.

"I am tickled over the way my arm feels," said Meadows today in discussing his pitching manner. "I have not had a pain or an ache in it since I landed here and therefore I have every reason to believe that I will be able to pitch this summer."

But leaving Meadows out of the reckoning, Pilot Donie would appear to have eight corking sharpshooters for his permanent staff. It is likely that the club will carry eight flingers through the season, exclusive of Ervin Brame, who is being groomed as a pinch hitter. Brame, however, may force his way into the first choice string of hurlers.

The eight referred to might run like this: Grimes, Hill, Kremer, Dawson, Swetonic, Tauscher, Petty and French or Fussell, and that array, dear fans, would look good on any man's club, especially if given commensurate support.

TO USE ROOKIES

The slab division may show 10 players during the first couple of weeks of the season as Bush may wish an extended time to see more of some of the most impressive recruits. Fellows like Homer Blankenship and Roy Mahaffey may be able to convince the manager of the club that they should be retained.

But Swetonic and French, it would seem, are to get the big play during the coming three or four weeks. This pair of recruits reflect many of the qualities that go with stars of the slab. Bush's program for today calls for two workouts. Tomorrow the camp will ring with the unmistakable sounds that rise on the air when two clubs tangle. The first camp contest is set for the afternoon.

Chillysauce

San Francisco papers quote Barney Dreyfuss as stating the Pirates have a fine chance to cop the flag, even without the Waner boys. If Barney said that much, he probably did so with his tongue in his cheek.

The Waner boys to the Pirates are the same as Paddy Sullivan to the Strip. Paul Waner can hit more line drives in a week than most batters crack out in a month; nearly every time he is retired somebody snags with a liner, and young Sprout generally is on the runways when the regular cracks of thunder occur. The Buccos would hardly be a headline performance on big-time

TWENTY-TWO WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1929

SEIFERT LOSES

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 6.—Sandy Seifert, Pittsburgh heavyweight boxer, lost a 10-round bout to Jack Wells, of Wellsburg, W. Va., here last night. Sammy Paris, of Pittsburgh, defeated Petey Roberts, of Wheeling, and Nat Litfin, of Pittsburgh, won over Young Ketchel in six-round bouts.

WRIGHT IS CAPTAIN

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 6. — Glenn Wright, former Pirate shortstop, obtained by the Dodgers in the trade which sent Pitcher Jess Petty and Infielder Harry Riconda to Pittsburgh, has been chosen captain of the Brooklyn club. He succeeds Max Carey, also a former Pirate.

FIGHT ENLIVENS ICE PIRATES' 3-2 WIN

By CARL W. SHATTO.

A free-for-all fight which lasted for several minutes featured 70 minutes of speedy, rough and wild hockey at Duquesne Garden last night as the Pittsburgh Ice Pirates scored a 3-2 triumph over the Chicago Hawks in an overtime battle.

The general exchange of punches and clinches took place a few minutes before the close of the second period of the fray, and Herb Drury and Vic Ripley, rival centers, were the "sparkplugs." The Chicagoan, attempting to check Drury as the later speeded down the left lane, slashed Herb with his stick, and the local veteran promptly retaliated by slashing Ripley. Both belligerents promptly dropped their sticks and went at it with their fists, and other members of both teams, evidently figuring that the best way to stop a fight was to knock the foemen unconscious, rushed to the "ring" and joined in the melee. Several policemen rushed out onto the ice at the start of the fight and the law and order squad later was augmented by Garden employes. Although order was not restored for several minutes, no one suffered serious injury and play was resumed, while Drury and Ripley, owners of major penalties, languished in the penalty box.

PLAY ROUGH THROUGHOUT

Rough play was in evidence throughout the fight, but no violent action was needed to "make" the game, for it was one of the fastest and most exciting of the season. Hib Milks, who later tallied the winning goal, broke through the Hawk defense in the first minute of play, and only a great stop by Chuck Gardiner, one of the best goalies in the sport, kept him from breaking into the scoring column right at the start. When Ripley was sent to the cooler, after about seven minutes of play, the Pirates' spare front line of Drury, Lowrey and Bouchard attacked incessantly, but no scores were rung up until 14:06, when Irvin took a pass from Couture and beat Miller with a deceptive shot. Irvin's effort came after the Hawks had been on the defensive for at least seven minutes, during which time they never once got past center ice.

The Bucs rushed to the attack vigorously at the start of the second stanza, and after four minutes of piling through, Drury and Lowrey teamed up to even the score. Herb passed from the boards back of the Hawk cage, and Lowrey intercepted the puck while facing away from the Chicago citadel. He had to make a pivot to get into position for a difficult backhand stroke, but he shoved the rubber home, while a Hawk defense man clung to either shoulder.

Five minutes later Rog Smith fed Harold Darragh a perfect pass in front of the Chicago cage, and the Buc wingman, playing his first game since he sustained a hip injury in Montreal a week ago, promptly slammed the disc into a corner of the net. March took a pass from Ripley and beat Miller to effect a deadlock when six minutes of play remained in the stanza, and it was shortly after he had tallied that the boys gave up playing and took up fighting.

MILLER STOPS RIPLEY

The third period failed to produce a score, but it was not lacking in thrills. About mid-period Ripley broke through the Pirate defense on a lone dash, and only a magnificent play by Joe Miller saved the Bucs from defeat. The Hawk center tried to feint Joe out of position, but the local guardian sensed his intended deception and was in the disc's path when the Chicago center wheeled and shot toward the opposite corner of the cage.

Herb Drury was robbed of a score just before the third stanza ended, and Dame Fortune was the robber. Piling through the Hawk defense, Herb bulleted a high one past Gardiner as he neared the cage, but the puck struck the goal post, missing by a fraction of an inch.

The Hawks, eager to escape with a deadlock, put up a strong defense in the first eight minutes of play of the overtime session, but at 8:39 Hib Milks took a pass from Frederickson and clinched the victory for the Pirates with a well-timed, well-aimed drive. Hib had to outmaneuver a couple Hawk defenders after taking the assist, but he proved more than equal o the occasion.

Miller was called upon to make 26 stops as compared to 45 for Gardiner, and these figures ably testify to the superiority of the Pirates' attack. The lineup:

Pirates—3.		Hawks—2.
Miller	G	Gardiner
McCaffrey	R. D.	Taylor
Smith	L. D.	Wentworth
Frederickson	C	Ripley
Darragh	R. W.	A. McKinnon
Milks	L. W.	Arbour

Pirate spares—Drury, Lowrey, Bouchard, McCurry, Holway, J. McKinnon and Spring; Hawk spares—Gottselig, Irvin, March and Couture.

First period summary—Scoring: Irvin (Couture), 14:06. Penalty—Ripley.

Second period summary—Scoring: Lowrey (Drury), 4:39; Darragh (Smith), 9:55; March (Ripley), 14:10. Penalties—R. Smith, Darragh, Drury (major), Ripley (major).

Third period summary—Scoring: none. Penalties—J. McKinnon and Frederickson.

Overtime period summary—Scoring: Milks (Frederickson), 8:39. Penalty—Taylor. Referee—Jerry LaFlamme.

BRUINS GAIN TIE

BOSTON, March 6.—(AP.)—The Boston Bruins jumped into a tie with the New York Rangers for the lead in the American division of the National Hockey League here last night by defeating the world champions, 2 to 1.

COUGARS ON TOP

Detroit, March 6.—(AP.)—Montreal Maroons put up a bitter second and third period battle here last night, but received almost a death blow to their play-off chances when they were downed by the Detroit Cougars, 3 to 1, in a National League Hockey game.

AMERICANS-SENATORS TIE

OTTAWA, March 6.—(AP.)—Two of the best defensive teams in the National Hockey League, the New York Americans and Ottawa Senators, divided the points in a close checking game here last night. The result was a 1 to 1 draw.

FORMER BOXER ANNOUNCER

struction materials. One of his strongest boosters is Squire Mike Kane, of Aliquippa, a boxing commission deputy.

STARTED AS BOXER

Few fans who have seen the dapper-appearing Eberle in his new role of announcer connect him up with the chap who fought from 1922 to the latter part of 1926 under the ring de guerre of K. O. Johnny Laughlin. Yet he is one and the same.

Laughlin's ring career included bouts in Salem, O., Erie, Niles, O., Youngstown, Woodlawn, Beaver Falls, Rochester, Pa., Coraopolis and other towns, but he never got out on the big circuits. He once appeared in an exhibition bout with the late Harry Greb, former American light-heavyweight and world middleweight champion, at the Pittsburgh Lyceum. He scored a number of knockouts and lost only a handful of bouts in a list embracing more than 75. Among others, he fought Toughey Murray, of Ambridge, a good one in his time; K. O. Jitney, of Rochester, Pa., Andy Stahura, of Braddock, who still is boxing; Shifty Dando, of Niles, O., and Jimmy Muche, of Youngstown. Some of these he met several times.

The outstanding feature of Eberle's work as an announcer is his originality. He does things in his own way and makes a pleasing appearance and flashes an infectious smile that wins the fans. In addition, every word that he utters can be plainly understood, for he cuts out all excess verbiage, speaks slowly and distinctly and bites off the words incisively. He starts off by holding one hand aloft and blowing a small whistle to attract the attention of the fans and then says his little piece and disappears. He injects certain gestures that emphasize his announcements and his entire performance is that of an artist. No man ever took to announcing a boxing bout better than this new star. The first time I saw and heard him do his stuff, I was struck with his possibilities, and when I spoke to him later I found him as pleasant as he is capable.

HAS ORIGINAL SYSTEM

In announcing the weights of the boxers, Eberle uses a system of his own whereby he holds a small piece of paper, on which are written the weights and indentities of all of the men on the card, carefully folded in the palm of one hand, and his announcements are very much to the point. He leaves out all unnecessary details. In announcing the winner he again makes the grand gesture of the born showman.

I knew he is an asset to the box offices of the clubs that use him because on the two occasions that he has not been used at the Moose Club here after having made his local debut, the fans yelled for him. "Bring on that GOOD announcer," was the gist of their remarks. He will announce all of the Moose Club shows hereafter.

Just now Eberle is looking forward to the night when he will get an opportunity to announce in spacious Motor Square Garden and probably at a big open-air show in Pittsburgh. When it comes, and I hope it will be soon, he'll go over with a bang on the big time.

PRACTICES AT HOME

I asked him how he developed all of his original quirks in ring-announcing, and he replied:

"Oh, I took myself seriously after I got started in it, and I did a lot of practicing."

"Where?" I asked.

"Well, to tell the truth," was his reply, "I did most of it at home in the bathroom."

And why not? Isn't that where most of our homegrown singers practice their yodeling?

CATHOLIC HIGH TOURNAMENT DRAW MADE

The draw for the first annual state Catholic High School basketball tournament, being staged under the auspices of Duquesne University on the Bluff court tomorrow, Friday and Saturday of this week, was announced by Director of Athletics Elmer Layden last nightt.

Thirteen teams are entered in the event. Play will begin tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, with five games on the program for the opening day and night.

At 2 bells tomorrow, Sacred Heart High of Pittsburgh will meet St. Stanislaus, of Erie. The second afternoon contest will bring together Cathedral Prep of Erie and Catholic High of Altoona. In the third game, St. Francis Prep will battle Bethlehem Catholic.

In the evening, beginning at 7:30, St. Gabriel of Hazelton will meet St. Ttius of Titusville and in the second game, the Duke Preps will oppose St. Michael of Greenville.

Northeast High of Philadelphia and St. Josephs of Williamsport and Central Catholic of Pittsburgh drew byes in the first round.

In the second round contests, to be played Friday morning and afternoon, the winner of the Sacred Heart-St. Stanislaus contest will play St. Josephs and the victor in the Cathedral Prep-Altoona fracas will tangle with the winner of the St. Francis-Bethlehem struggle.

Central High of Pittsburgh plays the winner of the St. Gabriel-St. Titus affair and Northeast meets either the Duke Preps or St. Michaels.

HALL LEADS LAYTON

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP.)—Allan Hall, of St. Louis, had gained a commanding lead over Johnny Layton world three cushion billiards champion, at the end of the fourth block of their 500-point match last night. The score was 200 to 156.

Beaver Falls Wins; Evens Series Score

The Beaver Falls High School and Braddock Junior High School boys and the Leetsdale girls scored victories in cage tourney games last night. The Beaver Falls passers evened the Beaver Valley title series score with Ambridge High by winning, 26-16. The Braddock Juniors won the first of a three-game series for the Allegheny junior championship by conquering the Carnegie Junior High passers, 17-10, and the Leetsdale High girls went into the semi-final round in the Allegheny County girls' championships by defeating the Turtle Creek High girls, 31-28.

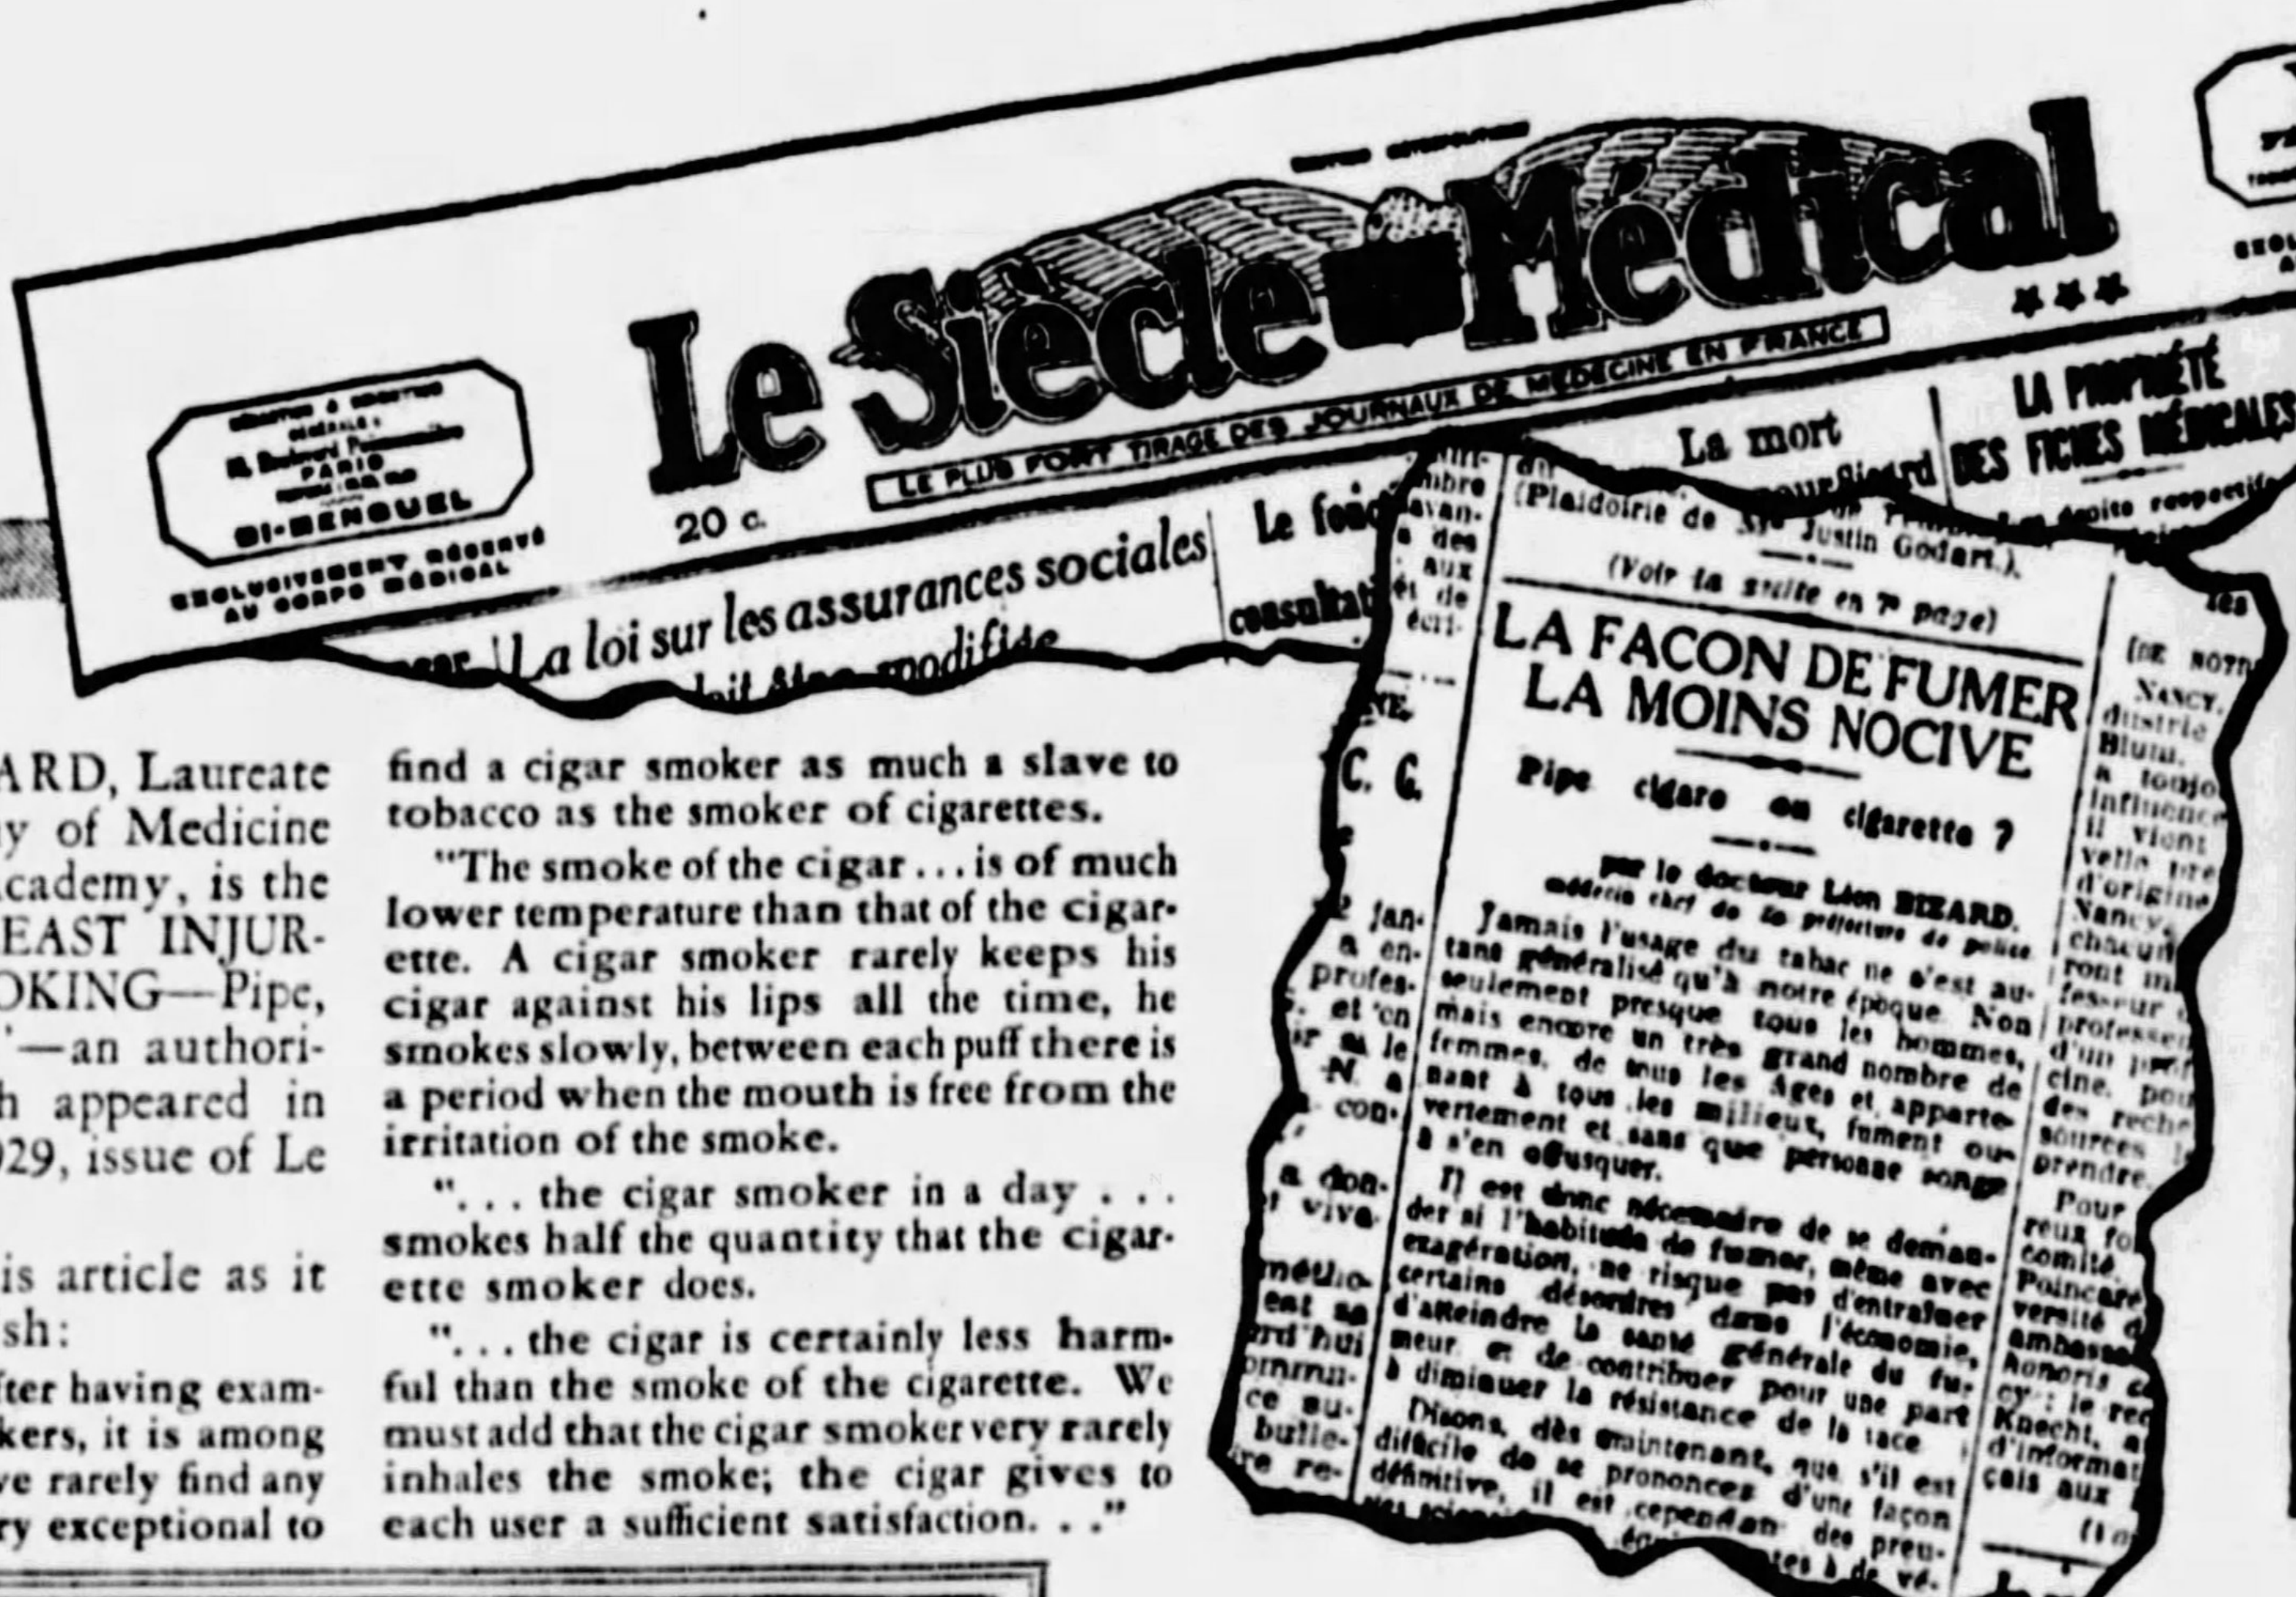
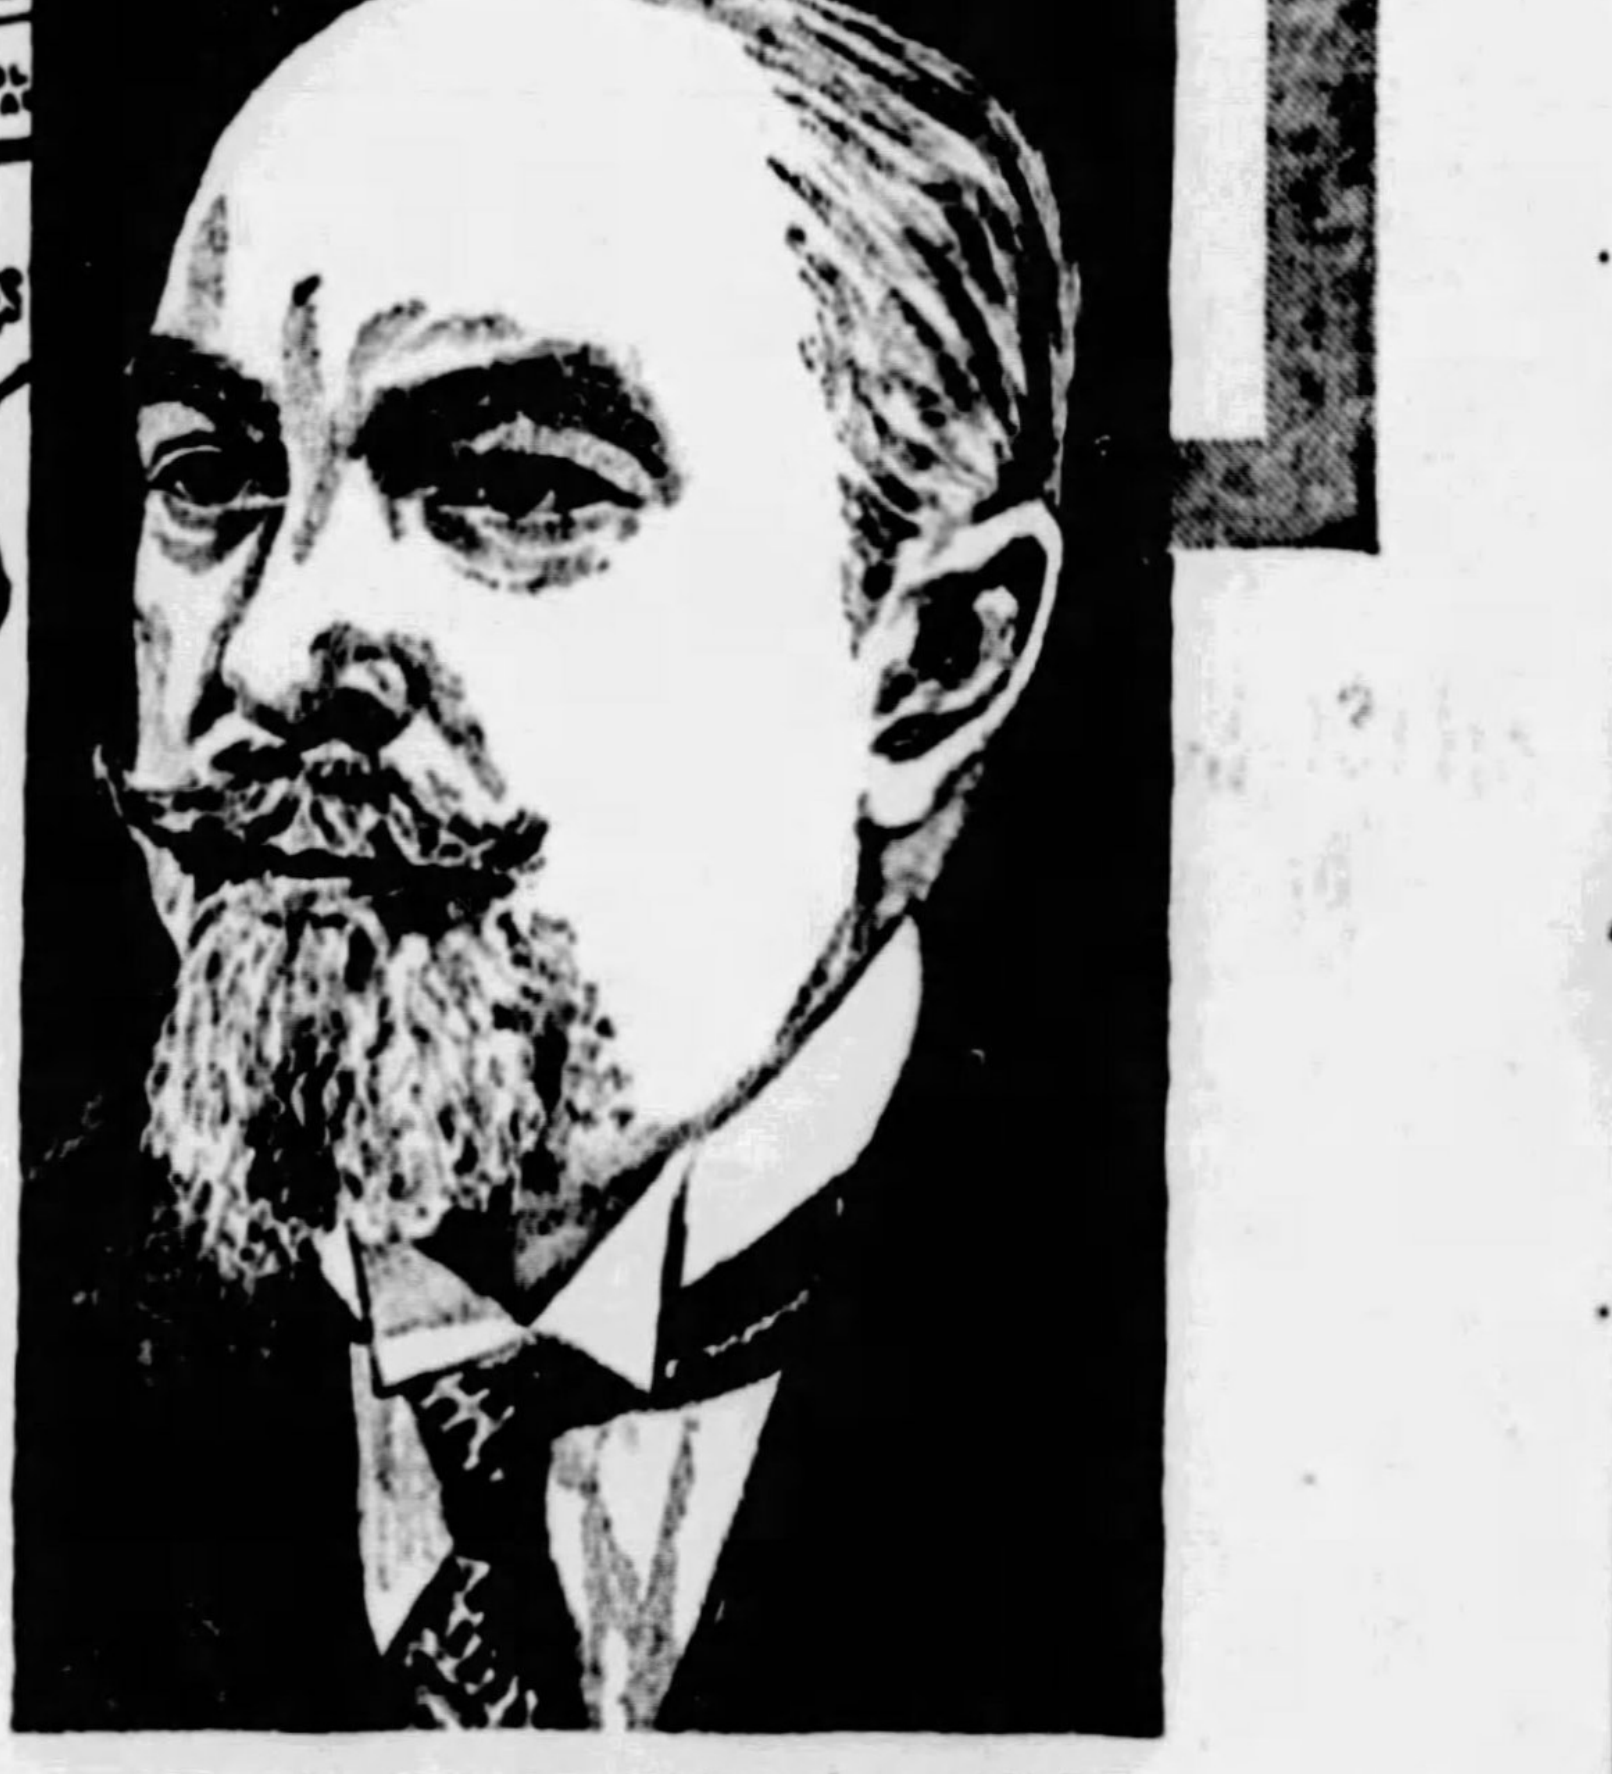
MEN WHO SMOKE AND GUARD THEIR HEALTH, SMOKE CIGARS

THAT THE CIGAR IS THE MOST HEALTHFUL FORM IN WHICH TOBACCO CAN BE SMOKED... is proved by article in "LE SIECLE MEDICAL"

The Outstanding Medical Journal of France



Le Siècle Médical
20 c.
La loi sur les assurances sociales
LA FAÇON DE FUMER LA MOINS NOCIVE
Pipe cigare ou cigarette ?



Doctor Leon Bizard, Laureate of the Academy of Medicine and of the French Academy, is a member of the Faculty of the University of Paris. He has been chief of the Medical Staff of the St. Lazare Prison for 30 years, and to the Prefecture of Police of Paris.

DR. LEON BIZARD, Laureate of the Academy of Medicine and of the French Academy, is the author of "THE LEAST INJURIOUS WAY OF SMOKING—Pipe, Cigar or Cigarette?"—an authoritative article which appeared in the February 1st, 1929, issue of Le Siecle Medical.

To quote from this article as it translates into English:

"From observation, after having examined a great many smokers, it is among the cigar smokers that we rarely find any local irritation. It is very exceptional to find a cigar smoker as much a slave to tobacco as the smoker of cigarettes.

"The smoke of the cigar . . . is of much lower temperature than that of the cigarette. A cigar smoker rarely keeps his cigar against his lips all the time, he smokes slowly, between each puff there is a period when the mouth is free from the irritation of the smoke.

". . . the cigar smoker in a day . . . smokes half the quantity that the cigarette smoker does.

". . . the cigar is certainly less harmful than the smoke of the cigarette. We must add that the cigar smoker very rarely inhales the smoke; the cigar gives to each user a sufficient satisfaction. . ."

La Palina is America's Largest Selling High Grade Cigar (OVER A MILLION A DAY). Its outstanding popularity is the best proof of its unusual quality.

In consequence, it is obvious that the man who confines his smoking to cigars secures maximum enjoyment with minimum effect on his well-being.

Therefore, if you would feel better, with no cough or throat irritation, improved nerves, increased vitality and less of that tired feeling—test the opinion of Dr. Bizard—smoke cigars exclusively for one week.

To really test cigars with justice to yourself and to cigars, we suggest the test be made with La Palinas. Since they are America's largest selling high-grade cigars—over a million a day—you can smoke them confident that they will please you.

The sensational success of La Palina results from an exclusive and secret blend which combines for the first time in one cigar, an extreme mildness with a rare richness of both taste and fragrance.

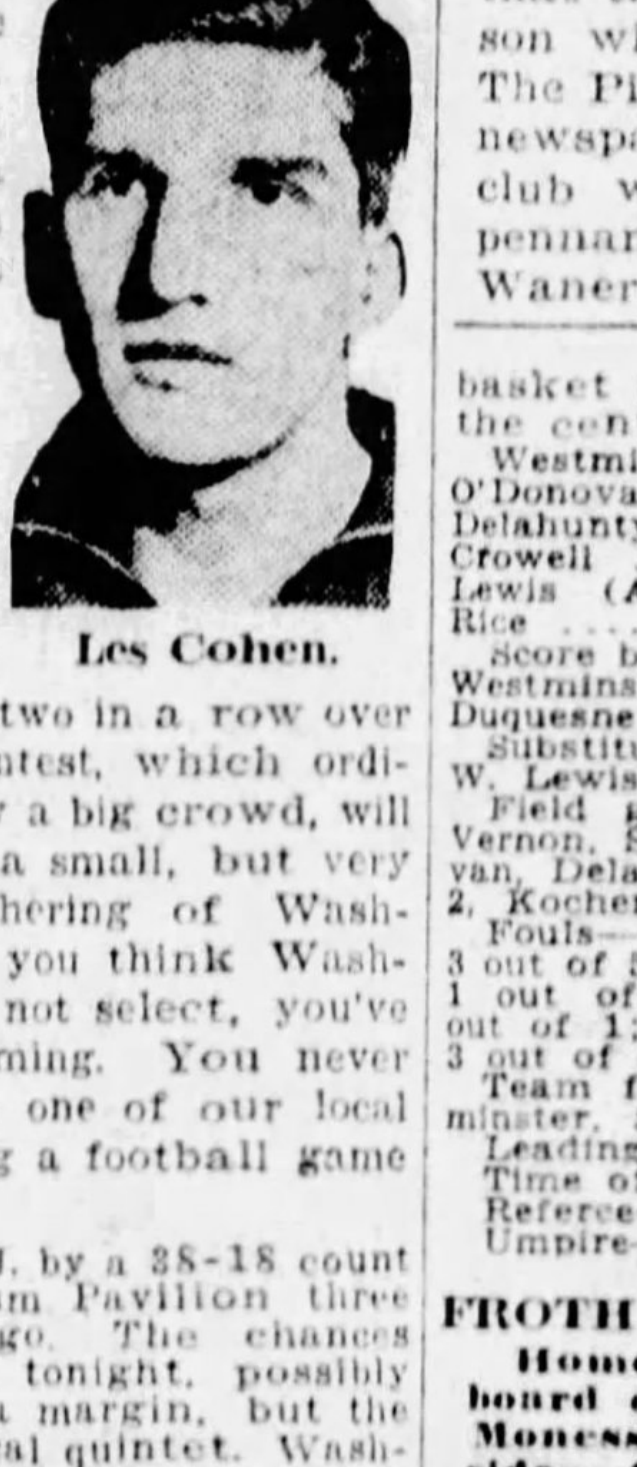
W. & J. QUINTET HOST TO PITT TONIGHT

By JESS CARVER.

Andy Kerr and his Wash-Jeff Presidents will get their second shot at the Pitt Panthers at Washington tonight, when the teams hook up in the next to the last Big Four game of the season. The Prexies and West Virginia will bring the campaign to a close at Morgantown Saturday night.



Les Cohen.

Fresh from the decisive victory over West Virginia last Saturday, the Pitt team hopes to make it two in a row over W. & J. The contest, which ordinarily would draw a big crowd, will be played before a small, but very distinguished gathering of Wash-Jeff students. If you think Wash-Jeff students are not select, you've another think coming. You never saw 'em work on one of our local inns after winning a football game here.

Pitt took W. & J. by a 38-18 count out in the Stadium Pavilion three or four weeks ago. The chances are they'll repeat tonight, possibly not by as great a margin, but the odds favor the local quintet. Wash-Jeff gave West Virginia a tough ball game in Washington last week, playing them even-up until the closing minutes of the contest, but Pitt gave the Mountaineers somewhat of an evening last Saturday, and right in their own baliwick.

CLOSE WITH STATE

After tonight's struggle, the Pitt team will have but one more to play, the engagement with Penn State at State College Saturday night.

West Virginia meets a tough one in Davis-Elkins at Elkins tonight, another return match. Elkins was beaten at Morgantown earlier in the year. After that game, the well known Cam Henderson told this correspondent he'd "take" West Virginia when he got them down on his floor. We will see what we will see tomorrow night . . . and so will Mr. Henderson.

DUKES BEATEN

Westminster practically assured itself of winding up the season in second place in the district rankings and of third place in the "conference by taking the Dukes for the second time this year on the Bluff court last evening. The score of the ball game was 25 to 20.

Another of those packed houses was in attendance. They were jammed in like flies on a custard pie last night, and the "take" was one of those that cause Graduate Manager Holohan to sleep well.

The Titans exhibited a smart and well trained club, outplaying the local collegians from start to finish. The defense refused to crack and did not permit Duquesne to work the ball under the baskets for close up shots at any point of the game. Until the Daviesmen began popping away from out in front late in the game, too late, as it proved, field goals in the Duke camp were very scarce.

TITANS GRAB LEAD

Westminster led, 12 to 6, at the half. Delahunty and Acting Capt. Tudor Lewis each threw a pair in the first half. Babe O'Donovan, the most aggressive forward in the section, worthy of rank with Hyatt and Glenn, tossed in one and Red Crowell also sunk one from right under the net.

O'Donovan was the dominating figure of the contest until he went out on personal fouls. He is a great ball hawk and a fine floorman.

In the second half, the Dukes seemed due to a good clubbing, until both Delahunty and O'Donovan were retired. Still, field goals by Rice, Crowell and Kocheran and some excellent foul shooting kept the Titan margin safe.

Both Ben Lubic and Stephens sank field goals late in the half to put the Dukes fairly close to their United Presbyterian rivals. Ganzy Benedict scored the fifth Duquesne basket on a long one from close to the center of the floor. The lineup:

Westminster—25.		Duquesne—20.
O'Donovan	F	Lubic
Delahunty	F	Benedict
Crowell	C	Vernon
Lewis (A.C.)	G	Rosenberg
Rice	G	Stephens

Score by periods—
Westminster	12	13—25
Duquesne	6	14—20

Substitutions — Westminster, Kocheran, W. Lewis.

Field goals—Dukes, Lubic 2, Benedict, Vernon, Stephens 2. Westminster, O'Donovan, Delahunty 2, Crowell 2, Lewis 2, Rice 2, Kocheran.

Fouls—Dukes, Lubic, 3 out of 3; Benedict, 3 out of 5; Rosenberg, 1 out of 1; Stephens, 1 out of 1. Westminster—O'Donovan, 0 out of 1; Crowell, 2 out of 3; Kocheran, 3 out of 3; W. Lewis, 0 out of 1.

Team fouls—Dukes, 8 out of 10; Westminster, 5 out of 7.

Leading scorer—Lubic, Dukes, 7 points.

Time of periods—20 minutes.

Referee—Buck Snyder.

Umpire—Beggs Snyder.

PITTSBURGH MAN REGAINS HEALTH

Claims Famous New Medicine, Ten Herbs, Ended Years of Suffering.

For more than a year, Ten Herbs, the famous new natural medicine, has been a remarkable success throughout this section, where it has relieved thousands of men and women of health troubles that had resisted many other medicines. A medicine must have exceptional merit to do this—it must be totally different from other medical preparations on the market. There is little wonder so many sufferers from stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders are calling daily at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, where this herbal compound is being introduced.

"Ten Herbs gave me complete relief from stomach trouble, from which I had been a chronic sufferer for years," was the recent statement of Mr. J. A. Fredrick, 13 Elkton street, Pittsburgh. "I had indigestion in its worst form. After eating, I would bloat with gas and have sharp pains in the region of my heart. My breath was offensive, and I had a bad taste in my mouth. There were severe pains in my limbs. I would almost fall over from dizziness, especially if I would bend over. It was necessary for me to take laxatives practically all the time. I became quite nervous, and could not sleep well.

"A friend recommended Ten Herbs to me, because it had done wonders for him. This medicine made me feel one hundred per cent better. Indigestion has entirely disappeared—no more gas or bloating. My appetite has improved greatly, and the bad taste is gone from my mouth. I have not had a dizzy spell for some time. My bowels have been regulated. I sleep soundly, and feel better in every way. I am pleased to recommend Ten Herbs to all who are troubled as I was."

Ten Herbs is a splendid mixture of ten wonderful herbal ingredients which cleanse the human system and drive out old poisons, impurities and foreign substances, which may have been collecting for a long time and which cause so much misery. Ten Herbs goes to the very source of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel "orders. As a result, there are usually new feelings of health and strength over the body in general within a remarkably short time; and, as the medicine continues its work within the system, there are often amazing results, so that suffering that had been going on for years is relieved. Ten Herbs is a splendid tonic for persons recovering from the effects of influenza and grippe.

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May's Drug Stores.

Waner Situation Remains at Standstill

The Waner situation remains at a standstill with both parties involved willing to let the other make the first move to bring about a settlement in the contract controversy. In answer to a query sent him, Paul Waner announced in Oklahoma City yesterday that he has not been in touch with the Pirates for more than two weeks and that it now was up to the club to make the next move.

Out in California, Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, expressed a similar attitude, stating that the club would start the season without the famous brothers. The Pirate owner in a statement to newspapermen was certain the club would make a bid for the pennant despite the absence of the Waners.

YANKS CONSIDER CAMP ON COAST

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 6.—(INS.)—The training camp of the New York Yankees was buzzing today with an apparently well-founded rumor that Miller Huggins will take his home run circus to California for training next spring. Huggins did not deny the report, and city officials of this city are said to be seeking some other big league club to train here next year.

William Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs and Los Angeles, has offered the Yankees the use of the Cubs' camp at Catalina Island or the Los Angeles plant. Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, is expected to decide the matter upon his arrival here next week.

GIANTS MEET COLLEGIANS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 6.—(INS.)—The New York Giants play their first exhibition game of the season today, taking on the Texas University nine at Austin. The regulars warmed up for the game by handing the scrubs a 10-to-0 drubbing yesterday.

JOHN MILJUS REPORTS

NEW ORLEANS, March 6.(INS.)—With big John Miljus reporting, all of the Cleveland battery men were in camp for spring training today. In addition to the pitchers and catchers, Eddie Morgan, outfielder, and Carl Lind, infielder, were also capering about the field in voluntary training today, despite the fact that they were not required to report until next Sunday. The training squad now numbers 22.

HEYDLER VISITS PHILS

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 6.—(INS.)—President John A. Heydler was due to look the Phils over today. He will be here several days. Rain hampered practice yesterday but Burt Shotten hoped to send his 27 men in camp through a long drill today to make up for the lost session. All the remaining members of the team are expected in camp by Saturday.

TIGERS NURSE SORE ARMS

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 6.—(INS.)—Over-zealous Tigers—rookies and regulars — tenderly flexed sore throwing arms here today as a result of the intensive display of pep during the first week of training. All of the pitchers who are suffering from lame soupbones have been relieved of hurling practice and will chase flies until their arms recover their resiliency.

SHIRES MAY SUCCEED KAMM

DALLAS, Tex., March 6.—(INS.)—The first full-length game of the season was to be attempted by the White Sox today. The squad has been divided into two teams—the regulars and the goofs. Rumor had it today that Art Shires, the young first sacker, will succeed Willie Kamm as field captain.

CUBS STAGE CLUB GAME

AVALON, Cal., March 6.—(INS.)—The third game of the series between the Avalons and Catalinas, names given the Cubs practice squads, was scheduled for this afternoon. For the past two days Boss McCarthy has been putting the boys through routine practice sessions. These games are taken seriously, none of the players being allowed to clown or loaf.

GENEVA IS VICTOR

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 6.—Geneva College defeated Grove City College in the final game of the season here last night, 36 to 19. Bobby Angelo, who finished his career with the Grovers, received an ovation. The lineup:

Grove City—19.		Geneva—36.
Angelo	F	Friedman
Waleski	F	Paulsey
Reeves	C	Ransom
Caulfield	G	Emrick
Ryan	G	Merriman

Substitutions—Burke for Caulfield, Waleski for Angelo, Bartlebaugh for Waleski, Brown for Waleski, Bruce for Paulsey, Montgomery for Merriman, McKinney for Emerick. Field goals—Angelo, Waleski, Reeves 2, Cauldeld 3, Ryan, Freedman 7, Emrick 4, Paulsey, Ransom 2. Foul goals—Grove City, 3 out of 7; Geneva, 8 out of 14. Time of halves—20 minutes. Official—Boister.

Successor to Tex To Be Chosen Today

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP.)—The job of choosing a successor to the late Tex Rickard is expected to monopolize a joint meeting today of the board of directors and executive committee of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

PROMOTERS VIE FOR WRESTLING RIGHTS HERE

Wrestling shows are coming back to Pittsburgh again. There is no doubt about that. Announcement was made a few weeks ago that Dick Curley, of Chicago, was planning to come in here and put on bigtime matches in Motor Square Garden, beginning some time in April, and now who should appear on the scene but Philadelphia's big promoter, Ray Fabiani, all set to go with shows in the Moose Temple, downtown, where Francis Flynn has made boxing pay.

Fabiani made a flying visit to Pittsburgh yesterday and was here long enough for a confab with Commissioner Havey J. Boyle and to sign a lease for the use of the Temple for weekly Monday night shows. He will stage his first offering one week from next Monday night and will be prepared to announce his card within a few days. When he departed last night for Philly, where he has a big show on tap, he left behind one of his co-workers, Leon Balkin, who will make his home in Pittsburgh and attend to the details of handling the shows while Fabiani makes the matches in Philadelphia and comes here for the bouts.

LONDOS IN OPENER

Fabiani has the whole-hearted support of Chairman Frank Wiener, of the Commission, who has been impressed by the success he has made of staging mat shows in Philadelphia. It is likely that Jim Londos, the Greek, who is a favorite here, will appear in the main bout of the first show at the Moose Temple. Later Fabiani plans to show all of the other stars, from Champion Gus Sonnenberg on down the line.

Meanwhile Curley is champing at the bit in Chicago, awaiting the commission's decision on his application for a sanction to show Sonnenberg at the Garden and back up the headline bout with two other matches involving topnotchers, the same being Hans Steinke, the German champion, who was crowned world champion by the New York Commission a year or so ago, and Joe Malciewicz, who chased Joe Stecher out of the ring in Boston. Curley has arranged for the use of the Garden for his show, but has been unable to go ahead with his plans because of the delay in getting the o. k., from the commission. He plans to move to Pittsburgh and settle here if he can break in and make good at his favorite sport.

When Curley hears that Fabiani has beaten him to the punch and received the commission sanction after he got his bid in first, there likely will be plenty of verbal fireworks, for Curley will come on here to fight for the right to compete in a field that was inactive until he let it be known that he saw possibilities in it.

CARD COMPLETED

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has completed his card for his weekly boxing show tomorrow night, with the signing of Jess Hoak, of McKeesport, to box Bob Collura of Beechview, in the opening bout. Cuddy DeMarco and Larry Brignolia clash for the third time in the 10-round windup, Leo Kyburski meets Johnny Windsor in the semi-final and Chuck Zeinack and Joe Poole will appear in the second event.

Jack Zivic's bout with Sam Bruce, Buffalo Negro, is off again. Jack suffered a butt over his left eye, which opened an old cut, in training yesterday and has had to call off the engagement. The accident will keep him on the sidelines a few more weeks.

Johnny Smackey, Canonsburg lightweight, is anxious to show oftener in the rings around Pittsburgh. He stopped Mike Hogan in his only appearance here, at the Moose Temple.

Hunter Beats Mercer In Palm Beach Play

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 6.—(AP.)—Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., second ranking tennis player in the country, today defeated Fritz Mercur, seventh ranking player, Bethlehem, Pa., in their quarter-final match of the Florida men's singles tennis tournament. The score was 6-1, 6-4.

John Hennessey, fourth ranking player, of Indianapolis, Ind., beat G. Carlton Shafer, of Philadelphia, 7-5, 10-8, in one of the closest matches of the tourney, and John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., youth who is ranked as the country's sixth best player, eliminated W. H. Story, of Freeport, L. I., 6-2, 6-2.

FOX HUNTERS ELECT

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 6.—At a meeting here of the Tri-State Fox Hunters Association officers were chosen for the year. Those elected were: President, Eli S. Grable, Washington (re-elected); vice president, Ralph Burns, Claysville; secretary, Elmer E. Stollar, East Finley; John Moore, Pleasant Grove, treasurer.

Comorosky Suffers Painful Injury To Great Toe

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 6.—Outfielder Adams Comorosky today limped around the Pirate camp nursing what seems to be the most painful wound sustained since the team landed.

The Polish flyer yesterday was struck on the great toe of the left foot with a ball that flickered off his own bat. Commy topped his swing, the rocket hitting him severely on the nail of the toe. The medical men had to drill a hole in the nail last night to give him relief, and Adam probably will lose the nail.

VOTEL PRIZES ANNOUNCED

East Pittsburgh bowlers were the big winners in the Votel Brothers' fifth annual tenpin tournament, according to the official prize list, announced today.

A. Bennett and J. Kalman, of East Pittsburgh, rolled 1,314 to win the doubles first prize of $75, and Sunny Guest, also of East Pittsburgh, annexed $50 for rolling the high score of 671 in the singles. Wheeling and Akron bowlers also shared in the prize money. The official prize list follows:

without the Waners—at least for the present campaign.

The whole baseball colony on the coast is discussing Paul and Lloyd and the publicity they are getting will not hurt their drawing power when they do return to the lineup. There is no doubt that the two little Oklahomans constitute one of the most remarkable family duos ever reaching the big leagues.

Joe Devine, native son, almost has to be tied when some of the easterners complain about conditions in Paso Robles. Joe becomes particularly hot if there is any unfavorable talk about the weather.

"Some of the fellows give me a pain in the neck," exclaimed Joe. "If a little wind blows up you hear some guy from a wind-swept section of the country complaining. And the kid that kicks about the wind and the service in the dining room probably has been eating flannel cakes all winter."

Joe Dawson takes his aviation seriously. Joe wants to keep his hand in and to retain his pilot's license. So when he gets an opportunity he goes for an hour's spin in the air. His employers were opposed to this practice, but Joe eventually won his point.

Walter Schmidt, former star catcher of the Pirates, is a member of the receiving staff of the San Francisco Seals, the same team on which he starred before he reached the Buccaneer brigade.

Mrs. Riley Playing In Florida Tourney

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 6.—The first round of match play in the Florida East Coast women's championship for the Mrs. W. R. Kenan, Jr., cup, is being contested today over St. Augustine links. Among those participating is Mrs L. G. Riley, of Pittsburgh, who is matching strokes with Mrs. E. Hawley, of Detroit, in the second sixteen.

In the championship flight, Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., is opposing Mrs. J. Laroque Anderson, of Garden City, N. Y., Glenna Collett is playing Dorothy Benthan, of Great Neck, N. Y., Helen Hicks, of Long Island, who won the Bermuda, Miami and Florida titles, is teeing off against Madge Miller, of Detroit. Virginia Van Wie is meeting Mrs. E. C. Stone, of Boston.

Long's Sport Comment

similar liking for the game among the sport fans of this city and vicinity.

As stated, however, the Eastern promoter will bring his mat shows into Pittsburgh only on probation. Commissioner Havey J. Boyle, with his usual commendable policy of protecting the fans and seeing that they get their money's worth, has notified the promoters that the continuance of the proposed series of matches will be contingent upon the first cards being above suspicion and satisfactory in every way.

Dick Curley

The commissioner cannot refuse a permit for such a show under the law, which legalizes wrestling as well as boxing under certain conditions and provisions, and his attitude that Pittsburgh cannot refuse to countenance, on trial, at least, something that is permitted in Philadelphia in the same state is a logical one.

But he has taken a praiseworthy stand in insisting that he and the local fans be "shown" before he will permit the series of matches to be carried out to the planned lengths. It is the right step, and one that will be generally approved. If the shows are not what they should be, they can be speedily terminated. Should the fans desire to take a chance on what is being termed "cleaned-up" wrestling they are entitled to the privilege, if it may be called a privilege. And Fabiani isn't the only promoter aiming to break into Pittsburgh, by the way. Dick Curley also wants to come into town with a mat show in which he plans to exhibit Gus Sonnenberg, present world champion, or, rather, present holder of the world title, but it is understood that he will not be given a permit unless the man whom he picks to go on with Sonnenberg meets with the approval of the commission as a capable opponent.

LAKE COAL CASE BACK IN HANDS OF I. C. C.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

The Supreme Court yesterday avoided giving a direct answer to the question, "Has the Interstate Commerce Commission power to fix minimum as well as maximum freight rates?" Had a definite decision been handed down, it would have had a far reaching effect on the commission's powers in future disputes such as the Lake Cargo Coal case.

The court did, however, give the commission and the coal producers in this district a temporary victory. Although the case was dismissed, the court set aside the injunction which restrained the commission from preventing the Southern carriers from placing a reduction of 20 cents a ton in the freight rate on coal hauled from West Virginia fields to the Great Lakes.

The Lake Cargo case, so vital to the coal industry here, is again thrown back on the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commision. After the commission's attitude is made known, there is still a possibility that the railroads serving the Southern fields may again disregard the ruling and bring the entire matter up before the Supreme Court at some future date.

What the commission will do now, that its hands are untied, still remains to be seen. Two years ago, following the last battle of the two coal districts at a long series of hearings, the commission decided that the Pittsburgh operators were entitled to an advantage of 45 cents a ton, over the West Virginia fields in recognition of the shorter distance from Pittsburgh to the Lakes.

Previous to this, the differential was 25 cents a ton. To bring about the adjustment, the commission ordered the railroads serving this district to cut their rates 20 cents. The roads serving the Southern fields made a similar cut, which restored the old relationship. The commission ordered the Southern cut set aside. Then the Southern railroads secured an injunction against the commission. The case just tried before the Supreme Court was on the commission's appeal against this injunction.

But while all this legal dispute was being carried on, the railroads serving this district made another cut of 20 cents a ton to give Pittsburgh the advantage, which the commission had originally ordered.

A conference of both groups of railroads followed. The Southern roads had lost 20 cents a ton on all coal they moved to the lakes. The Northern had lost 40 cents. Neither group was any better off than before. As a result of this, the railroads arranged a compromise differential of 35 cents a ton. To do this, the Southern roads advanced their rates 20 cents and the Northern roads advanced theirs 30 cents, effective January 1, 1929.

It was this action which caused the Supreme Court to decline to settle definitely, the commission's powers. The Southern roads no longer had the forbidden rates in effect and the court refused to pass on a technical point of law which was not backed by an actual grievance. This view aws taken in spite of the fact that both sides were anxious to know definitely how they stood.

This district's freight rates on coal shipped to the lakes, now depend on whether the commission decides to let the compromise stand or whether it will insist that a 45 cent differential be again established.

The decision surprised Pittsburgh operators, and last night, none seemed to know what the next move might be.

"We do not know what we may, can or will do now," said C. E. Lesher, vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, largest of the Northern producers involved.

That neither side had gained an advantage through the court's action was the opinion of James D. Francis, chairman of the committee which acted for the Southern operators.

"We are not satisfied with the results, but the Northern operators doubtless hold the same view, because they wanted a greater differential than the compromise of 35 cents a ton," he said.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP.)—Conflicting price movements marked the early trading in today's dull bond market, with yesterday's leaders for the advance yielding to profit-taking. Trading in the foreign list was quiet, Mexican bonds finding few takers.

Anaconda Copper 7s, which yesterday ran up to a record price for all time, sold off more than 2 points to 243 on realizing sales on the company's announced intention of retiring all funded debt. The 6s were traded in fractionally under the redemption price of 105.

A one-point advance in Abraham & Straus 5½s followed the announcement of negotiations for merger of the Brooklyn store with Filene's Sons & Co. of Boston.

International Telephone convertible 4½s were steady at yesterday's closing level of 115½, while Utilities Power and Light 5½s were under pressure.

Atchison convertible 4½s continued their improvement, while Southern Pacific convertible 4½s were fractionally lower.

Krueger and Toll Company, of Stockholm, Sweden, largest stockholder in the Swedish Match Company, is entering the investment market tomorrow with an issue of $50,000,000 5 per cent secured sinking fund debentures.

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

STOCK PRICES SLIP AFTER RALLY

NEW YORK, March 6—(AP.)—The stock market displayed another complete reversal of form today, rallying briskly in the morning under the leadership of the copper shares and then turning reactionary when the call money rate was marked up from 8 to 10 per cent. Many of the early gains of 1 to 7 points were canceled, and a long list of issues sold 1 to 5 points under yesterday's final quotations.

The rise in the call money rate was accompanied by only a moderate calling of loans, indicating the extreme sensitiveness of the money market on the approach of heavy mid-month tax and treasury financing demands. Bankers recently have been showing a reluctance to replace called loans, and there has been a marked reduction in the supply coming here from outside sources. The recent decline in sterling here has revived fears in London of a further American drain on British gold, but bankers believe that the Bank of England would again increase its discount rate if such a movement assumed large proportions.

Coppers made a good response to the Anaconda Copper Company's funded debt retirement program. Utah jumped 15 points to a new high at 240 and Anaconda ran up 4½ points to a new peak at 163. Kennecott, Nevada and Chile also moved into new high ground. Some of the gains were cancelled in the early afternoon selling movement.

American Express soared 28 points in the early trading to 330, duplicating the year's high record. International Silver jumped 6½ points to a new top at 150 and Associated Dry Goods, Curtiss, Johns Manville, Stewart-Warner and Tobacco Products sold 4 to 5 points higher before the selling movement started.

Radio (old stock) was hammered down 7 points below last night's close to 381, duplicating yesterday's low; Otis Elevator broke 5 points and International Telephone, Pere Marquette, Spicer Manufacturing, Union Carbide and Atlantic Coast Line all sold 3 to 4½ points below yesterday's final quotations.

There was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. The weekly steel trade reviews continued optimistic, Iron Age reporting that pig iron output registered another gain in February with steel production for the whole industry ranging from between 90 and 95 per cent. National Bellas Hess announced the acquisition of 11 southern stores, and dividends were inaugurated on the common stock of the National Rubber Machinery Company.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Raw sugar was steady and unchanged today at 3.74c for spots duty paid. No sales were reported. Raw futures were less active, but the undertone was steady, probably reflecting the better advices from the refined trade and expectations of continued good inquiry for raws from domestic refiners. The market opened one point lower to one point higher, with some liquidation of near positions. There was good outside buying and trade support and following the call a steadier tone developed. The list at midday was net unchanged to two points higher.

Most of the refiners announced an advance of 15 points today to 4.90 cents for fine granulated. It was reported in trade circles that yesterday's business in refined sugar at the 4.75c level was the largest for any one day in the history of the trade. Estimates ran as high as more than 750,000 tons. Some buyers were reported to have taken on enough sugar to last them for six weeks or more.

Likes New Haven Prospects.

Outlook for the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad is encouraging, according to John J. Pelley, new president of the road. His impression of the property and organization is most favorable and he has particularly noted that a great deal has been done in recent years toward increasing the capacity of the road. This increased capacity has reached the stage where materially more business can be handled and it is Mr. Pelley's plan to do the utmost not only to keep the industries at present in New England, but to attract and encourage establishment of new industries and plants to the territory along the New Haven road. Mr. Pelley finds his position as regards the textile industry practically reversed from that while he was head of the Central Railroad of Georgia. While there he established an industrial department which made efforts for mills to come to Georgia. These efforts are reflected in the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company exercising its option on a tire fabric plant at Thomaston, Ga., with plans to triple the present capacity of the mill. Now as head of the New Haven, Mr. Pelley's activities will be in an opposite direction, that of retaining the mills in New England.

Starrett Corporation.

The Starrett Corporation, which has been organized to engage, directly or through its subsidiaries, in building operations, construction financing, and in the ownership, financing and management of real estate undertakings throughout the United States, will have authorized capitalization of $50,000,000 preferred stock and 1,500,000 shares of no par value common stock, it was announced yesterday. In view of the three-fold character of its activities, this corporation will be one of the largest enterprises of its kind. Not all of the authorized capital is to be issued immediately. Upon completion of financing to be undertaken shortly, there will be outstanding $17,200,000 of 6 per cent cumulative preferred and 380,000 shares of common stock, with no funded debt. This outstanding preferred stock will consist of $15,000,000 of the par value of $50 a share with common stock purchase privilege, and $2,200,000 of the par value of $10 a share. The new corporation will acquire all of the common stock of Starrett Brothers, Incorporated, one of the most prominent building firms in this country, which will handle the construction work.

Equitable Life Writings.

The ordinary life insurance paid for in the Equitable Life of the United States during 1928 totaled $779,000,000, with new group insurance of $180,000,000, making a total of $959,000,000 new issues, according to an announcement by William M. Duff, president of the Edward A. Woods Company, local representative of the Equitable. Payments to policyholders in the year totaled $129,577,000, of which amount $50,000 was dispersed in death claims and $79,000,000 to living policyholders. Of the 16,602 domestic death claims paid during the year, 16,414 or 98.9 per cent were paid within one day after the receipt of due proof of death, the company thus maintaining its record for the prompt payments of claims. Equitable assets are now well over a billion dollars.

Changing Rolling Methods.

Important changes in rolling mill methods are reported under development in the research departments of Youngstown district steel producers, which have been directing more attention to experiment. The improvements, designed to reduce production costs and enlarge output, are said to be chiefly in manufacturing of flat rolled steel, including tubular products and tin plate.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 6.—Grain values turned upward today after an early setback, but the rallies failed to hold well. Eastern interests were credited with buying wheat future deliveries, and there were indications of a cold wave which might catch a large part of domestic winter wheat territory without snow protection. Some Illinois reports said numerous fields of winter wheat were dead, notably around Princeton, Ill. There were also advices of alternate thawing and freezing in the Southwest.

Downturns today in wheat values here were associated not only with reports of price cutting abroad because of competition between Canada and Argentina, but were also affected by figures showing about 110,000,000 bushels more wheat in this country than at this time last year. Meanwhile any important foreign demand for United States wheat continued lacking, except that a good export business in durum wheat to Italy was going on, 500,000 bushels being taken.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 6.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 5 points. Most months were lower under realizing and some southern and local selling promoted by disappointing Liverpool cables and prospects for improving weather in the eastern belt.

Offerings were absorbed by continuation of the recent buying movement, however, and the market became firmer after the early realizing had been absorbed. May sold up to 21.20c and the new October contracts to 20.39c. This carried active months 8 to 14 points net higher by the end of the first half hour.

Private cables reported local and continental buying in Liverpool but said Bombay selling had checked the advance. They also reported disturbances in Calcutta were checking business in cotton cloths.

A bullish view of the weekly weather report contributed to the early advance, but the market met increased realizing at the higher prices. There also appeared to be some selling here against purchases in Liverpool.

Condition of the Nation As Hoover Takes Control

By B. C. FORBES

PRESIDENT HOOVER takes over the chief executiveship of a nation enjoying a high measure of prosperity, a nation blessed with an unusual measure of employment at high wages, a nation whose wealth is rapidly on the increase, a nation better fitted than ever before to meet world competition, a nation possessing the best transportation facilities in its history and the best in the world, a nation whose securities and credit reflect undisputed leadership, a nation at peace with all the world.

That is Herbert Hoover's heritage as he takes over the presidency.

What lies ahead?

NOT infrequently a change in the occupancy of the White House has unsettled the country. America's capitalists, financiers, industrialists and leading men of affairs contemplate the advent of the new regime with profound faith and confidence. They analyze Hoover as possessing masterly understanding of economics and of the vital part played by economics in the well-being of the nation. More, they looked to him for aggressive, constructive, brilliant guidance in raising general prosperity to still greater heights. Workers likewise regard Mr. Hoover with faith and trust.

This national mental attitude contains immeasurable encouragement. It powerfully contributes to progress. Widespread distrust of the new administration would have in itself chilled or doomed prosperity.

CONDITIONS are not, of course, universally healthy as Mr. Hoover takes over the reigns. They never are in this vast-spreading continent embracing so diversified climate, natural resources, crops, industries, etc.

For example, President Hoover cannot and does not view the state of that most fundamental of all our industries, agriculture, with entire satisfaction. An early test of his statesmanship will be provided by the degree of success he achieves in contributing to making farming more profitable.

The President cannot and does not view complacently the abnormal conditions existing in the money market, another vital factor in our national health. Although more of a businessman than a banker, and although by no means an experienced stock market operator, he can be counted upon to use his influence to bring about more normal conditions in the money market and in stock speculation.

President Hoover cannot and does not look with equanimity upon the lack of uniformity in employment, which has so frequently been experienced at different seasons and in different years. This problem lies near his heart and wage earners can count upon his exercising all the weight of his authority and influence to bring about greater co-ordination by industry, supplemented by governmental co-operation, to insure steadier employment.

President Hoover cannot and does not feel satisfied with the uncertainty which managers of our great railway systems are laboring in the matter of the regulatory authorities' attitude towards the large scale consolidations indorsed by Congress nine years ago.

BUT, on the whole, President Hoover takes up the duty under more happy auspices than did any of his predecessors. Outside of the stock market, there is no alarming inflation.

The average level of commodity prices is sound. Inventories are light rather than heavy. Wage earners command unprecedented purchasing power. Grave labor troubles do not afflict the country. Our foreign trade is unusually healthy and vigorous. Tariff complication with other nations probably can be avoided. Public sentiment towards modern big business is no longer hostile and destructive, and co-operation between employed and employers never before was so widespread. Every available science is being harnessed to industrial research on a scale never before known. Our industrialists are energetically promulgating American interests and American enterprise all over the world.

THE ongoings in Wall Street are calculated to give the new President concern. The first worries of his administration may conceivably germinate there.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP.)—The curb market turned reactionary today after an early display of strength when the call loan rate was advanced to 9 per cent. Practically all of the early gains were wiped out.

Favorable developments in the aviation field brought good buying into the airplane group and most of the gains were maintained in the face of the midday selling movement. Aviation Corporation of America, holding company for Pan American Airways, shot up nearly 5 points, but dropped back a couple of points at noon. Alexander Industries continued their advance on reports of favorable reception of its Eaglerock Plane, and Fokker went up 3.

The early advance in utilities was led by American Gas and Electric and Electric Bond and Share (old and new) but their gains of 5 points each were lost at midday. United Gas Improvement reacted 4 points after a rise of 5.

Losses of 5 points were recorded by Caseim of America and Tubize Artificial Silk. Fox Theaters were strong on announcement of purchase of two new theater chains.

Mining shares were generally strong, Newmont advancing more than 5 points and New Cornelia a point.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

ARKANSAS GAS REACHES HIGH ON LOCAL BOARD

Under continued buying Arkansas Natural Gas common made a new high shortly after the opening on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange this morning. After opening at 4⅞, off ⅛ from yesterday's record price, Arkansas was bid up to 5⅛.

Arkansas has had strong support during the past few months. Since January 11 it has dropped below 4 on only one day. The final sale at the end of 1928 was at 3¾.

The opening transaction on the local market showed few changes from yesterday's close. Dixie Gas common sold at 12⅜, which was off ⅜ from yesterday. Other issues were unchanged in the opening transactions. The trading was quiet and activity was not concentrated on any particular stock.

Sales made in the early morning included National Fireproofing preferred at 35, Arkansas Gas preferred at 8¼, Lone Star Gas at 72, and Armstrong Cork at 65.

Active demand was developed for Western Public Service warrants. From an opening price of 26½, the warrants advanced to 28 shortly before noon, a gain of 1¾ from yesterday's close.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt, when issued, was one of the most active stocks of the day, but the price failed to hold at yesterday's levels. Most of the transactions before noon took place in a range of 23½ to 23¾.

In the latter part of the morning some weakness developed in the local issues and small declines were shown throughout the list.

Witherow Decree Entered.

A decree declaring that the Witherow Steel Corporation is entitled to an exclusive right and title to seven patents relating to die rolling which are good and valid, signed by United States Judge John R. Hazel, who recently ruled that the Donner Steel Company, by reason of manufacture and sale of die rolled front and rear axle blanks has infringed the patents, was entered in court at Buffalo yesterday. Under the decree the Donner Company is restrained by an injunction from making, selling or using apparatus containing the inventions. Declaring that the Donner Company committed unfair acts in trade to the injury of the Pittsburgh company, the defendant is restrained from competing unfairly in trade in hiring away and attempting to hire away employes of the Witherow Steel Corporation for obtaining trade secrets and confidential information as to costs and sale prices. The decree further authorizes the Witherow Corporation to recover gains and profits and damages sustained as result of the infringement. The appointment of a special master to assess the damages was deferred pending an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals from Judge Hazel's decision.

Anaconda Rights Planned.

Directors of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company voted to offer stockholders the right to subscribe for two additional shares of stock at $55 a share for every five shares now held. This offer is subject to stockholders' approval of an increase in the authorized capital stock to 12,000,000 shares at a meeting March 14. The funds realized from the offering will be used to provide for retirement by redemption of the outstanding $103,803,000 of first consolidated Series A 6 per cent mortgage bonds, due February 1, 1953, with any excess money to be used for general corporate purposes.

The offer is made to stockholders of record April 30. The right to subscribe will expire June 18. Warrants for the subscription rights will be issued as soon as practicable after April 30. This will leave less than $10,000,000 of the 7 per cent of the convertible debentures outstanding as the only liability of Anaconda outside of $35,000,000 of 5 per cent Chile Copper Company debentures.

With all Anaconda convertible bonds retired, and assuming all Chile Copper Company shares, exchanged for Anaconda A, there would be outstanding 5,412,526 shares of Anaconda. Should all those shares exercise rights under this offer, there would be a total of roughly 7,572,000 shares of Anaconda Copper Mining Company outstanding. Retirement of the outstanding 6 per cent Series A bonds results in a saving of $8,000,000 in interest and sinking fund requirements annually.

Western Electric Prospers.

Record sales and greatly increased earnings in 1928 for the Western Electric Company, controlled by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, were reported by Edgar S. Bloom, the president. "Net earnings," he said, "surpassed those of 1927, notwithstanding important price reductions, and appropriations for increasing our manufacturing facilities far exceed those of any previous year. We successfully established in the motion picture field the Western Electric system of recording and reproducing sound with motion pictures." Sales amounted to $287,931,000, an increase of 13.5 per cent or more than $34,000,000 the preceding year. The volume of business increased 22 per cent, the difference being due to lower prices, which amounted to upwards of $19,000,000. Net profits amounted to $22,023,282, compared to $19,339,174 in 1927. The 1928 total includes $1,000,000 received under awards for war claims.

Pere Marquette Earnings.

F. H. Alfred, president Pere Marquette Railway Company, says both gross and net earnings for February increased about 11 per cent. Principal part of increase came from transportation of coal, largely to the Northwest. As many as 800 carloads were received by road at Toledo in a single day, an unusually large movement. Automobile business in Detroit district is satisfactory for this season. President Alfred is confident road will be able to make at least as good a showing this year as last year when a little over 16 per cent was earned on common.

AUDIT NOTICE.

All parties interested are hereby notified that an Audit List will be made up of all the foregoing accounts and said list will be called on Monday, the 15th day of April, A. D. 1929, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., Eastern Standard Time, and continue thereafter each day (Saturdays and Sundays excepted) until the list shall have been disposed of.

JOSEPH N. MACKRELL
Register and Ex-Officio Clerk of Orphans' Court.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 1st, 1929.

PROPOSED METRO CHARTER SUMMARIZED

PROVISIONS OF DRAFT OFFERED IN HARRISBURG

Following is an abstract of the proposed Pittsburgh Metropolitan Charter prepared by the Metropolitan District Charter Commission, the culmination of a move inaugurated six years ago under Ex-Gov. Gifford Pinchot:

Article 1—This article provides for the creation of the consolidated city and county to be known as the "City of Pittsburgh."

All laws relating to the government and offices of Allegheny County are expressly incorporated as part of the charter and henceforth can be amended or repealed only by amendment to the charter.

All other laws applicable to Allegheny County are continued in force except as inconsistent with the charter.

Keep Identities

Names, Boundaries, Many Laws Retained.

The cities, boroughs and townships of Allegheny County are continued in existence with their present names and boundaries except that the present city of Pittsburgh is to be officially designated as "Pittsburgh" unless the corporate authorities of that city select some other name. Except as specifically provided by the charter, the cities, boroughs and townships are to be governed by the laws relating to the class of municipality to which they belong.

A special saving clause keeps in effect laws relating to courts of record, juries and jury commissioners, public schools, public libraries and state highways as if the consolidated city were a county only and not a city.

Article 2.—In addition to the county powers, the most important powers given to the consolidated city are:

To care for the poor, sick, defective, feeble-minded and insane.

To make health regulations (the municipal division may make health regulations not in conflict with those of the consolidated city.

Zoning, Traffic

Major Civic Problems Get City's Co-Operation

To designate through-traffic streets which will be maintained by the consolidated city (the cleaning and lighting of through-traffic streets is left to the locality).

To adopt zoning ordinances (in all the municipalities which have not by January 1, 1933, adopted zoning ordinance.

To exercise planning powers relating to major features only.

To create special districts for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, maintaining and operating or contracting for works, improvements, utilities or services for the benefit of more than one municipal division (this power will make it possible to take care of serious drainage and kindred problems.

To deal with the water supply problem (the rights of the existing municipalities are carefully preserved. No municipal water system can be acquired except by a majority vote of the people of the municipality which owns the plant and no municipal or private plant can be acquired except in accordance with the general laws of the state which amply provide for just compensation.

To construct, operate or contract for the operation of transportation systems (this power is broadly phrased in order to give the consolidated city ample power to deal with the rapid transit problem.

To recommend standards for local fire departments and to make appropriations in aid of local fire departments.

To enact smoke regulations.

To make uniform traffic regulations for through-traffic streets and to regulate the type and manner of installation of signs, signal lights and like projects throughout the consolidated city.

To levy special assessments upon the district benefited by any public improvement.

Commission Ruler

Board of Seven to Hold Municipal Reins.

Article 3—The powers of the consolidated city, except as otherwise specifically provided, are to be exercized by the board of commissioners of six members and a president.

They are to be elected at large, but three of them must be residents of the city of Pittsburgh and one of each of three districts, roughly east, south and north outside of Pittsburgh. The president, beginning with the election of 1931, is to be elected at large and is to be the chief executive officer of the city.

The salary of the president is to be $15,000 and the salaries of the commissioners $9,000. Salaries of the present commissioners are to remain as they are for the balance of their terms. The board of commissioners is to choose a vice president and a secretary.

Provision is made for regular meetings. Special meetings can be called only on 24 hours' written notice.

Four affirmative votes are necessary for the passage of any ordinance or resolution. An abstract of each ordinance must be published in a newspaper within three days of introduction and all ordinances must be printed and on the desks of the member for 48 hours before any action can be taken with regard to them, except in case of emergency ordinances.

The board of commissioners must keep a journal in which the yeas and nays of each ordinance are to be recorded, and the journal is made a public record.

In this article an effective budget system is provided for.

Article 4—The present elective county officers remain elective except the treasurer who is to be appointed by the board of commissioners.

The duties of these officers remain as at present except that the controller is given the power to carry on a continuous audit of the financial transactions of the consolidated city. He is given power to summon witnesses and demand the production of books and papers. No money can be drawn from the treasury except by warrant countersigned by him.

Article 5—This article simply provides for the application of the laws of the state with regard to elections. Vacancies in elective offices are to be filled for the unexpired balance of the term by the Court of Common Pleas.

After the census of 1940 the districts of which members of the board of commissioners must be residents are to be laid out by the board of commissioners except that the present city of Pittsburgh, plus annexations thereto, is to remain one district.

Article 6—This section sets up the administrative departments.

The directors of all departments and certain other officers and boards are to be appointed by the president of the board of commissioners with the consent of the board. He may remove any appointee subject to veto of his removal by vote of five commissioners.

In general the directors of the departments appoint and remove the employes of their departments subject to the right of the employe to demand a hearing before the director.

Article 7—At the head of this department is a director of finance. He is given the power to prescribe the nature and forms of all accounts to be kept in all departments of the consolidated city including the controller's office.

This is to insure a uniform system and prevent duplication.

The general accounts of the city are to be kept under his immediate direction and such provision is made that they must be adequate according to the best standards of accounting.

Claims against the city treasury must be signed by the director of finance and coutersigned by the controller.

Checks Finances

Monthly Report Required On Money at Hand.

No contract can be made or obligation incurred until the director of finance has certified that there is an unencumbered balance in the appropriation available for the purpose. A monthly report of the condition of the appropriations must be made by the director to the board of commissioners.

The treasurer is to collect all taxes including delinquent taxes and the office of the delinquent tax collector is abolished.

Tax bills are to be mailed prior to the date when taxes become due.

Taxes may be paid at banks located throughout the consolidated city.

The taxpayer may have the option of paying his taxes in quarterly installments and the provisions now in force in the present city of Pittsburgh with regard to discount for payment in advance and penalties for delinquency are applied to the consolidated city.

Machinery is to be exempt from taxation.

There is to be a single assessment of property for taxation for all purposes made by the assessor of the consolidated city, who is to be appointed by the president of the board of commissioners. He is to be assisted in making this single assessment by local assessors in each municipal division.

In Pittsburgh and the cities of the third class, the assisting departments of assessment are to be the local assessors; in other divisions the local assessor is to be appointed by a committee of five, of which the school board appoints two members, the governing body of the municipality two members and these four appoint the fifth. Local assessors must possess the qualifications prescribed by the board of commissioners. They may be removed for failure to perform the duties imposed upon them by the charter by the assessor of the consolidated city.

The local assessors are to value all property in accordance with the instructions of the assessor and the charter sets forth certain instructions which must be given. These instructions are intended to insure that the work of the local assessors will be uniform and in accordance with the best assessment practice.

Health Plans

Experience Demanded Of Department Head

Upon the basis of the valuations made by the local assessors, the assessor of the consolidated city makes his assessment every three years as assessments are now made.

A board of assessment appeal is created of three members appointed by the Common Pleas Court to which any property holder aggrieved by an assessment can apply for relief and from the board of assessment appeal a further appeal may be taken to the Court of Common pleas as at present.

Article 8. — The health department is to be under a director of health who must be a physician of 10 years' profesisonal experience. It may make health regulations which it is the duty of health authorities of each locality to carry out.

It may enforce its own regulations directly in those localities which have no health authorities and it may in case of necessity act directly in other municipalities. Where a local health board fails entirely to carry out its duties, it may remove that board and administer public health in that locality at the expense of the locality.

Any municipal division may surrender its health powers to the consolidated city if it will agree to pay the expenses of health administration within its borders. The health department is to provide laboratory service for those units which do not maintain laboratories of their own.

New Police Force

Communities Would Keep Present System.

Article 9.—This department is to be under a director who is to have the powers of a sheriff with regard to the preservation of public peace and order.

In this department there is to be a police division under a superintendent. The police force is to consist of:

The consolidated city police, which is to be a small force organized on the general lines of the Pennsylvania State police. This force is to be employed in policing the rural sections and patrolling through-traffic streets, but any municipality may borrow one or more members or even an organized unit by paying the cost of the service.

The consolidated city police bureau, which is to take over the present county detective bureau is required to keep records for the identification of criminals.

There is to be a traffic division charged with enforcing the traffic regulations of the consolidated city and an advisory traffic commission made up of citizens and officials.

The director of safety is required to report quarterly to the board of commissioners a record of all complaints, arrests, information, summonses and notices of violation, together with the disposition thereof. Where a case is not disposed of within the quarter, it is to be reported again and again until finally disposed of.

There is to be also a division of inspection to take care of the enforcement of smoke regulation and other inspectional duties.

Finally there is to be a division of fire prevention and no appropriation in aid of a local fire department is to be given, unless the superintendent of this division certifies that the department is maintained in accordance with the standards set by the board of commissioners.

Welfare, Parks

Boards to Aid Governing Of Institution

Article 10—The Department of Public Works of the county is taken over in the consolidated city.

The director who is to be at the head of this department, must be an engineer with not less than 10 years' experience. The department has all the powers and duties of the present department of Allegheny County and such other powers as may be given by the charter and by ordinance.

Article 11—The welfare department is to be administered by a director with the assistance of a board of welfare and a visiting committee for each institution. There are to be divisions of family welfare, child welfare, care of the aged and infirm, mental health and correction.

Article 12—The present county parks and any other parks and playgrounds which may subsequently be acquired by the consolidated city, are to be administered by a director of parks and recreation assisted by a park and recreation board.

The board is particularly charged with the physical development of parks, the actual administration being left to the director.

Provision is made for the representation of the Pittsburgh school department and the county schools on this board. This department is authorized to co-operate with the schools in the development of recreational facilities.

Article 13—The planning commission of the consolidated city is to consist of eight members and a salaried director who is to be the chairman. Not more than four of these members shall be residents of any one municipality.

Plan for Unit

Not to Interfere With Sectional Functionings.

It is to have power to make a master plan covering planning features which relate to the consolidated city as a whole. It thus does not interfere with the functioning of local city planning commissions. Within the field assigned to it, its powers and methods of procedure are expressed in practically the same terms as those employed in the Pittsburgh chapter and in the model city planning enabling act.

Article 14—This department is to be assisted by an art jury of nine persons, no more than five of whom are to reside in any one municipality. Its powers are practically the same as those now possessed by the art commission of the present city of Pittsburgh and are to be exercised throughout the consolidated city. The art commission of the present city of Pittsburgh is abolished.

Article 15—The department of personnel besides numerous routine duties in connection with the keeping of personal records and certification of payrolls, and similar work, is to examine all applicants for appointment to all but a few positions, such as directors of the departments.

Where qualifications are established by the charter, by the board of commissioners or by other boards pursuant to the charter, for any position, no person can be appointed to that position unless the department of personnel certifies that he possesses those qualifications.

Otherwise the personnel department merely reports on the mental ability, education, experience, character and reputation of the applicant and the appointing officer is left free to exercise his judgment in the making of the appointment.

Protect Pension

City and County Employes Not to Lose Rights.

This department will administer any retirement pension system set up by the board of commissioners and the last section of the article contains provisions guaranteeing to the employes of Allegheny County who now have rights in the county pension fund, those rights as long as they continue to make the contributions now required. The same provision is made with regard to the employes of the present City of Pittsburgh, who, by the operation of the charter, are transferred to the service of the consolidated city, as to their rights in the Pittsburgh pension fund.

Article 16. The law department is to be in charge of a director who is to be the solicitor of the consolidated city.

It is to take over the duties of the present county solicitor and all other solicitors and attorneys for county offices. It is provided that any officer who has a personal financial responsibility in performing the duties of his office may name the deputy solicitor who is to be his legal adviser.

Public Utilities

Special Bureau to Handle Important Contacts

A bureau of public utility relations is established in this department which is to represent the consolidated city in dealings with public utilities and before the public service commission and the courts in public utility matters.

It is to receive complaints from citizens and may, with the approval of the solicitor and the board of commissioners, represent any municipality within the consolidated city in such matters.

Article 17. The department of research and information is to be in charge of a board appointed by the president of the board of commissioners.

No member of this board shall have held office or have been a candidate for office within five years. It will appoint a director and other employes. The department will study matters relating to the government and administration of the consolidated city and to make recommendations with regard to its improvement. Upon request it will advise the authorities of any municipality. It is given power to gather statistics and information and to require reports from the financial officers of each municipality.

Article 18—The department of regional transit will be administered by a director and a board consisting of six members and of the director. It is to have similar powers to those of the present Pittsburgh Transit Commission and the five members of that commission are to be, at the outset, members of the regional transit commission. The present Pittsburgh, however, does not lose any of its powers with regard to transit.

DR. T. H. REED

Dr. Reed, director of research for the Metropolitan Plan Commission.

Article 19—This article provides in detail for special assessments upon abutting and nonabutting property materially benefited by an improvement.

It departs from the present procedure with regard to special assessments upon abutting property in that the original assessment of benefits is made by the consolidated city assessor and that the board of viewers considers only those cases in which the property owner objects to the assessment.

Arcticle 20—This article reserves to the several municipalities of the consolidated city all their powers and duties except those by this charter granted to the consolidated city.

It provides for a surrender by a municipality of any of its powers only by vote of its people, subject to acceptance by the Board of Commissioners of the consolidated city.

It also provides for annexation only by a favorable vote of the people in the annexing and annexed municipalities voting separately.

Court Added

'Kangaroo' Circuit to Care for Small Claims

Article 21—This article establishes, beginning with 1932, a municipal court to be composed of one judge for each 50,000 population, with a few possible additional judges when the business of the court requires it. The judges of this court are to be appointed by the county court from among persons nominated by a petition signed by 500 electors.

The appointments are to be made in open court by a two-thirds vote.

Municipal court judges must either be learned in the law, have had six years active business experience or have served as a magistrate, alderman or justice of the peace for not less than six years. The judges are to receive $5,000 a year, the president judge $7,500 per year and the vice president judges $6,000.

The jurisdiction of the court is to be the same as that of the justices of the peace and aldermen except that the maximum amount which may be involved in any case is increased to $500.

There must be in this court a small claims division in which cases involving not more than $50 may be dealt with informally with costs not to exceed $1. Sessions of the court are to be held in various parts of the county to suit the convenience of the litigants.

The hours of the court also are to be arranged so that evening sessions may be held.

A central office is to be established at which telephone and other communications may be received at any time.

There is to be at least one clerk and one constable for each judge. The judges of the court are to make rules for the procedure of the court subject to supervision by the County Court.

Appeals from the Municipal Court follow the same course as appeals from the justices of the peace and aldermen at present except that the right of appeal in small claims of less than $50 may be limited as far as may be under the constitution.

Vote in June

Plan Would Be Sent to Polls This Summer

Article 22.—This article provides for the submission of the charter to the vote of the people on the fourth Tuesday of June, 1929, and provides for its amendment in the manner prescribed in the constitution.

Article 23.—This article sets up the districts of which the members of the board of commissioners must be residents.

District No. 1, of which three members must be residents, consists of the present city of Pittsburgh.

District No. 2, of the city of McKeesport and of the boroughs and townships east of the Monongahela River and south of the Allegheny except the townships of Penn, Plum and Wilkins.

District No. 3 consists of the cities of Clairton and Duquesne and of all the boroughs and townships west and south of the Monongahela and Ohio rivers except the townships of North Fayette, Findlay, Moon and Crescent, and the borough of Coraopolis.

District No. 4 consists of the remainder of Allegheny County outside the city of Pittsburgh.

Justices of the peace, alderman and constables are to serve out the balance of the terms for which they were elected. Justices of the peace, aldermen and constables whose terms expire on the first Monday of June, 1930, are to continue in office until January 1, 1932. Magistrates in the present city of Pittsburgh are to remain in existence until January 1, 1932.

This article also contains the schedule of provisions for carrying it into complete operation. The parts of the charter relating to elections are to take effect upon its ratification, all other provisions except those which are expressly stated to be effective at an earlier date or later date go into effect on the first Monday of January, 1930.

Peace Pact Praise Gratifies Briand

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP.)—Foreign Minister Briand, of France, in a message to Secretary Kellogg, said he was deeply touched by the friendly wording of the telegram of March 2, in which Mr. Kellogg said he felt the ratification of the anti-war treaty by the French Chamber of Deputies was due to the foreign minister's personal influence and was a cause of happiness to him because the pact had been ratified by France before his term of office ended.

BUGS BAER Says

MR. DAWES left Washington convinced that Vice Presidents are the smartest people in the world.

Bugs Baer.

Maybe he is right. There is a first time for everything.

We do know that Mr. Hoover was inaugurated out in the rain.

While Mr. Curtis displayed great sagacity by getting his diploma indoors where it was dry.

Dawes wore a small, but determined, high silk hat. Every time he saw a Senator he glared at the unfortunate bozo as if he would like to tear off his leg and use it for a pipe-cleaner.

The inauguration featured the renaissance of high hats.

There were low high hats, high high hats and medium tall toppers. Some had wide, spreading eaves and some looked like tomato cans in mourning.

Mr. Dawes took advantage of the Vice President's prerogative to make a speech every four years.

And when Dawes is talking, an oyster ain't a bivalve with him. He calls it by its right name.

After he finished his trumpeting he yelled, "And I won't take a thing back."

When talking to the Senate, Mr. Dawes has always acted as if he was the valedictorian of a Chinese intellectual famine.

Mr. Dawes has great compressed dignity. He can walk out on a two-inch pair of heels and look like a man on stilts.

Mr. Hoover was there, too.

However, Mr. Dawes has the military habit of getting straight to the point with the least possible logic.

Mr. Dawes glared scornfully at Mr. Curtis. The look intimated that Curtis was only a freshman.

There was quite a social traffic jam when some single-breasted, short-coated politicians got mixed up with the double-breasted, swallow-tailed diplomats.

Mr. Dawes used a couple of big words that had no bearing on the subject but must have sounded good over the radio.

Coolidge left for Massachusetts. Dawes left for San Domingo. We are glad to see that the boys finally agree.

There was great cheering for the young administration as Mr. Hoover dashed up Pennsylvania avenue to reach the White House before his cabinet grabbed the best rooms.

We recommend Mrs. Coolidge's example to every wife in the nation. When she left the White House, she did not take the electric bulbs with her.

Disappointed Office Seekers Boo Hoover

THE above picture reveals the heart-breaking predicament of thousands of dejected office seekers in Washington, D. C., today. These homeless waifs sit sulking on the White House lawn, or loll in the botanical gardens with only a sneer and a jibe on their lips. Fearing disorder, the police issued an order against finger snapping. The above picture, broadcast by television, was picked up by a local amateur and handed to us by a friend in the Health Department, who happened to be assigned to the municipal incinerator.

Coal and Brains

The Government Recognizes COAL, Not Brains.

Everybody from the head of the government down is interested in a FAIR income tax system.

But a tax that refuses to take into consideration the fact that men wear out, allowing mine owners to deduct large sums, because coal mines and gold mines, oil wells are depleted, IS NOT A FAIR TAX.

For instance, as Mr. Powers shows in his cartoon on this page: If you happen to own a coal mine from which you make a profit of a million dollars a year, you can say to the government, "Yes, but my coal mine is WEARING OUT. It is becoming DEPLETED. There isn't as much coal in that mine THIS year as there was LAST year. So you ought to take something off my income tax for DEPLETION."

The government says, and says truly, "That's perfectly reasonable. Your mine IS getting less valuable every year. Therefore I will give you an income tax reduction based on depletion."

Nobody objects to the allowance for depletion in the case of a coal mine, a sandbank or an oil well. The government does not intend to CONFISCATE PROPERTY, only to take a fair amount of the INCOME from property, and to tax the whole return would be in fact CONFISCATION of property.

But what about HUMAN BEINGS? What about the tired, overworked doctor, the business man worrying himself into the grave, the writer, painter and all the others that pay income tax on their earnings?

Should THEY not be allowed some deduction for "depletion?"

They do not own oil wells, gravel hills or coal mines. But each one OWNS AND WORKS A HUMAN BRAIN.

That BRAIN is wearing out. The power of the working mind to earn money is less and less every year.

Thousands of mines now in operation will go on producing wealth long after millions of human beings, now working, shall have died.

A man working for a salary, professional man or business man, earning an income, is himself A MINE OF LABOR THAT IS BEING USED UP.

The Government should recognize the fact that as each year passes a man earning money is worth less than he was worth the year before, and allow a reduction in income tax the same as it allows such reductions to owners of oil wells or coal mines.

Absolutely unjust, also, is the fact that Government makes you pay the same amount on your annual income, whether you EARN that income by working, creating, adding to national wealth, or whether you simply sit back doing nothing, drawing income from the WORK OF OTHERS.

For instance, if a man earns ten, fifty or a hundred thousand dollars in a year, the Government says, "That's income. Give me my part of it."

If another man travels in Europe, enjoys himself on his yacht, or at Palm Beach, drawing an income from inherited property which he never produced at all, the Government takes from him no more than it takes from the man actually working for his income, FOR THE GOOD OF THE COUNTRY. That is wrong.

Other nations, France and Great Britain for instance, admit a difference between the income for which a man works, income that represents the burning up of his energies, and an income from invested money, that represents no work at all.

An effective protest against this injustice, this unwise feature of our income tax system, is needed.

It is not a protest against the Government, for it is the PEOPLE, and not the GOVERNMENT, that makes the laws.

The people, through their Congressmen and their Senators, can make such laws as they like.

And they ought to make a law that would treat a man using up his brain as fairly and liberally as the law now treats a man who goes to Europe while other men dig in his coal mine, and then withholds part of his income tax, with Government approval, on the ground that his mine hasn't got quite as much coal in it as it used to have.

An old business and professional man, with only three or four more years to live and work, has not as much left in his brain as he used to have, EITHER.

Government should consider THAT.

High Bus Charge Relief Is Promise of Protest

Another 25-cent fare bus line has been put into operation by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, subsidiary of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. This one extends to Bellevue.

Although the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company has put into effect the same outrageously high rate of fare that prevails on its other lines, it will have to show this rate to be a reasonable one in this case, a protest against the charge having been filed. After a rate has been permitted to exist, as in the case on the other lines, the burden of proof of unjust charge is on the complainant. Where a protest is made before the rate is permitted by the Public Service Commission, the matter of justification is up to the company seeking to establish the rate.

Should the Bellevue rate be declared unreasonable, as evidence of profitable ten-cent bus operation elsewhere indicates it to be, the whole matter of bus fares here may be reopened.

Pittsburgh may get a fair bus rate in the near future, after all.

Death of Eminent Lawyer Is Loss to Community

Death, which has taken heavy toll in the ranks of bench and bar, in the last year, again has chosen a conspicuous figure to claim in behalf of Eternity. Thomas Patterson—Tom to his familiars—has passed into the Great Silence.

Until his death dean of the local bar, Mr. Patterson recently had been publicly honored by local members of the legal profession, of which he was held to be one of its two most eminent representatives. He was one of the foremost figures in Pittsburgh's legal history.

The community as well as the law suffers a loss in the death of Thomas Patterson.

Tales That Are Told

Nasty

TOWARDS the end of his lecture the speaker had urged the leading men of the industrial city to put more beauty in their surroundings.

"The idea is all right," interrupted one of the big men; "but the prosperity of this town is due to the efforts of hard-headed business men. All the time we are doing things, and we've no time to worry about being beautiful."

This announcement was greeted with a burst of applause, and the speaker found many wrathful eyes turned on him.

"Really," he remarked, with a smile. "Then, if you don't object to so personal a question, would you mind telling me why you have dyed your whiskers."

Couldn't Be Blamed

MEDICAL advice had been sought, and as a result Roberts was on diet. Only fish was allowed at every meal. Now, Roberts hated fish more than anything else in the food line.

Entering his favorite restaurant, he asked the waiter:

"Any whale today?"

"No, sir," the other smiled.

"Any shark?"

"No, sir."

"Any swordfish or goldfish, then?"

"No, sir."

"Then bring me a nice juicy steak, chip potatoes, and braised onions. Heaven knows, I asked for fish."

No Names!

THE schoolmaster had just met little Leslie, whom he very much wanted to see.

"I am writing to your father, my boy," began the schoolmaster. "Now, what is his Christian name?"

"Daddie," replied the small boy.

"Ah, yes," the other smiled, "I know; but what does your mother call him?"

Leslie thought quickly for a moment or two, and then he looked up at the kindly face above him.

"She doesn't call him anything," he answered proudly. "She likes him."

The Producer's Purpose

"H'M," said the theatrical producer, leaning back in his chair and throwing the closely typed pages on his desk.

The other man raised his eyebrows inquiringly.

"Yes," said the producer, "this last scene which you've rewritten is far better than the one before, but I'd suggest that you get the villain to shoot himself instead of taking poison."

The author pulled a wry face.

"What for?" he asked.

"The noise'll probably wake the audience up," replied the other coolly.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE story about the two Scotchmen that flipped a coin for a drink has been told often but I reckon nobody has ever read it through, because as soon as they got that far they said, "It can't be true."

Well, anyhow, the guy that won the flip yelled "Tails!"

When it come up tails, the other Scotchman yelled "Murder!" and then he lost himself in the crowd that was rushing in.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

DO women like 'em rough?

Do they want to be figuratively, if not literally, kicked around?

And are they restless, unhappy, dissatisfied and generally peeved if papa doesn't bully them?

Beverly Nichols says they do and are.

He says it with paragraphs like these in April Cosmopolitan:

"The average European marriage is more successful than the average American marriage, not because European husbands are sweeter, politer or more forebearing, but because they are very well aware of the supreme importance of 'treating 'em rough.'"

All normal females "delight in being maltreated," says Mr. Nichols.

"The sheik novels and movies enjoyed their enormous vogue in America simply because they satisfied a subconscious instinct of American women. Taking their feet off their husband's necks for a few hours they emerged from their comfortable homes, departed for the nearest movie and there in darkness enjoyed a mental orgy in which they imagined themselves in place of the heroine, being thoroughly walloped.

"When these women turned home the only thing they needed to make them completely happy (though they did not know it) was for their husband to catch them around the neck, shake their heads until their teeth rattled and then say 'Sit down and read me to sleep.' Instead of which, they were nearly always greeted by submissive males who hurried away for footstools and candy and asked them if they found the light trying to their eyes.

"A man must appear to be a bully, even if in reality he is nothing of the sort. It is infinitely better for all concerned, particularly for the women."

Wow! And you haven't heard half.

Look at me, for example. I'm nearly six feet tall, I pack a wallop like a pile driver and I have the constitution of a Ford truck. Yet all my life I have secretly longed for some big, bold brute to scramble me all over the furniture. I would have adored such a man. I would have dusted the dandruff off his collar and cooed, "Aren't you wonderful!" for the rest of my natural days. But did I ever get a chance? I did not! Every male I have ever known has insisted on calling me "Girlie!" and warned me against sitting in a draft.

I could weep with rage every time I think of it. And so could a lot of other girls I know.

Mr. Nichols says this is because our egotism is affronted. He claims that the politeness offered by American men is "equivalent to indifference. And the one thing no woman will stand is to be ignored. Or obeyed. It's the same thing."

You've sized up the situation, Friend Beverly, but you're wrong as to the reason.

Women are still females. Motherhood has gone a bit out of style, but the old impulses are still there. We still instinctively desire and seek men who will make Powerful Papas. A good punch in the jaw meant a well protected cave in the old stone hatchet era. And, Emily Post to the contrary, it means just that today. So naturally we feel that we have been short-changed when we drag home a bunch of brawn and then find that it's nothing put a polite piece of papier mache.

STORY OF COLORS

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Please explain this: A prism dissects a ray of sunlight into component colors, viz., red, yellow, blue, orange, green, purple and violet. Of the first three colors, called primary, we find that they resist further analysis, remaining red, yellow and blue after being passed a second time through a prism. But when it comes to the secondary colors we find each composed of two of the primary colors, blended into colors which the eye perceives as orange, green, purple or violet. Green, for instance, is composed of yellow and blue. Now, when a green ray obtained from the white light refracted by the prism is passed through a second prism, it remains unchanged, being still only green. How do you account for that? Why does not the prism separate the yellow and blue in the green ray?—William Eichler, Brooklyn."

BECAUSE the green ray from the prism is not composed of yellow and blue, but is an independent color produced by light-waves of a particular length, between those that produce yellow and those that produce blue. The seven conventional colors of the spectrum are, in the decreasing order of their wave-lengths, red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. Purple is not reckoned among the prismatic colors.

When green is produced by combining yellow and blue, as for instance, in solutions, or in mixed pigments, or stained transparencies, the color may very closely resemble the pure green of the spectrum, but its compound nature is revealed, as you say, by passing the light through a prism, which separates the constituent colors.

Exactly the same thing occurs with a blending of red and yellow producing orange. It is not the orange of the spectrum, but something that has a similar effect on the eye. The orange of the spectrum is not divided into red and yellow by passage through a prism because its color is not a combination but is pure, original orange just as, in the other case of the green of the spectrum, is original and unmixed, owing its color solely to its wave-length. Similarly, a pure note of the musical scale is not a mixture but an effect produced by a vibration of a special wave-length.

The sense of vision is responsible for the phenomenon of the composition of colors. The eye appears to be specially sensitive to three of the spectrum colors, called primary, and out of those it can form combinations producing the effects of the four other recognized prismatic colors. But those four also exist of themselves in the spectrum, and, while the eye may be deceived by imitations of those produced by a mixture of pigments of two colors that stand adjacent in the spectrum, yet the deception is instantly dissipated when a ray of this mixed color is sent through a refracting prism.

As to just what are the three so-called primary colors, which the eye uses in this way, there have been differences of opinion, and even yet there is not perfect accord. But that does not affect the general fact that such colors exist. Sir David Brewster thought they were red, yellow and blue. Amos Young said they were red, green and violet. But Clark Maxwell decided that they were red, green and blue. The generally prevailing view at present agrees with that of Maxwell.

Bible Passages

Prophet Praiseth God

(Psalm 75)

UNTO thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks: for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare.

When I shall receive the congregation I will judge uprightly.

The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are dissolved: I bear up the pillars of it. Selah.

I said unto the fools, Deal not foolishly: and to the wicked, Lift not up the horn:

Lift not up your horn on high: speak not with a stiff neck.

For promotion cometh neither from the east, nor from the west, nor from the south.

But God is the judge: He putteth down one, and setteth up another.

For in the hand of the Lord there is a cup, and the wine is red; it is full of mixture; and he poureth out of the same: but the dregs thereof, all the wicked of the earth shall wring them out, and drink them.

But I will declare for ever; I will sing praises to the God of Jacob.

All the horns of the wicked also will I cut off; but the horns of the righteous shall be exalted.

The Rhyming Optimist

In March

IN March the fiercest winds may blow,
The swiftest tempests rise,
And most torrential rains may flow
From out the blackest skies;
And yet in March we often hear:
"It seems like Spring is pretty near!"

Sometimes March brings a lusty gale,
A sudden fall of snow
To blanket earth with sleet and hail
Where roving blizzards blow:
But on such days gay voices say:
"It won't be long. Spring's on the way!"

We can't tell just what whisper brings
These thoughts of song and bloom,
This sense of happy, northbound wings
To fill the garden's room.
One glimpse of blue in Heaven's wide arch
Wakes all Spring's promises in March!

Isn't It So?

Walking Battlefields

By Herbert Kaufman

MEDIEVAL theologians often debated just how many angels could stand on a needle. Neither science nor religion has yet managed to settle the point.

But microscopy assures us that the foothold in question is a very spacious area for some forms of life.

Several million of the bacilli in acidophilus milk, for instance, would not even rub elbows there. Proprietary "caramels," an inch square, contain 150,000,000,000 of these beneficent organisms. And some intestinal tracts can't function efficiently on fewer than three such dosages daily.

Man carries a universe within him—a world with such teeming population, that adding machines would wear their figures flat counting the individual workers laboring in his blood stream and power plant.

Each human being is a walking battlefield. Day and night, friendly and inimical forces are fighting to conserve and impoverish his health.

A ceaseless war wages in his veins, where phagocytes and leucocytes contend from birth to decease for corpuscle control.

Every inch of internal plumbing is covered with vegetation, to furnish the ferments necessary for the prompt and thorough assimilation of foodstuffs.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 6.—It is estimated 10,000 persons come to New York every year to lose themselves in the city's immensity. They walk out of the great railroad terminals and become almost instantly members of that vast army of the missing.

More than 50,000 men and women in this manner belong to the "living dead." They are not criminals fleeing the law, but irresponsibles shirking obligations and seeking escape from unhappy pasts. Cashier cages in all night restaurants, as well as other night jobs, are frequently ports of missing men.

But the majority make little effort to hide. Unless hunted by the police they do not need to. In the busy boil of Broadway are hundreds who have deserted wives and children to pick up the threads of a care-free existence among the swirls of light.

Even criminals have found it easier to hide in congested centers than off the beaten path. When the entire police force was searching for Nickey Arnstein, he rode down Fifth avenue on the heels of a parade. Recently I talked with a fellow who came here to vanish, following the failure of a small town bank.

Outside of raising a mustache, he made no changes in his appearance, and for four years worked in a Times Square restaurant. He served many he had known in affluent days, without recognition, including a man who worked at an adjoining desk for years.

Searchers for the missing always seek among waiters. "Nobody ever sees a waiter's face" is axiomatic, and those trying to disappear have learned this. The great majority of this human driftwood eddies eventually to those barren shoals—the Bowery lodging house.

Here at night they sit motionless in upstairs offices, clutching frozen dreams. The consuming dread of discovery has stilled their tongues and why complain? They have come to know New York in its hurrying way pays scant heed to broken dreams, broken hearts and broken lives.

I asked a celebrated gourmet today what dishes had tickled his palate most. I expected him to name such tid-bits as gray caviar from Prunier's, woodcock from Corsica, pheasants from Norfolk, prawns from France or, perhaps, a few culinary choices from the famous masterpieces of Brillat Savarin. Instead he reeled off such plain American dishes as boiled short ribs of beef with horseradish sauce, chopped beefsteak with fried onions, frankfurters and sauerkraut, country sausage with red cabbage, smoked Nova Scotia salmon with potatoe salad, and venison steak with rich brown gravy.

A well-known novelist tells of his wife's first and last intoxicating drink. She was a small-town girl and arrived at a New York hotel on her honeymoon in the late evening following an early morning marriage. The city was shimmering in a wave of heat, and the groom suggested refreshing themselves with a bottle of champagne. She was thirsty, and gulped down two brimming goblets, one after the other. Ten minutes later she fell in a swoon, cutting a gash in her cheek that remains to this day.

He does offer another generous burst of Ziegfeldian profligacy, but I for one wish the modern revues would tone down their hair-raising aerial antics. In this one three acrobatic gentlemen use a frail young girl as a human skipping rope. Many of us could go through the evening with less exciting novelties—perhaps a refined gentleman plaiting his eyebrows or something would suffice.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

IF YOU can't afford a certain expenditure, say so.

Don't be foolish enough to spend beyond your limit because you wish to convince others that you can afford it.

The worthwhile person has more respect for the one who is not foolishly extravagant than he has for the individual who goes beyond his means.

The sort who would avoid you because you hold a check on your expenditures cannot be worth much to you.

Hotel clerks say that they can tell by the manner in which a man engages a room whether he is a man of means or otherwise.

The man who has the money usually asks the range of prices and what he will be given for his outlay.

The man who is not thrifty asks for a "good room" and then asks the price.

This is an example of the difference between the thrifty and prudent man and the careless and extravagant.

The effort you make to convince others that you are well supplied with money costs you many dollars in a year.

All the satisfaction you get for the additional outlay is childish enjoyment.

And regrets.
